and Dispossession in the Modern Middle East Dawn Chatty, 2010-03-15 Traces the history of refugees and migrants within a reconstructed twentieth century Middle East Political Fiction and the American Self John Whalen-Bridge, 1998 Examining political novels that have achieved or been denied canonical status John Whalen Bridge demonstrates how Herman Melville Jack London Norman Mailer Ralph Ellison Toni Morrison and Margaret Atwood have grappled with the problem of balancing radicalism and art He shows that some books are more political than others that some political novelists are more skillful than others and that readers must allow for basic working distinctions between politics and aesthetics if we are to make useful judgments about which political novels to read and why Whalen Bridge demonstrates with clarity and power that the American political novel should not be ostracized but celebrated as a genre equal or superior to poetic and aesthetic ones Tobin Siebers author of Cold War Criticism and the Politics of Skepticism David C. Duke, 2014-07-11 Coal miners evoke admiration and sympathy from the public and writers some seeking a muse others a cause traditionally champion them David C Duke explores more than one hundred years of this tradition in literature poetry drama and film Duke argues that as most writers spoke about rather than to the mining community miners became stock characters in an industrial morality play robbed of individuality or humanity He discusses activist writers such as John Reed Theodore Dreiser and Denise Giardina who assisted striking workers and looks at the writing of miners themselves He examines portrayals of miners from The Trail of the Lonesome Pine to Matewan and The Kentucky Cycle The most comprehensive study on the subject to date Writers and Miners investigates the vexed political and creative relationship between activists and artists and those they seek to represent Encyclopedia of Feminist Literature Mary Ellen Snodgrass, 2014-05-14 An accessible one volume encyclopedia this addition to the Literary Movements series is a comprehensive reference quide to the history and development of feminist literature from early fairy tales to works by great women writers of today Hundred American Sublime Rob Wilson, 1991 Tracing ideas of the sublime in American literature from Puritan writings to the postmodern epoch Rob Wilson demonstrates that the North American landscape has been the ground for political as well as aesthetic transport He takes a distinctly historical approach and explores the ways in which experiences of the American landscape instill desire for other kinds of vastness self expansion national expansion and American political power As Wallace Stevens put it the American will takes dominion everywhere Wilson sets the stage for his genealogy with a discussion of the classical notion of the sublime taken primarily from Longinus and the ways that notion was pragmatically transformed by its American setting and appropriated by American poets He follows this transformation in successive chapters on the Puritans Bradstreet through the Naturalists Livingston and Bryant from the epitome of the American sublime Whitman to the greatest of the modernists Stevens and its present day incarnations Ashbery and others Writing today under the sign of Hiroshima contemporary writers must struggle with the concept of the sublime within a context of spiralling technologies and nuclear force that calls into question the long standing American sacralization of power

Throughout American Sublime Wilson engages in an original theoretical inquiry into the sublime as term topic complex and controversial idea in literary and critical history Furthermore he undertakes his historical study from an avowedly postmodern perspective one that draws on and extends the work of Jameson Lyotard Foucault Lentricchia Harold Bloom and Passion for Peace Stuart Rees, 2003 Passion for Peace considers the use of non violence and attaining human rights for all It also raises questions about current issues including peace in the Middle East US unilateralism the war on terrorism powerlessness associated with poverty racism and justice for asylum seekers BOOK JACKET on the Holocaust and Genocide Paul R. Bartrop, Steven L. Jacobs, 2013-03-01 This unique volume critically discusses the works of fifty of the most influential scholars involved in the study of the Holocaust and genocide Studying each scholar s background and influences the authors examine the ways in which their major works have been received by critics and supporters and analyse each thinker's contributions to the field Key figures discussed range from historians and philosophers to theologians anthropologists art historians and sociologists including Hannah Arendt Christopher Browning Primo Levi Raphael Lemkin Jacques S melin Saul Friedl nder Samantha Power Hans Mommsen Emil Fackenheim Helen Fein Adam Jones Ben Kiernan A thoughtful collection of groundbreaking thinkers this book is an ideal resource for academics students and all those interested in both the emerging and rapidly evolving field of Genocide Studies and the established field of Holocaust Studies The Politics of Rhetoric Bernard K. Duffy, Martin Jacobi, 1993-04-30 Richard M Weaver 1910 1963 was one of the leading rhetoricians of the 1950s whose philosophical and pedagogical writings helped revitalize interest in rhetoric His rhetorical contributions are difficult to separate from his conservative stances on social and political issues and indeed he espoused the cultural role of rhetoric conceiving of his intellectual task as one of reinventing a philosophical conservatism and employing rhetorical theory to oppose liberalism and modernism Today his politics would be viewed as extreme by liberals feminists and civil libertarians on the other hand his theories laid the philosophical groundwork for contemporary American political conservatism and his argumentation on a number of social issues remains pertinent This first full length study of Weaver examines the relationship between his rhetorical theory and his cultural views focusing on the rhetorical insights for instance his conception of language as sermonic its function being to influence others to think and act according to the speaker's moral precepts and ideally to convey the abiding truth of a culture Authors Duffy and Jacobi advance the idea that Weaver was at his best as an epideictic rhetor engaged in the celebration of abstract values and at his worst as a forensic rhetor pleading conservative causes with no more than the pretense of impartiality Based largely on primary materials but with adroit application of previous criticism this work will be valuable for a wide range of research specialties in rhetoric and public address Behind the Lines Philip Metres, 2007-05 Whether Thersites in Homer's Iliad Wilfred Owen in Dulce et Decorum Est or Allen Ginsberg in Wichita Vortex Sutra poets have long given solitary voice against the brutality of war The hasty cancellation of the 2003 White House symposium Poetry and the American Voice in the face of protests by

Sam Hamill and other invited guests against the coming shock and awe campaign in Iraq reminded us that poetry and poets still have the power to challenge the powerful Behind the Lines investigates American war resistance poetry from the Second World War through the Iraq wars Rather than simply chronicling the genre Philip Metres argues that this poetry gets to the heart of who is authorized to speak about war and how it can be represented As such he explores a largely neglected area of scholarship the poet's relationship to dissenting political movements and the nation In his elegant study Metres examines the ways in which war resistance is registered not only in terms of its content but also at the level of the lyric He proposes that protest poetry constitutes a subgenre that by virtue of its preoccupation with politics history and trauma probes the limits of American lyric poetry Thus war resistance poetry and the role of what Shelley calls unacknowledged legislators is a crucial though largely unexamined body of writing that stands at the center of dissident political movements
