Presence Of Others Readings For Critical:

The Presence of Others Andrea A. Lunsford, John J. Ruszkiewicz, Carrie Shively Leverenz, 1994 The Presence of Others Andrea A. Lunsford, 1994-02-01 Publishing in Rhetoric and Composition Gary A. Olson, Todd W. Taylor, 1997-03-13

Eminent scholars discuss the politics and practices of generating scholarship in rhetoric and composition studies Publishing in Rhetoric and Composition is a collection of essays about the politics and practices of generating scholarship in rhetoric and composition The contributors to this book many of whom are current or past editors of the discipline's most prestigious scholarly journals undoubtedly have their finger on the pulse of composition's most current scholarship and offer invaluable insight into the production and publication of original research They discuss publishing articles and reviews as well as book length projects including scholarly monographs edited collections and textbooks They also address such topics as how composition research is valued in English departments recent developments in electronic publishing the work habits of successful academic writers and the complications of mentoring graduate students in a publish or perish profession An inviting and helpful tone makes this an ideal textbook for research methodology and professional writing courses

The Catholic Epistles: Critical Readings Darian Lockett, 2021-02-11 This reference volume aims to be a kind of comprehensive status quaestionis for the Catholic Epistles Here Darian Lockett has collected some of the highest quality scholarship concentrated upon the Letters of James Peter ohn and Jude creating an introduction and orientation to the wide ranging avenues of scholarly investigation into these New Testament texts all in a single volume Divided into four distinct sections the volume begins with an analysis of the Catholic Epistles as a collection before moving to discuss historical critical and theological studies methodological approaches and finally reception history Taking care to situate foundational essays in the history of scholarship that may be hard to find or contextualize Lockett offers a brief introduction to each section and draws each section to a close by providing a list of annotated readings which prompt further study and engagement with some of the last literature to be settled upon in the New Testament canon

Critical Readings in Teacher Education , 2008-01-01 Like other fields of study teacher education defines itself both by what it includes and by what it excludes Teacher educators and researchers have spent a great deal of time seeking and attempting to eradicate the flaws in existing structures and practices but significantly less time learning to perceive the absences The premise of this book is that until we can identify and begin to address what is absent teacher education will be constrained by a perennial recycling of concerns that have characterized so much of research policy and practice to date If teacher education is to have a different future we need to ask different and difficult questions This book with contributions from theorists in Australia Canada and the United States addresses the challenges we face in establishing a more hopeful future for teacher education The authors provocative contributions identify what is missing in teacher education while providing critical counterpoints to existing frames of reference in the field In writing against the grain they open up new conceptual spaces and exciting trajectories for a different

Text-critical Methodology and the Pre-Caesarean Text Larry W. Hurtado, 1981 This is a print on demand book and is therefore non returnable This monograph is a detailed examination of the textual characteristics and relationships of important early Greek manuscripts of the Gospel of Mark chiefly Codex Washingtonianus W and also Family 13 and P45 and challenges the generally accepted view that these manuscripts are witnesses to an early stage of the Ceasarean text type The study begins with a discussion and critique of previous studies on the Caesarean text type showing the methodological weaknesses that demand a fresh analysis of the data and emphasizing the crucial importance of Codex W for the whole question of the textual history of Mark Then a methodological approach is set forth involving both careful quantitative measurement of manuscript agreements and detailed analysis of variants in the interest of determining both the textual relationships and textual character of manuscripts When this more sophisticated approach is applied to the chief witnesses to the so called pre Ceasarean text of Mark it is confirmed that W and P45 do show a significant relationship with each other and that Family 13 is a weaker member of the same group However the commonly held view that these witnesses reflect the early stage of the Caesarean text type is shown to be erroneous In addition to clarifying the textual relationships of the witnesses the study defines more accurately their textual character showing the scribal purposes reflected in the variants that characterize these manuscripts and adding considerably to our knowledge of the forces affecting the early transmission of the text of Mark This is the first detailed examination of the Markan text of Codex W since the publication of the manuscript and the first published book length study dealing with the Ceasarean text of Mark since the initial work of Kirsopp Lake and his colleagues Blake and New This work not only addresses a major issue in the textual history of Mark but offers methodological suggestions for the continuing investigation of the textual history of the New Testament
