To See the Earth Before the End of the World Ed Roberson, 2012-02-08 Winner of the Voelcker Award PEN America 2016 In To See the Earth Before the End of the World Ed Roberson presents us with 120 new poems each speaking in his unique voice and seen through his unique eye Earth and sky neighborhood life and ancient myths the art of seeing and the architecture of the imagination are all among the subjects of these poems. Recurring images and ideas construct a complex picture of our world ourselves and the manifold connections tying them together. The poems raise large questions about the natural world and our place in it and they do not flinch from facing up to those questions. Roberson's poems range widely through different scales of time and space invoking along the way history and myth galaxies and garbage trucks teapots and the history of photography mating cranes and Chicago's political machine. This collection is composed of five sequences each developing a particular constellation of images and ideas related to the vision of the whole. Various journeys become one journey an epic journey invoking epic themes. There are songs of creation pictures of the sorrows of war celebrations of human labor and human society a respect for tools and domestic utensils that are well made the deep background of the past tingeing the colors of the present and the tragic tones of endings and laments a pervading awareness of the tears in things. Most of all there is the exhilaration of a grand sweeping vision that enlarges our world.

A Secret of the Sea William Allison, 1920 The Secrets of Station 14 Des Turner, 2022-02-24 Briggens House near Harlow in Essex was one of the most important of the establishments requisitioned by the Special Operations Executive SOE during the Second World War. Its mission was to accomplish Winston Churchill's directive to set Europe ablaze and initially the house was used as a finishing school for the Cichociemni elite Polish saboteurs to prepare to parachute into Nazi occupied Poland. In need of false identity documents to avoid the arrest interrogation and execution of its agents SOE gradually built up a printing department on site and Station 14 became the organisation's False Document Section. This is the true story of the house and its highly skilled wartime personnel including British officers Polish agents and the women of the First Aid Nursing Yeomanry. For the resident staff it was a relatively safe posting but tension built as the Poles fighting their own battle for Polish independence competed for scarce resources in wartime Britain. SOE historian Des Turner uses first hand accounts memoirs and official records to reveal long forgotten stories of tragedy humour and frustration giving long overdue credit to the men and women of Briggens House who were prevented by the Secrets Act from ever speaking about their wartime work
