Justice, Dissent, and the Sublime Mark

Canuel,2012-07-01 Read the Romantics from the perspective of both political theory and literary studies and consider justice through the lens of the sublime In the past ten years theorists from Elaine Scarry to Roger Scruton have devoted renewed attention to the aesthetic of beauty Part of their discussions claim that beauty because it arises from a sense of proportion symmetry or reciprocity provides a model for justice Justice Dissent and the Sublime makes a significant departure from this mode of thinking Mark Canuel argues that the emphasis on beauty unwittingly reinforces in the name of justice the constraints of uniformity and conventionality He calls for a more flexible and inclusive connection between aesthetics and justice one founded on the Kantian concept of the sublime The sublime captures the roles that asymmetry complaint and disagreement play in a complete understanding of a just society a point the author maintains that was appreciated by a number of Romantic writers including Mary Shelley Canuel draws interesting connections between the debate about beauty and justice and issues in cosmopolitanism queer theory and animal studies Transformative Arts Gary A. Clark,2017-04-19 This book is based on the premise that humankind is first and foremost the outcome of the process of biological evolution Recognition of this is fundamental to our understanding of who we are and how we behave All living things have evolved the physical and mental attributes that promote their prospects for survival they are good at doing the things that enable them to pass on their genes to succeeding generations and we are no exception Of course through the development of culture we have gained some freedom from our biological origins Nevertheless evolution has constructed the foundation upon which culture is built The first part of the book Ourselves Interacting with the World presents an overview of the main capabilities that evolution has endowed us with and that enable us to interact with the environment in advantageous ways This includes our senses which act as windows on the world and also of great importance our emotions and ability to remember Our ability to think is perhaps the crowning achievement of our evolutionary journey and of course we must be able to act in a timely and effective manner The second part of the book Living Together traces the history of how we became social creatures To be truly human we had to be capable of sharing and cooperation We also needed to be able to control our aggressiveness and talent for deception We settled down making the transition from hunter gatherers to urban dwellers and agreed upon values and norms of behavior that enhanced our ability to get along Ultimately we came to see good and bad as a morality of right and wrong further augmenting group cohesiveness In the final part of the book Challenges and Opportunities attention turns to a consideration of the constraints and possibilities that must be considered in looking to the future These realities can be seen to play out in four social arenas the pursuit of fairness the seeking of justice the interplay of political beliefs and good government and ultimately a united society that is at the same time a true community Our quest for these things will be greatly aided by a deep knowledge and appreciation of our evolutionary past and the indelible imprint it has left upon us It may even lead us to that most elusive of all things happiness problems encountered with the ways we in Western culture look upon the world and things and encourages and argues for ways to look and visualise the world more critically broadly and widely Sight is one of the main ways we perceive and relate to the world and yet it is mostly assumed rather than actively reflected on Objects designated as art and the realm of aesthetics attract some active attention and reflection but most of the visible world is ignored in the context of what Pattison describes as our ordinary blindness TM The book argues that the range of things we choose to see and value is arbitrary and limited and the ways in which we relate to things and objects are mostly crude and un nuanced Pattison argues that it is desirable to consider more person like relationships with all manner of visibly perceived objects from classical sculptures to tennis rackets If we begin to apply this person like relationship with things we transgress the Western secular and religious practice and belief that maintains that the realm of the manufactured is dead TM and so can be treated by humans exactly as they wish without consideration Pattison argues that this person like relationship does not mean re animating or re sacramentalising the world rather he argues for observation and exploration of the actual phenomenology of the object

Skinner, Martin Anderson, Annelise Anderson, 2001-08-24 Until Alzheimer's disease wreaked its gradual destruction Ronald Reagan was an inveterate writer He wrote not only letters short fiction poetry and sports stories but speeches newspaper articles and radio commentary on public policy issues both foreign and domestic Most of Reagan's original writings are pre presidential From 1975 to 1979 he gave more than 1 000 daily radio broadcasts two thirds of which he wrote himself They cover every topic imaginable from labor policy to the nature of communism from World War II to the second Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty from the future of Africa and East Asia to that of the United States and the world They range from highly specific arguments to grand philosophy to personal stories Even those who knew him best were largely unaware of Reagan's output George Shultz as he explains in the Foreword was surprised when he first saw the manuscripts but on reflection he really was not surprised at all Here is definitive proof that Ronald Reagan was far more than a Great Communicator of other people's ideas He was very much the author of his own ideas with a single vision that he pursued relentlessly at home and abroad Reagan In His Own Hand presents this vision through Reagan's radio writings as well as other writings selected from throughout his life short stories written in high school and college a poem from his high school yearbook newspaper articles letters and speeches both before and during the presidency It offers many surprises beginning with the fact that Reagan's writings exist in such size and breadth at all While he was writing batches and batches of radio addresses Reagan was also traveling the country collaborating on a newspaper column giving hundreds of speeches and planning his 1980 campaign Yet the wide reading and deep research self evident here suggest a mind constantly at work The selections are reproduced with Reagan's own edits offering a unique window into his thought processes These writings show that Reagan had carefully considered nearly every issue he would face as president When he fired the striking air traffic controllers many thought that he was simply seizing an unexpected opportunity to strike a blow at organized labor In fact as he wrote in the 70s he was opposed to public sector unions using strikes There has been much debate as to whether he deserves credit for the end of the cold war here in a 1980 campaign speech draft he lays out a detailed vision of the grand strategy that he would pursue in order to encourage the Soviet system to collapse of its own weight completely consistent with the policies of his presidency Furthermore in 1984 Reagan drafted comments he would make to Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko at a critical meeting that would eventually lead to history's greatest reductions in armaments Ronald Reagan's writings will change his reputation even among some of his closest allies and friends Here in his own hand Reagan the thinker is finally fully revealed
