The Space Within Robert McCarter,2016-11-15 Alvar Aalto once argued that what mattered in architecture wasn t what a building looks like on the day it opens but what it is like to live inside it thirty years later In this book architect and critic Robert McCarter persuasively argues that interior spatial experience is the necessary starting point for design and the quality of that experience is the only appropriate means of evaluating a work after it has been built McCarter reveals that we can t really know a piece of architecture without inhabiting its spaces and we need to counter our contemporary obsession with exterior views and forms with a renewed appreciation for interiors He explores how interior space has been integral to the development of modern architecture from the late 1800s to today and he examines how architects have engaged interior space and its experiences in their design processes fundamentally transforming traditional approaches to composition Eloquently placing us within a host of interior spaces he opens up new ways of thinking about architecture and what its goals are and should be      The Architecture of Light Mary Ann Steane,2012-11-12 Reviewing the use of natural light by architects in the era of electricity this book aims to show that natural light not only remains a potential source of order in architecture but that natural lighting strategies impose a usefully creative discipline on design Considering an approach to environmental context that sees light as a critical aspect of place this book explores current attitudes to natural light by offering a series of in depth studies of recent projects and the particular lighting issues they have addressed It gives a more nuanced appraisal of these lighting strategies by setting them within their broader topographic climatic and cultural contexts      John Howey and Associates Robyn Beaver,2006 If there is one element that singles out John Howey Associates unique work it would be the dramatic geometries against the immeasurable environment and its natural elements earth sky and water The firm has recieved more than 40 design awards for its      Luminous Concepts Through Design Iterations Kevin Schaffner,2011-05-18 Concepts of Light through Design Iterations looks to redefine the way in which architects and designers consider the luminous environment within the design process Through the implementation of iterative design strategies this methodology hopes to encourage a constant link between architectural design process and the potential power of the luminous environment
