

Love Calls Us To The Things Of This World

The eyes open to a cry of pulleys,
And spirited from sleep, the astounded soul Hangs for a moment bodiless and simple As false dawn.
Outside the open window
The morning air is all awash with angels.

Some are in bed-sheets, some are in blouses,
Some are in smocks: but truly there they are.
Now they are rising together in calm swells
Of halcyon feeling, filling whatever they wear
With the deep joy of their impersonal breathing;

Now they are flying in place, conveying
The terrible speed of their omnipresence, moving And staying like white water; and now of a sudden
They swoon down in so rapt a quiet
That nobody seems to be there.
The soul shrinks

From all that it is about to remember, From the punctual rape of every blessed day,
And cries,
"Oh, let there be nothing on earth but laundry,
Nothing but rosy hands in the rising steam
And clear dances done in the sight of heaven."

Yet, as the sun acknowledges With a warm look the world's hunks and colors,
The soul descends once more in bitter

New World Metaphysics Giles Gunn, 1981-06-04 From the days of discovery when America was for Europeans more dream than reality to our own days of disillusionment and faltering hope, poets, philosophers, historians, novelists, and theologians have drawn on religious themes and images to express the meaning of their encounter with America. Here in more than one hundred selections is the record of their quest for a New World metaphysics, a spiritual vision or ultimate idea of order expressive of the American experience.

Wilbur's Poetry Bruce Michelson, 1991 Discusses the poems and translations of a leading contemporary poet.

The Culture of Interpretation Roger Lundin, 1993 This book offers a broad ranging account of contemporary American culture, the complex network of symbols, practices, and beliefs at the heart of our society. Lundin explores the historical background of some of our postmodern culture's central beliefs and considers their crucial ethical and theological implications.

Studies in Interpretation Esther M. Doyle, Virginia Floyd, 1973

Conversations with Richard Wilbur Richard Wilbur, 1990 With wit, charm, and grace, the interviews in this collection demonstrate what readers of Wilbur's poems long have suspected: that this former U.S. Poet Laureate is no less persuasive and forceful in extemporaneous speech than he is in verse and prose. Wilbur proves as enlightening and thought provoking with student reporters from Amherst College, his alma mater, as with journalists for The Paris Review, displaying the same dazzling talents that garnered him the Pulitzer Prize in 1957 and again thirty years later. Opinionated yet ever charitable, he presents the case for rhyme and meter in a dozen different ways in just as many interviews. He expresses a degree of admiration for poetic opposites such as Allen Ginsberg and addresses the objections of his critics. Wilbur's comments and keen insights on his coevals and his craft read as articulately as fine prose. His observations never fail to stimulate or to challenge.

To Make a Poem Alberta Turner, 1992-04 A poem comes from the same human need as a prayer, a curse, a lullaby, and a keen. How can emotion use language to satisfy its most urgent need and how can it share and prolong that satisfaction by putting it into poems that will satisfy the same need in others? The answer can be learned and the skill taught. Unlike many other textbooks, this one has no teaching manual, and Alberta Turner does not expect those who use it to agree with her interpretations. Each principle is illustrated with detailed analysis of several poems, but it is up to the teachers and students to decide whether it has succeeded or failed. Poetic tastes can't be legislated; they have to creep by underground runners. Although a poem never illustrates only one poetic principle at a time, this book has focused on each separately. Since the book is intended to be used by beginning poets, the principles are sequenced from simpler to more complex. As courses in writing poetry range from two week enrichment programs to full semester college workshops the book is arranged so that the course can be shortened or lengthened This book will work best for flexible imaginative teachers of flexible imaginative students A Collegiate Press book Love Calls Us to the Things of this World Richard Wilbur,1957 "Fallen from the Symboled World" Wyatt Prunty,1990-02-22 This study evaluates figure and form in contemporary poetry especially the powers of simile and simile like structures Examining the works of Nemerov Wilbur Bowers Hecht Justice Cunningham Bishop Van Duyn Hollander Pack Kennedy Ammons Creeley and Wright Prunty argues that doubts about language the tradition and theistic assumptions embedded in the tradition have made simile and various simile like arrangements into major modes of thought From Lowell s early interest in the similitudo and the phantasm of Gilson to Husserl s phantasies and Heidegger s interest in similitudo to the use made by contemporary poets of simile he shows that metaphor together with slippage mimicry synaphea conjunctions anacoluthon chiasmus and other simile like patternings have proven to be more trustworthy than symbol and allegory Throughout the study Prunty demonstrates that as uncertainty about language has changed from a predicament of mind to a new way of thinking simile and simile like occurrences have provided poetry with variational thought and constitutive power The Whole Journey C. pragmatism and comedy takes us on a wide ranging exploration of what American politics and by extension American life could actually be like if it truly reflected American values The Modern Element Adam Kirsch,2008 Fatigue Artist Lynne Sharon Schwartz,2011-12-13 The Fatigue Artist is a refreshingly candid story about life love and survival in the contemporary world A writer living in New York City Laura is overwhelmed by a mysterious lethargy and retreats to her bed where she reflects on the loves and losses of her recent past and seeks the cure to her perplexing tiredness Fortified by the Eastern teachings of her Tai Chi instructor and the nurturing attentions of friends and a acupuncturist Laura crawls out of her somnambulism with intelligent determination in search of peace and resurrection The Fatigue Artist is both a moving chronicle of a woman s search for meaning and a wry depiction of modern urban life Poetry on & Off the Page Marjorie Perloff,1998 The fourteen essays that make up this collection have as their common theme a reconsideration of the role historical and cultural change has played in the evolution of twentieth century poetry and poetics Committed to the notion that in John Ashbery s words You can t say it that way anymore Poetry On Off the Page describes the formations and transformations of literary and artistic discourses and traces these discourses as they have evolved in their dialogue with history culture and society The volume is testimony to the important role that contemporary artistic practice will continue to play as we move into the twenty first century
