Diplomacy in Japan-EU Relations

Oliviero Frattolillo,2013-06-26 Since the 1950s Japan Europe relations have been characterised by a mutual coldness in terms of diplomatic dialogue punctuated by a number of trade disputes This book analyses the development of the political and diplomatic relationship between Japan and Europe and shows that especially during the Cold War years whilst they share a wide range of political values and goals the quality of diplomatic relations has often been sacrificed to both overcome trade issues and as a result of systemic factors Focusing on the institutionalization of relations between Japan and the EU this book examines both the historical diplomatic dimension and political strategic discourse It traces the historical development of the relationship from the post war years to the signing of the Japan EU action plan in 2001 which marked a key turning point in the relationship It goes on to examine the achievements and criticisms of ASEM the Asia Europe Meeting which whilst meeting successfully for the past sixteen years has also been condemned as little more than a talking shop Crucially Oliviero Frattolillo s analysis clearly demonstrates how the interaction between Japan and the EU has been constructed on the basis of their perceptions of each other thus underlining the inherent impact of different political identities cultures and values on international relations Providing a keen insight into Japan EU relations this book will appeal to students and scholars of Japanese and European history and politics as well as those interested in the history of international relations and security studies

China and International Institutions Marc Lanteigne, 2005-11-14 China has shifted its foreign policy from one that avoided engagement in international organizations to one that is now embracing them These moves present a new challenge to international relations theory How will the global community be affected by the engagement of this massive global power with international institutions This new study explores why China has chosen to abandon its previous doctrine of institutional isolation and details how it is currently unable to balance American power unilaterally and details an indirect path to greater power In addition it includes the first major analysis of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization comprising China Russia and most of Central Asia In contrast to many works on the rise of China question which place an emphasis on her material goods and powers this book delivers a new approach It shows how the unique barriers Beijing is facing are preventing the country from taking the traditional paths of territorial expansion and political economic domination in order to develop as a great power One of these barriers is the United States and its inherent military and economic strength The other is the existence of nuclear weapons which makes direct great power conflict unacceptably costly China has therefore opted for a new path using institutions as stepping stones to great power status This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations world politics world history and Asia
