The Practice of Child Protection Gillian Calvert, Adrian Ford, Patrick Parkinson, 1992 Aboriginal issues Prevention Children in the legal system Children's rights adults responsibilities Critical Multicultural Practice in Social Work Charlotte Williams, 2020-07-16 Critical multicultural practice rather than being a specialism is integral to Australian social work Drawing on critical race theory critical multiculturalism intersectionality and critical reflection as practice theory this major new edited collection challenges many of the dominant assumptions of cross cultural social work and provides instead a new model of transformative engagement Key concepts are considered including identity culture diversity and superdiversity how power and privilege shape everyday interactions and what is meant by citizenship in the contemporary context Part One explores the changing nature of multicultural practice in Australia including our society's changing demographic profile the impact of asylum and refugee migrations race and racism and cultural identity Indigenous perspectives and the relationship with multicultural practice are examined together with the ethical and legal basis for multicultural practice This part concludes with an outline of the editors framework for critical multicultural practice Part Two draws on contributions from a range of practitioners and offers new perspectives on diverse fields including child protection mental health disability ageing homelessness and rural and regional practice Featuring case studies and insights drawn from across the spectrum of practice this book is a vital resource for all social workers practising in Australia today A rich and nuanced analysis of what is happening at the interfaces of our work and the lives of Australian citizens it articulates ways forward that are genuine bold and empathetic From the foreword by Professor Kerry Arabena The University of Melbourne

Child Protection Freda Briggs, 2018-10-01 This exceptionally well researched book's intention is to reveal what is really happening in our society and to spur people into action to turn this shameful and complex problem around so that abuse stops and healing can begin It should be a compulsory handbook for all whose work involves children especially in the legal system all human services schools pre schools and foster care It covers all aspects of child abuse and neglect and presents recent case studies of acts of abuse and the ways they have been dealt with in recent times It is books such as this that get the message out there so that something is done in this supposedly enlightened age

Supervising Child Protection Practice: What Works? Lynne McPherson, Noel Macnamara, 2016-11-25 This book presents a model of supervision that is based on both contemporary theory and research which is strongly contextualized to child and family social work It draws directly from analysis of in depth interviews with experienced and post graduate qualified supervisors and supervisees about what works in supervision These findings bring news of difference in relation to social work supervision offering hope inspiration and a contemporary model of supervisory practice

APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service, Beyond the Risk Paradigm in Child Protection Marie Connolly, 2017-09-16 For decades child protection systems have striven to provide responsive services to vulnerable children and families in the face of the constant change and instability caused by the bureaucratization of child protection This book lends a strident voice to the argument for a shift beyond the current risk paradigm towards genuine cultural change

Professional Practice in Child Protection and the Child's Right to Participate Asgeir Falch-Eriksen, Karmen Toros, 2022-08-05 This book explains and discusses how a child's right to freedom of expression is upheld through practice and decision making in Child Protection Services CPS Using the right to expression as stipulated in Article 12 2 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child CRC as a point of departure it explains what CPS practices should look like and how they must operate to uphold and enforce the rights of the child by providing the opportunity to be heard in any administrative practice Current research literature documents extensively and across countries how either the voice of the child is not heard or alternatively the existence of a pro forma tokenistic approach to listening to the child throughout CPS practices Taking a three fold approach this book establishes a clearer connection between rights and professional practice according to Article 12 extrapolates how rights based practice is achieved during CPS practices provides a comprehensive answer to the challenge of implementing Article 12 2 through policy and legislation It will be of interest to all students academic and professionals working within child protection including social workers probation officers health and social care workers lawyers and teachers The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4 0 license

Child Protection and the Care Continuum Elizabeth Fernandez, Paul Delfabbro, 2020-11-25 This important new book critically examines the complex policy and practice issues surrounding child protection including the impact of theoretical orientations contemporary debates policy initiatives and research findings and maintains an emphasis on the ethics and values underpinning child welfare interventions The book introduces policies that are central to understanding the position and needs of children and young people and how policy and practice have been influenced by developments including the children's rights agenda It also explores the most significant issues in child welfare These include the experience of maltreatment by children the systems of child protection to safeguard them the methods and challenges of risk assessment and the wide range of policy and therapeutic interventions to respond to children's needs The book also examines family support to promote children's wellbeing before considering provision for children and young people who are looked after in out of home care There is also a final section that focuses on best practice in communicating and working with children and young people drawing on participatory rights oriented and resilience based approaches and supporting foster and adoptive carers and biological parents Contributing in a substantive and clear manner to a growing international conversation about the present function and future directions for child welfare in contemporary societies this textbook will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate social work students and those from allied disciplines and professionals who are engaged in child welfare services focused and comprehensive examination of how to prevent and respond to child maltreatment using evidence informed public health approaches and programs that meet the needs of vulnerable children and struggling families and communities. It outlines the system failures of contemporary forensically driven child protection practice. Detailed guidance is provided about how to re think earlier intervention strategies and establish stronger and more effective programs and services that prevent maltreatment at the population level. Service user and stakeholder perspectives particularly from marginalized groups including Indigenous peoples highlight how public health approaches can better support families and keep children safe. Case studies from different countries grapple with the fraught nature of large system change and the various strategies needed to effect multi level reforms. Presenting the reader with an array of innovative services used in different institutional and community context this volume confronts the complex challenges found in implementing successful prevention programs that are aligned with diverse cultural and political environments and community expectations.

Psycho-Legal Concepts for Parenting in Child Custody and Child Protection Vol. 1 Don Tustin, 2024-11-15 This book provides an overview of changes in legislation in Australia concerning both family law and child protection law. The topic is important as the Australian Government has identified that the rate of mental disorder in some cohorts of children is high and rising. These cohorts of children live in families where they are vulnerable because they are exposed to risk factors that can be changed by a coordinated effort from parents, therapists and lawyers. The aim of the book is to identify psycho legal concepts that need to be understood by professionals who work in the fields of child custody and child protection and to bring these concepts together to improve coordination between the two fields of practice. The purpose of the book is to be a practice manual for professionals from the disciplines of law, social work and psychologists who work in specialized legal roles dealing with families where children are vulnerable to developing mental health difficulties. Volume 1 of the book provides a perspective from a mental health clinician about concepts and principles that arise in Australian family oriented courts and that need to be shared between disciplines. This book proposes that some concepts be identified as psycho legal as the concepts need to be shared between disciplines who work with court involved families. The book also proposes that psycho legal concepts be shared between the jurisdictions of child custody and child protection. In this book proposals are made to improve collaboration between disciplines and to maximize the best interests of children.

Psycho-Legal Concepts for Parenting in Child Custody and Child Protection Vol. 4 Don Tustin, 2024-12-01 This book provides an overview of changes in legislation in Australia concerning both family law and child protection law. The topic is important as the Australian Government has identified that the rate of mental disorder in some cohorts of children is high and rising. These cohorts of children live in families where they are vulnerable because they are exposed to risk factors that can be changed by a coordinated effort from parents, therapists and lawyers. The aim of the book is to identify psycho legal concepts that need to be understood by professionals who work in the fields of child custody and child protection and to bring these concepts together to improve coordination between the two fields of practice The purpose of the book is to be a practice manual for professionals from the disciplines of law social work and psychologists who work in specialized legal roles dealing with families where children are vulnerable to developing mental health difficulties Volume 4 of the book provides a perspective from a mental health clinician about concepts and principles that arise in Australian family oriented courts and that need to be shared between disciplines This book proposes that some concepts be identified as psycho legal as the concepts need to be shared between disciplines who work with court involved families The book also proposes that psycho legal concepts be shared between the jurisdictions of child custody and child protection In this book proposals are made to improve collaboration between disciplines and to maximize the best interests of children Working Ethically in Child Protection Bob Lonne, Maria Harries, Brid Featherstone, Mel Gray, 2015-08-20

In their day to day practice social work and human services practitioners frequently find themselves in confusing ethical quandaries trying to balance the numerous competing interests of protecting children from harm and promoting family and community capacity This book explores the ethical issues surrounding child protection interventions and offers a process oriented approach to ethical practice and decision making in child protection and family welfare practice Its aim is to prepare students and early career professionals for roles in the complex and challenging work of child protection and family support Beginning with a critical analysis and appreciation of the diverse organisational and cultural contexts of contemporary child protection and ethical decision making frameworks the authors outline a practical real world model for reshaping frontline ethical practice Moving away from a focus on the child apart from the family the authors recognise that child safeguarding affects the lives not just of children but also of parents grandparents and communities Working Ethically in Child Protection eschews dominant rational technical models for relational ones that are value centred and focus on family well being as a whole Rather than a single focus on assessing risk and diagnosing deficit this book recognises that our child protection systems bear down disproportionately on those from disadvantaged and marginalised communities and argues that what is needed is real support and practical assistance for poor and vulnerable parents and children It uses real world case examples to illustrate the relevant ethical and practice principles and ways in which students and practitioners can practise ethically when dealing with complex multi faceted issues Australian

National Bibliography, 1995-09 Practicing Critical Reflection in Social Care Organisations Jan Fook, 2021-09-09 This book explores concrete examples of different strategies and activities aimed at creating and embedding critically reflective learning and working environments within organisations whose prime function is social care Critical reflection has long been recommended as a general professional skill and is a core component of the practice capabilities in social work in countries across the Western world However despite unequivocal support for it in social work education sustaining critical reflection within organisations as both an individual and collective practices supported by organisational cultures is problematic With contributions from social work practitioners and educators who have sought to embed critical reflection into broader activities and cultures within their organizations the book addresses common features of critical reflection and challenges and benefits in specific case studies This book will inspire and develop new thinking and vision about being critically reflective in organisations and facilitate efforts to improve the learning and working experience in addition to that of service quality and delivery It will be required reading for all undergraduate and postgraduate social work modules focusing on management leadership organizational change and professional education
