Practice Of Philosophy:

The Practice of Philosophy Jay F. Rosenberg, 1978 This book is about the philosopher's way of thinking about how to approach the question of knowledge, mind, truth, values and existence in a logical and productive way. It examines the philosophical method and outlines step by step techniques that can help you to organize your own thinking and arrive at valid, well supported conclusions. As a framework for explaining these procedures as clearly as possible, the author focuses on the concrete task of writing a philosophical essay. He explores the structures and strategies of several types of essays in the process, showing how these devices contribute to the philosophical mode of thinking. And he demonstrates how to avoid such pitfalls as equivocation, question begging, infinite regress, lost content and emptiness. An appendix provides a collection of problems and passages to use as topics for writing your own practice essays. Finally, this book tells you how to apply this process to reading other people's philosophical writings. By systematically reconstructing others' chains of reasoning, you can not only follow their arguments more easily but also have a rational basis from which to begin to judge their validity and value for your own thinking. Publisher: The Practice of Philosophy Susanne Katherina Knauth Langer, 1930

The Practice of Philosophy Jay F. Rosenberg, 1984      The Theory and Practice of Philosophy Abraham Edel,      Reason and Practice Kai Nielsen, 1971      Reflective Practice Roger Barnard, Jonathon Ryan, 2017-03-27 The aim of the book is to explain a range of options for implementing the reflective practice cycle in educational settings in various international contexts. It presents a series of empirical case studies illustrating many different ways of implementing the reflective practice cycle and how they can be researched by practitioners and academics. Increasing attention is given by teachers and teacher educators to the construct and implementation of reflective practice as a form of bottom up autonomous professional development. The aim of the book is to explain a range of options for implementing the reflective practice cycle in educational settings in various international contexts. Written by international academics, these studies show how reflection can be interpreted in different cultural contexts. The book concludes with a discussion by Anne Burns of the implications of these case studies for action research. It is hoped that the book will enable practitioners and their mentors to consider how best to implement reflective procedures in the specific contexts in which they work. Chapters in the book include Lesson planning, The fundamental platform for reflecting for action, Reflecting on action, Lesson transcripts, Pair discussions for reflecting on action, Stimulated recall, Observation leading to reflection. This book will be key reading for researchers in the fields of teacher education.

Durkheim, Bernard and Epistemology (Routledge Revivals) Paul Q. Hirst, 2010-11 This title first published in 1975 contains two complementary studies by Paul Q. Hirst: the first based on Claude Bernard's theory of scientific knowledge and the second concerning Emile Durkheim's attempt to provide a philosophical foundation for a scientific sociology in The Rules of Sociological Method. The author's primary concern is to answer the question: is Durkheim's theory of knowledge logically consistent and philosophically viable? His principal conclusion is that the epistemology developed in the Rules is an impossible one and that its inherent contradictions are proof that sociology as it is commonly understood can never be a scientific discipline
