

Diasporic Identity and Heritage (2)

- Hybridity:

- a concept used to investigate changes/fluctuations in the practice of identification
- presumes that diasporic culture accommodates cultural amalgamation

- Heritage VS hybridity

- the value-laden concept of heritage can accept a hybrid cultural practice if the diaspora values it to be significant for present safeguarding and future transmission
- the strong connection between heritage and identity can stop the manifestation of hybrid cultural practices
- heritage as 'cultural capital' – 'a way of connecting people with each other and with the environment that surrounds them' (Harrison 2010: p.245)

Reconstructing Hybridity Joel Kuortti, Jopi Nyman, 2007 This interdisciplinary collection of critical articles seeks to reassess the concept of hybridity and its relevance to post colonial theory and literature The challenging articles written by internationally acclaimed scholars discuss the usefulness of the term in relation to such questions as citizenship whiteness studies and transnational identity politics In addition to developing theories of hybridity the articles in this volume deal with the role of hybridity in a variety of literary and cultural phenomena in geographical settings ranging from the Pacific to native North America The collection pays particular attention to questions of hybridity migrancy and diaspora Practices of Hybridity Mireille Rosello, 1995 This is a special issue of the journal Paragraph

Hybrid Learning Theory and Practice Simon K.S. Cheung, Joseph Fong, Jiping Zhang, Reggie Kwan, Lam For Kwok, 2014-07-31 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 7th International Conference on Hybrid Learning ICHL 2014 held in Shanghai China in August 2014 The 31 papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 90 submissions The selected papers cover various aspects on hybrid learning computer supported collaborative learning experiences in hybrid learning improved flexibility on learning processes and the pedagogical and psychological issues of hybrid learning Government proposals for the regulation of hybrid and chimera embryos Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee, 2007-04-05 This report is a response to the publication of Government proposals to prohibit the creation of human animal chimera or hybrid embryos for research for the time being Review of the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act Cm 6989 ISBN 9780101698924 It also takes account of recent applications from researchers for licences to create human animal cytoplasmic hybrid embryos for research Since the 1990 Act there have been significant developments in science and medicine and there is a need for revised legislation in this area of research The Committee finds that the creation of human animal chimera or hybrid embryos and specifically cytoplasmic hybrid embryos is necessary for research But development of human animal chimera or hybrid embryos past the 14 day stage should be prohibited and there should be a prohibition on the implantation of human animal chimera or hybrid embryos in a woman The Committee is critical of the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority for delaying assessment of applications for licences to create cytoplasmic hybrid embryos for research The Government proposals are considered prohibitive Some research practices should be permitted under licence immediately The Committee proposes mechanisms for legislation and regulation of the creation of human animal chimera or hybrid embryos for research The report criticises the Government for not clearly setting out the areas of research practice intended to fall under the proposed legislation and suggests that greater attention should be paid to implications of the proposals for current research practice and the UK research base Hybrid Entities in Tax Treaty Law Sriram Govind, Jean-Philippe Van West, 2020-09-03 Tax treaty law and EU tax law in connection with hybrid entities Hybrid entities have traditionally been used as an avenue for international tax planning and extending benefits under tax treaties to such entities has been a source of controversy for many years now Although the OECD Partnership Report provided solid policy footing on this issue there was still no common legal basis that countries could rely on for such positions The increasing focus of countries towards the curbing of tax avoidance and abuse involving hybrid mismatch arrangements culminated in a specific action plan in the BEPS Project being dedicated to the design of domestic rules and the development of treaty provisions that would neutralize the tax effects of such arrangements This volume provides an in depth analysis of various aspects of this topic It is divided into two parts the first dealing exclusively with tax treaty issues arising in connection with hybrid entities and the second dealing with EU tax law issues surrounding hybrid entities The former part comprises chapters analysing how tax treaties have historically dealt with this issue with a focus on domestic court jurisprudence the positions in the OECD and the UN Model Conventions the developments that have come about owing to the BEPS Project and the impact of several existing measures regimes and vehicles on these tax treaty provisions The latter part comprises chapters on how hybrid entities are dealt with under primary EU law under various secondary law directives including the newly enacted Anti Tax Avoidance Directives and an analysis of policy solutions offered in this direction

Hybrid Warfare under International Law Stuart Casey-Maslen, 2024-09-05 This book addresses the regulation of hybrid warfare under relevant branches of international law beginning with the law on inter state use of force jus ad bellum Firstly the book assesses the extent to which forms of hybrid warfare comply with or violate international humanitarian law the law of armed conflict It then looks at law enforcement action in response to hybrid warfare both on land and on the high seas and addresses hybrid warfare from the perspective of international counterterrorism law It goes on to tackle the constraints applied to hybrid warfare under international human rights law and looks at how hybrid warfare could be constrained under disarmament law The final two chapters look at accountability for the conduct of hybrid warfare concluding with the question can we move towards a less fragmented set of international legal rules that will govern hybrid warfare in the future 2018

Challenges Resulting from Multiple Institutional Logics in Hybrid Organizations Lisa von der Heydte, 2020-05-13 Hybrid organizations combine elements of well established institutionalized structures and thereby move away from conventional organizational practices The present research reveals that when hybrid organizations develop their operations they are faced with challenges that are unique and unexplored and which are often grounded in their hybrid structure Social business hybrids were chosen as an ideal setting for the study of organizational hybridity based on their unique organizational structure which is characterized by a mix of commercial for profit and charity logic Double non-taxation and the use of hybrid entities Leopoldo Parada, 2023-12-11 The topics of double non taxation and hybrid entities have acquired particular importance in a context where transformations in the tax world have led to international commitments materialised in the OECD Base Erosion and Profit Shifting BEPS project In what is the first systematic in depth analysis of the OECD BEPS Action Plan 2 and hybrid entities this timely book provides a critical review of the approach adopted by the OECD and proposes a deeply informed alternative method to deal with the problem of hybrid entity mismatches. The author analyses the interaction between the double non taxation outcome and the use of hybrid entities in an approach not strictly linked to any specific tax jurisdiction. To this end the analysis includes case studies and examples from a range of jurisdictions emphasising the international tax context also including the application of tax treaties. Among the seminal matters covered in this edition are the following foundations of the concepts of double non taxation and hybrid entities: extensive analysis based on the rules of characterisation of foreign entities for tax purposes in the United States, Spain, Denmark and Germany as well as on the Poland, United States and Canada United States tax treaties; in depth analysis of the implications of Article 12 OECD Model Tax Convention and Article 3(1) Multilateral Instrument (MLI) especially considering the position of developing source countries; detailed analysis of the OECD BEPS Action 2 and its recommendations linking rules including its implementation in the EU Anti Tax Avoidance Directive (ATAD) and elaborated alternative method to deal with hybrid entity mismatches; reactive coordination rule which is informed by the tax policy aims of simplicity, coherence and administrability. Detailed comparisons between the author's proposal and other existing rules elucidate common points and deviations. If merely for its unparalleled clarification of the issues, this book will prove of immeasurable value to practitioners, tax authorities, policymakers and academics concerned with international tax law. Beyond that, as an authoritative guide that promises to reorient the discussion to what really matters in the debate regarding hybrid entity mismatches, this analysis elaborates solutions applicable to a generality of cases worldwide and therefore hugely promotes the urgent quest for alternative views.

Hybrid Learning Philip Tsang, Simon K.S. Cheung, Victor S.K. Lee, Ronghuai Huang, 2010-08-12. The Third International Conference on Hybrid Learning (ICHL 2010) was organized by the School of Continuing and Professional Studies of The Chinese University of Hong Kong, Beijing Normal University, Goethe Institut China, Caritas Francis Hsu College and Caritas Bianchi College of Careers. ICHL 2010 provided a platform for knowledge exchange on hybrid learning among educators, researchers and computer scientists who share a common goal to enhance the quality of learning and teaching in this fast changing knowledge world with the support of technology innovation. Hybrid learning has been an ongoing trend for a number of years. It is not merely a simple combination of face to face and technology mediated instruction but also encompasses different learning strategies for teaching and learning. It places emphasis on outcome based teaching and learning and provides a diversified learning environment. Hybrid learning is probably the most efficient learning mode in the present age of globalization when learning has to be borderless and dynamic in order to address the diverse learning needs of students. Students are given more opportunities to develop into active independent learners and to practice practical skills.

Hybrid Financial Instruments in International Tax Law Jakob Bundgaard, 2016-11-15

Financial innovation allows companies and other entities that wish to raise capital to choose from a myriad of possible instruments that can be tailored to meet the specific business needs of the issuer and investor. However, such instruments put increasing pressure on a question that is fundamental to the tax and financial systems of a country: the distinction between debt and equity. Focusing on hybrid financial instruments (HFIs) which lie somewhere along the debt-equity continuum but where exactly depends on the terms of the instrument as well as on applicable laws, this book analyses their treatment under both domestic law and tax treaties. Key jurisdictions including the EU (some of its Member States) and the United States are covered. Advocating for a broader scope of application of HFIs as part of the financing of companies in Europe alongside traditional sources of debt and equity financing, the book addresses such issues and topics as the following: problems associated with the debt-equity distinction in international tax law; cross-border tax arbitrage and linking rules; drivers behind the use and design of HFIs; tax-law impact of perpetual and super-maturity debt instruments; profit-participating loans; convertible bonds; mandatory convertible bonds; contingent convertibles; preference shares and warrant loans on HFIs; financial accounting treatment; administrative guidance; influence of the TFEU on Member States; approaches to classification of HFIs; interpretation of the Parent Subsidiary Directive by the European Court of Justice; applicability of the OECD Model Tax Convention and implications of the OECD Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (BEPS) project. Throughout this book, the analysis draws upon preparatory works, case law and legal theory in English, German and the Scandinavian languages. In conclusion, the author considers tax-policy issues and identifies and outlines possible high-level solutions. Actual or potential users of HFIs will greatly appreciate the clarity and insight offered here into the capacity and tax implications of HFIs. The book not only examines whether existing legislation is sufficient to handle the issues raised by international HFIs but also provides an in-depth analysis of the interaction between corporate financing and tax law in the light of today's financial innovation. Corporate executives and their counsel will find it indispensable in the international taxation landscape that is currently coming into view, and academics and policymakers will hugely augment their understanding of a complex and constantly changing area of tax law.
