Nationalizing

Sex Richard Togman, 2019-02-13 Government sponsored breeding programs medals of motherhood forced abortions and surgical sterilization on park benches all of these policies have come out of government efforts to nationalize sex and harness procreation as a tool of the state Over 170 countries or 85% of governments worldwide have active policies designed to manipulate the fertility of their citizenry with the aim of influencing the rate of growth of their populations While over 90% of least developed states are trying to combat population growth with policies designed to reduce fertility over two thirds of all developed countries are actively crafting legislation to increase their populations Despite over a hundred years of relative failure and innumerable studies questioning the viability and utility of government attempts to manipulate the fertility rate of the population as a whole the majority of governments worldwide continue to uphold and develop such policies What drives government to try to control how many children people will have Nationalizing Sex traces why population emerged as an object of governance and how natalist policy has changed over time and place using case studies from France Germany Russia India and China It analyzes the origins growth and development of fertility as a national and international political issue the rise and fall of the narratives used to ascribe meaning to natality and the global proliferation of oddly similar policies adopted by widely dissimilar states As importantly it explains why after hundreds of years countries continue to pursue natalist policy even though it has been such a widespread failure economic change which swept through what used to be referred to as the Communist Bloc With the disintegration of this bloc there has been no shortage of western advice on how to democratize economy and politiy in these societies However little thought has been given to what this change means for the millions of women who have toiled for decades alongside men in the factories and fields as well as performing their womanly mission in the home This collection from women in Eastern and Western Europe and covering both Europe and China poses many questions about the impact of change It contributes to the debate that seeks to combat inertia and ethnocentrism within western feminism and also to the separate and the critical women s voice which is re emerging in the Soviet Union Eastern Europe and China
