1953 and the subsequent cracking of the genetic code a gene centric discourse developed which had a major impact not only on biological science but on wider culture As figures like E O Wilson and Richard Dawkins popularised the neo Darwinian view that behaviour was driven by genetic self interest novelists were both compelled and unnerved by such a vision of the origins and ends of life This book maps the ways in which Doris Lessing A S Byatt Ian McEwan and Kazuo Ishiguro wrestled with the reductionist neo Darwinian account of human nature and with the challenge it posed to humanist beliefs about identity agency and morality It argues that these novelists were alienated to varying degrees by neo Darwinian arguments but that the recent shift to postgenomic science has enabled a greater rapprochement between biological and post humanist concepts of human nature The postgenomic view of organisms as agentic and interactive is echoed in the life writing of Margaret Drabble and Jackie Kay which also explores the ethical implications of this holistic biological perspective As advances in postgenomics especially epigenetics provoke increasing public interest and concern this book offers a timely analysis of debates that have fundamentally altered our understanding of what it means to be human
