LaValle Norman, 2019-12-05 This book sheds light on a relatively dark period of literary history the late third century CE a period that falls between the Second Sophistic and Late Antiquity It argues that more was being written during this time than past scholars have realized and takes as its prime example the understudied Christian writer Methodius of Olympus Among his many works this book focuses on his dialogic Symposium a text which exposes an era s new concern to re orient the gaze of a generation from the past onto the future Dr LaValle Norman makes the further argument that scholarship on the Imperial period that does not include Christian writers within its purview misses the richness of this period which was one of deepening interaction between Christian and non Christian writers Only through recovering this conversation can we understand the transitional period that led to the rise of Constantine The Art of the Roman Empire Jas

Lauwers, 2015-09-07 How is it possible that modern scholars have labelled Maximus of Tyre a second century CE performer of philosophical orations as a sophist or a half philosopher while his own self presentation is that of a genuine philosopher If we take Maximus claim to philosophical authority seriously his case can deepen our understanding of the dynamic nature of Imperial philosophy Through a discursive analysis of twelve Imperial intellectuals alongside Maximus dialexeis the author proposes an interpretative framework to assess the purpose behind the representation of philosophy rhetoric and sophistry in Maximus oeuvre This is thus as yet the first book length attempt at situating the historical communication process implicit in the surviving Maximean texts in the concurrent context of the Imperial intellectual world Community and Identity at the Edges of the Classical World Aaron W.
