Secret History Of Procopius

Procopius (of Caesarea.)

Secret History Of Procopius:

The Secret History Procopius, 2007-10-04 A trusted member of the Byzantine establishment Procopius was the Empire's official chronicler and his History of the Wars of Justinian proclaimed the strength and wisdom of the Emperor's reign. Yet all the while the dutiful scribe was working on a very different and dangerous history to be published only once its author was safely in his grave. The Secret History portrays the great lawgiver Justinian as a rampant king of corruption and tyranny, the Empress Theodora as a sorceress and whore, and the brilliant general Belisarius as the pliable dupe of his scheming wife Antonina. Magnificently hyperbolic and highly opinionated, The Secret History is a work of explosive energy depicting holy Byzantium as a hell of murder and misrule. Procopius James Allan Stewart Evans, 1972 The Secret History of the Court of Justinian Procopius, Procopius Richard Atwater, 2013-05-01 Procopius of Caesarea in Palestine is the most important source for information about the reign of the emperor Justinian and his wife Theodora. From 527 to 531 Procopius was a counsel, the great general of the time Belisarius. He was on Belisarius's first Persian campaign and later took part in an expedition against the Vandals. He was in Italy on the Gothic campaign until 540, after which he lived in Constantinople, since he describes the great plague of 542 in the capital. His life after that is largely unknown, although he was given the title illustis in 560 and in May may have been prefect of Constantinople in 562. He wrote a number of official histories, including On the Wars in eight books published 552 with an addition in 554, and On the Buildings in six books published 561. He also left a Secret History, probably written c. 550 and published after his death, which was a massive attack on the character of Justinian and his wife Theodora. Parts are so vitriolic, not to say pornographic, that for some time translations from Greek were only available into Latin. The Secret History claims to provide explanations and additions that the author could not insert into his work on the Wars for fear of retribution from Justinian and Theodora. Since both before and afterward Procopius wrote approvingly of the emperor, it was suggested in the past that he was not the author of the work, but it is now generally accepted that Procopius wrote it. Analysis of text which shows no contradictions in point of fact between the Secret History and the other works, as well as a linguistic and grammatical analysis, makes this a conclusive opinion. Secret History of

Procopius Procopius, 1961 The Secret History of Procopius Richard Atwater, 2021-12-24 The Secret History of Procopius Richard Atwater Procopius, who lived from 500 to 565 C.E., was a Byzantine historian. His writings are a primary source about the reign of the Emperor Justinian. Writing in Greek, Procopius was the last major ancient historian. The original title of this work was Anecdota, which means things not given over, withheld. Procopius speculates that Justinian might have been something not even human, perhaps vampiric. He soberly quotes eyewitness accounts of Justinian shapeshifting into a shapeless mass of flesh and literally losing and retrieving his head. Justinian killing a trillion people. The text actually says: A myriad, myriads of myriads. A myriad is the highest number in Greek: 10,000. That is 105 3 1015 100 000 000 000 000 or 100 trillion. All of this is a bit sophistical, of course, what Procopius obviously means here is a ridiculous number. Procopius:
