Trans-Pacific Partnership

Secret Surrender of Sovereignty

Trans-Pacific Partnership negotiations, which subordinate American law to international tribunals, are being conducted in secret — for U.S. citizens and politicians, not corporations.

By Joe Wolverton II, J.D.

At an address to the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) on September 24, Mexican President Felipe Calderón praised his government's willingness to manipulate trade rules in order to increase Mexico's international posture, power, and influence. A big step toward that end was Mexico's entry into the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) negotiations.

"A few months ago, Mexico joined the Trans-Pacific Partnership, TPP, negotiations. This will give Mexican trade the biggest boost since NAFTA came into effect," Calderón explained.

In June, President Barack Obama and U.S. Trade Representative (USTR) Ron Kirk announced that both of America's NAFTA partners, Canada and Mexico, have been invited to join the secret negotiations aimed at establishing the TPP.

In an announcement published June 18 on the USTR website, Kirk wrote:

We are delighted to invite Mexico, our neighbor and second largest export market, to join the TPP negotiations. Mexico's interest in the TPP reflects its recognition that the TPP presents the most promising pathway to boosting trade across the Asia Pacific and to encouraging regional trade integration. We look forward to continuing consultations with the Congress and domestic stakeholders as we move forward.

Kirk made a similar announcement a day later, publicizing Canada's invitation to join the super-secret TPP club, and Canadian officials were just as giddy as Calderón.

After undergoing the requisite review of its domestic trade policies, Canada eagerly joined the negotiations on the trade pact. With Canada, there are now 11 nations participating in the TPP negotiations: Australia, Brunei, Canada, Chile, Malaysia, Mexico, New Zealand, Peru, Singapore, the United States, and Vietnam. This group of nations is working to establish "a comprehensive free trade agreement across the region." Of course, as was the case with the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), the trade conducted under these multinational agreements is never free of government control. Marino Sanudo Torsello, The Book of the Secrets of the Faithful of the Cross Peter Lock,2016-05-06 This is the first full translation of Marino Sanudo Torsello s Secreta fidelium Crucis to be made into English The work itself is a piece of crusading propaganda following the fall of Acre in 1291 written between 1300 and 1321 but it includes much of historical relevance along with interesting observations on the early history of Jerusalem and the Crusader Kingdom The translation is based upon the text edited by Jacques Bongars in 1611 There is an introduction that contextualises the book its author his sources and his audience The notes provide essential information to clarify internal textual references and allusions as well as the role of Biblical references in Sanudo's grand design. The index is designed to make this detailed text usable and accessible. In this his major work Sanudo advocated the conquest of Egypt as the means to regain Jerusalem for the Latins and worked through his points with considerable detail alongside references to 13th century Mediterranean history especially involving Louis IX of France and Charles of Anjou king of Naples. Books I and II give considerable detailed discussion of the concept, plan and costs of his proposed crusade. Book III provides an outline history of the crusades and the crusader states. It is derived from a wide reading of other sources especially of William of Tyre and for events after 1184 on the Eracles the letters of James of Vitry and Sanudo's own experiences in the east. Throughout the work contains a staggering amount of cartographical, ethnographical, geographical and nautical information as well as numerous unique insights into historical events and personalities of the late 13th century not only in Outremer but in Western Europe.
