Modern Movement In Architecture:

Modern Movements in Architecture Charles Jencks, 1985 See Camp and Johnson Philip in index History of Modern Architecture Leonardo Benevolo, 1977 A serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author's closely reasoned formulations Let it be said at once that the format of this work is richly handsome it is a two volume boxed set comprising 844 pages and well over 1 000 high quality illustrations and it reflects throughout its publisher's conviction that good design is an essential not superficial part of bookmaking Beyond that it should be emphasized that this work is not another facile cultural tour of modern architecture It is a serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author's closely reasoned formulations rather than to gloss over a lack of substantive content The book is a translation of the third Italian edition published in 1966 Benevolo who is on the faculty of architecture in Venice has earned an international reputation as a historian of architecture and town planning and his publications embrace the span of time from the Renaissance to the foreseeable future One such publication The Origins of Modern Town Planning The MIT Press 1967 may be read as a prelude to the present work as well as an independent contribution Perhaps more than any other architectural historian in our time Benevolo has made a determined effort to place developments in design and planning in their proper social and political settings Indeed the author argues that the development of the modern movement in architecture was determined not by aesthetic formalisms but largely by the social changes that have occurred since about 1760 After the middle of the eighteenth century without the continuity of formal activity being in any way broken indeed while architectural language seems to be acquiring a particular coherence the relations between architect and society began to change radically New material and spiritual needs new ideas and modes of procedure arise both within and beyond the traditional limits and finally they run together to form a new architectural synthesis that is completely different from the old one In this way it is possible to explain the birth of modern architecture which otherwise would seem completely incomprehensible This second volume is concerned with the modern movement proper from 1914 to 1966 The author emphasizes the unity of the movement rejecting the usual treatment that allots to the individual architects separate and unconnected biographical accounts Benevolo remarks at one point When one talks about modern architecture one must bear in mind the fact that it implies not only a new range of forms but also a new way of thinking whose consequences have not yet all been calculated His main concern is to provide a more exact calculation of those consequences History of Modern Architecture Leonardo Benevolo, 1977 Modern Alan Powers, 2005 Encyclopedic in scope and structure this comprehensive study of Modern Movement architecture in Britain covers the work of such renowned architects as Walter Gropius Marcel Breuer Eric Mendelsohn and Serge Chermayeff together with specially commissioned photographs of all the major extant buildings The Other Modern Movement Kenneth

Frampton, 2022-01-25 A revealing new look at modernist architecture emphasizing its diversity complexity and broad inventiveness Usually associated with Mies and Le Corbusier the Modern Movement was instrumental in advancing new technologies of construction in architecture including the use of glass steel and reinforced concrete Renowned historian Kenneth Frampton offers a bold look at this crucial period focusing on architects less commonly associated with the movement in order to reveal the breadth and complexity of architectural modernism The Other Modern Movement profiles nineteen architects each of whom consciously contributed to the evolution of a new architectural typology through a key work realized between 1922 and 1962 Frampton's account offers new insights into iconic buildings like Eileen Gray's E 1027 House in France and Richard Neutra's Kaufmann House in Palm Springs California as well as lesser known works such as Antonin Raymond's Tokyo Golf Club and Alejandro de la Sota's Maravillas School Gymnasium in Madrid Foregrounding the ways that these diverse projects employed progressive models advanced new methods in construction techniques and displayed a new sociocultural awareness Frampton shines a light on the rich legacy of the Modern Movement and the enduring potential of the unfinished modernist project

The Experience of Modernism John R. Gold, John Robert Gold, 1997 Using in depth interviews with architects active between 1928 1953 Gold provides a sympathetic understanding of the Modern Movement's architectural role in reshaping British metropolitan cities in the post war period

A History of the Modern Movement: Art Architecture Design Kurt Rowland, 1973 Covers the artistic revolution in the first quarter of the twentieth century

The New Eco-Architecture: Alternatives from the Modern Movement Colin Porteous, 2013-10-11 The New Eco Architecture builds a historical bridge between architectural science and design It seeks to address neglected aspects of the Modern Movement as a prelude to supporting a diversity of architectural insight and experimentation aimed at twenty first century environmental needs and priorities The attitudes and influences of renowned figures are re examined in relation to current issues of architectural sustainability By setting today's green architectural quest within a twentieth century context and evaluating the main protagonists with regard to a modern eco sensitive lineage the book will be of primary interest to architectural students academics and practitioners However it should also intrigue historians theoreticians and critics who tend to gloss over such issues as well as other disciplines engaged with the built environment

Exploding the Myths of Modern Architecture Malcolm Millais, 2009 The Modern movement began in the 1920s when a small group of young architects felt all that had gone before should be rejected and that architectural design should start afresh This fresh start they declared should be based on modern technology and a new modern approach to life Their innovations became the 20th century's dominant movement in architecture crystallizing into the international style of the 1920s and 30s In Exploding the Myths of Modern Architecture Malcolm Millais explores the forces and factors that led to the emergence of the Modern movement arguing that it was based on completely false premises Millais offers a rarely heard perspective on the Modern movement explaining its failures and how the well meaning revolutionaries behind it gained and
