The Perplexities of Modern International Law Académie de Droit International de la Ha Staff, Shabtai Rosenne, 2002 The Academy is an institution for the study and teaching of Public and Private International Law and related subjects Its purpose is to encourage a thorough and impartial examination of the problems arising from international relations in the field of law The courses deal with the theoretical and practical aspects of the subject including legislation and case law All courses at the Academy are in principle published in the language in which they were delivered in the Collected Courses of the Hague Academy of International Law The contents of this volume consist of The Perplexities of Modern International Law General Course on Public International Law by Sh ROSENNE former Ambassador of Israel Jerusalem To access the abstract texts for this volume please click here Modern International Law James Hastings Wolfe, 2002 Citing both theory and case law this book focuses on the political dynamics involved in contemporary international law It describes the importance of international law from the perspective of the rights of states reciprocity among governments and collaborative efforts to achieve stability and peace And by interweaving traditional subjects e g statehood and sovereignty with discussions of contemporary topics e g human rights and the law of the sea it reveals the emerging transition to a new style of international politics an interdependent international system based on law and organization Law of Nations Law and the International System International Law within the State Subjects of International Law Recognition of States and Governments State Responsibility Human Rights Citizenship Jurisdiction Dispute Resolution Territory Law of the Sea International Agreements Diplomacy Prospects For those interested in the political aspects of international law The Sources of Modern International Law George Augustus Finch, 1937 Modern International Law R. C. Hingorani, 1979 Essays on Some Disputed Questions in Modern International Law Thomas Joseph Lawrence, 1884 Mestizo International Law Arnulf Becker Lorca, 2015-01-01 The development of international law is conventionally understood as a history in which the main characters states and international lawyers and events wars and peace conferences are European Arnulf Becker Lorca demonstrates how non Western states and lawyers appropriated nineteenth century classical thinking in order to defend new and better rules governing non Western states international relations By internalizing the standard of civilization for example they argued for the abrogation of unequal treaties These appropriations contributed to the globalization of international law With the rise of modern legal thinking and a stronger international community governed by law peripheral lawyers seized the opportunity and used the new discourse and institutions such as the League of Nations to dissolve the standard of civilization and codify non intervention and self determination These stories suggest that the history of our contemporary international legal order is not purely European instead they suggest a history of a mestizo international law International Law and Islam Ignacio de la Rasilla del Moral, Ayesha Shahid, 2018-12-10 International Law and Islam Historical Explorations offers a unique opportunity to examine the Islamic contribution to the development of international law in historical perspective The role of Islam in its various intellectual political and legal manifestations within the history of international law is part of the exciting intellectual renovation of international and global legal history in the dawn of the twenty first century The present volume is an invitation to engage with this thriving development after generations of prejudiced writing regarding the notable contribution of Islam to international law and its history Lectures on International Law Cushman Kellogg Davis,1897 On the Interpretation of Treaties Ulf Linderfalk,2007-09-11 1 PURPOSE AND TOPIC We live in the age of treaties Increasingly bilateral and multilateral written agreements are used for the creation of new international legal standards For political reasons states are decreasingly less willing to rely upon customary international law for the regulation of legal matters New technology and growing international exchange have established the need for an ever more precise and flexible international law a need not satisfactorily met by customary law In many fields of activity we can seriously question whether the creation of a rule of custom is at all possible Considering also that the number of states capable of drafting and concluding treaties seems to be growing it is not surprising that treaties are concluded far more frequently than ever before In several ways this is a development that should be met with approval By entering into written agreements states avoid the difficulties inherent in customary international law At the same time the increasing number of treaties should also be causing concern The more treaties that are concluded the more treaties that will have to be applied and the more treaties that are applied the more often the question will arise To what extent and under what specific conditions should such an application occur Naturally this includes the question of how treaties should be interpreted
