Myth Of Consumerism:

The Myth of Consumerism Conrad Lodziak, 2002-01-20 Lodziak's delightful tome takes to task the myth of joyful willful consumerism as it's perpetuated in the field of cultural studies. Tracing the ideas common to the field, Lodziak, no academic affiliation is indicated, questions the very roots of cultural studies ideology then proposes an alternate view of the phenomenon of shopping within the present capitalist society. The Myth of the Ethical Consumer Hardback with DVD Timothy Michael Devinney, Pat Auger, Giana M. Eckhardt, 2010-07-29 A no holds barred examination of ethical consumerism.

Women and the Myth of Consumerism Ellen Willis, 1970* The Myth of Consumerism Ellen Willis, 1970 Religion is Not about God Loyal D. Rue, 2005. Annotation: If religion is not about God, then what on earth is it about? Loyal Rue contends that religion is a series of strategies that aims to influence human nature so that we might think, feel, and act in ways that are good for us both individually and collectively.

Modern Myths and Medical Consumerism Antonio Lanfranchi, 2018-03-15. Modern Myths and Medical Consumerism is concerned with the loss of a sense of limit in technological medicine today and the way in which the denial of death leads to an uncontrollable consumeristic multiplication of needs. Taking its starting point from C. G. Jung's analytical psychology, the book gives a symbolic interpretation based on archetypal philosophical and socio-psychoanalytic ideas developed through the author's personal experience moving from the medical to the psychoanalytical paradigm. Lanfranchi depicts ideal sources of medicine based on archetypal material drawn from Greek myth and discusses the progressive steps of the doctor's consciousness evolution up to contemporary times. Critiquing current medicine and its modern myths, the book suggests the prevailing model of economic development is unsustainable and provides prospects of a more contained ecological medicine and an ethical approach that will allow readers to reflect and move towards a more qualified attitude to mortality. The book meets the need to transform medicine into a critical domain of human experience capable of providing essential services consistent with the naturalness of death and environmental sustainability. As such, it will be vital reading to academics in the fields of psychotherapy, analytical psychology, psychiatry, and medicine, and those with a philosophical or sociological background.

Myths We Live by Colin Grant, 1998. Colin Grant challenges the popular use of myth as a dismissive designation of the superstitions and falsehoods of other cultures. The author maintains that myths occupy a place in our present-day lives that is every bit as important to us as the divinities and heroes of classical antiquity were to the ancients. The myths themselves are in a constant state of flux and transformation. They ebb and flow both within the context of wider culture and individual experience. Published in English.

Subjectivity, the Unconscious and Consumerism Marlon Xavier, 2018-09-17. Subjectivity, the Unconscious, and Consumerism is a unique and imaginative psycho-sociological exploration of how postmodern contemporary consumerism invades and colonises human subjectivity. Investigating especially consumerism's unconscious aspects such as desires, imagination, and fantasy, it engages with an extensive analysis of dreams The author frames these using a synthesis of Jungian psychology and the social imaginaries of Baudrillard and Bauman in a dialogue with the theories of McDonaldisation and Disneyization The aim is to broaden our understanding of consumerism to include the perennial consumption of symbols and signs of identity a process which is the basis for the fabrication of the commodified self The book offers a profound innovative critique of our consumption societies challenging readers to rethink how we live and how our identities are impacted by consumerism As such it will be of interest to students and scholars of critical psychology psychoanalysis sociology anthropology and cultural studies but is also accessible to anyone interested in the complex psychology of contemporary subjectivity The Myth of Green Marketing

Toby Maureen Smith,1998-01-01 In this groundbreaking study Toby Smith analyses the role that social myths such as green marketing play in public understanding of the environmental crisis This book introduces the concept of hegemony into environmental politics using the concept to elucidate the political economic and social alliance that sustains our belief in industrial expansionism The ecological crisis of the late twentieth century presents a challenge to the very foundations of this alliance The hegemonic system reacts to a threat to its structure by producing social myths that provide a common sense understanding of the threat Smith examines one such social myth the contemporary phenomenon known as green marketing and how it came to reinforce rather than challenge the ethics of productivism By analysing green marketing as it relates primarily to the early 1990s corporate campaigns of companies such as McDonald s Shell Chemicals and Mobil Chemical Co Smith demonstrates how these voices weave together an understanding of green consumerism using familiar language from economic and liberal democratic discourses The Myth of Green Marketing is an original and important contribution to the field of environmental studies As the first book on green marketing it is sure to raise controversy with its unique discussion of the cultural and social aspects of environmental issues Consumerism, 4th Ed. David A. Aaker,1982-02 The new edition of this highly acclaimed anthology continues to provide the most comprehensive rigorously balanced survey available of modern consumerism Written by a wide range of experts the 42 articles half of them new to this edition cover today s most important consumer and public policy issues advertising and the disclosure of consumer information selling practices anti trust issues and competition product safety liability and consumer satisfaction As in previous editions the articles are arranged according to the steps in the purchase process New to this edition are detailed discussions of such current issues as the costs and benefits of government regulation advertising to children consumer information systems and demarketing encouraging consumers to use less of such products as tobacco and energy The final section assesses the response of business and industry to consumer pressures
