and documentary cinema It stands in sharp contrast to books of academic film criticism and handbooks on visual research methods being based extensively on concrete examples from the author's own filmmaking experience The book places particular emphasis on observational filmmaking and the ways in which this approach is distinct from other forms of documentary It offers both practical insights and reflections on what it means in both emotional and intellectual terms to attempt to represent the lives of others The book makes clear that documentary cinema is not simply a matter of recording reality but of artfully organising the filmmaker's observations in ways that reveal the complex patterns of social life

Echo Objects Barbara Maria Stafford, 2007 Publisher description Appearance in Reality John Heil, 2021-09-16 In Appearance in Reality John Heil addresses a question at the heart of metaphysics how are the appearances related to reality how does what we find in the sciences comport with what we encounter in everyday experience and in the laboratory Objects for instance appear to be colourful noisy self contained and massively interactive Physics tells us they are dynamic swarms of colourless particles or disturbances in fields or something equally strange Is what we experience illusory present only in our minds But then what are minds Do minds elude physics Or are the physicist's depictions mere constructs with no claim to reality Perhaps reality is hierarchical physics encompasses the fundamental things the less than fundamental things are dependent on but distinct from these Heil's investigation advances a fourth possibility the scientific image what we have in physics affords our best guide to the nature of what the appearances are appearances of True to the Spirit Colin MacCabe, Rick Warner, Kathleen Murray, 2011 Fifty percent of Hollywood productions each year are adaptations films that use an already published book dramatic work or comic as their source material If the original is well known then for most spectators the question of whether these adaptations are true to the spirit of the original is central The recent wave of adaptation studies dismisses the question of fidelity as irrelevant mistaken or an affront to the unstable nature of meaning itself The essays gathered here mixing the field's top authorities Andrew Gunning Jameson Mulvey and Naremore with fresh new voices take the question of correspondence between source and adaptation as seriously as do producers and audiences Spanning examples from Shakespeare to Ghost World and addressing such notable directors as Welles Kubrick Hawks Tarkovsky and Ophuls the contributors write against the grain of recent adaption studies by investigating the question of what fidelity might mean in its broadest and truest sense what it might reveal of the adaptive process and why it is still one of the richest veins of investigation in the study of cinema
