Regeneration of Values Sushmita Bhowmik, 2025-03-22 A Comparative Study of the Thoughts of Mahatma Gandhi and Sri Aurobindo reflects upon the different concepts of social moral political and religious values philosophized and propagated by Mahatma Gandhi and Sri Aurobindo Both these two great thinkers of nineteenth twentieth century India tried to reconstruct the social moral political and spiritual life of the entire mankind through the revival of the ancient social and cultural values of India However the means adopted by them towards such regeneration of values were different in many respects Here an attempt has been made to make a comparative study of their concepts of the different values as well as the approaches taken by them Freedom and Democracy in an Imperial Context Robert Nichols, Jakeet Singh, 2014-03-26 Freedom and Democracy in an Imperial Context Dialogues with James Tully gathers leading thinkers from across the humanities and social sciences in a celebration of and critical engagement with the recent work of Canadian political philosopher James Tully Over the past thirty years James Tully has made key contributions to some of the most pressing questions of our time including interventions in the history of moral and political thought contemporary political philosophy democracy citizenship imperialism recognition and cultural diversity In 2008 he published Public Philosophy in a New Key a two volume work that promises to be one of the most influential and important statements of legal and political thought in recent history This work along with numerous other books and articles is foundational to a distinctive school of political thought influencing thinkers in fields as diverse as Anthropology History Indigenous Studies Law Philosophy and Political Science Critically engaging with James Tully's thought the essays in this volume take up what is his central and ever more pressing question how to enact democratic practices of freedom within and against historically sedimented and actually existing relationships of imperialism A Democratic Enlightenment Morton Schoolman, 2020-04-03 In A Democratic Enlightenment Morton Schoolman proposes aesthetic education through film as a way to redress the political violence inflicted on difference that society constructs as its racialized gendered Semitic and sexualized other Drawing on Voltaire Diderot and Schiller Schoolman reconstructs the genealogical history of what he calls the reconciliation image a visual model of a democratic ideal of reconciliation he then theorizes through Whitman's prose and poetry and Adorno's aesthetic theory Analyzing The Help 2011 and Gentleman's Agreement 1947 Schoolman shows how film produces a more advanced image of reconciliation than those originally created by modernist artworks Each film depicts violence toward racial and ethnic difference while also displaying a reconciliation image that aesthetically educates the public about how the violence of constructing difference as otherness can be overcome Mounting a democratic enlightenment the reconciliation image in film illuminates a possible politics for challenging the rise of nationalism's violence toward differences in all their diversity Victimhood, Memory, and Consumerism Katja Franko, David Rodríguez Goyes, 2023 Victimhood Memory and Consumerism documents the story of the drug violence in Medellín in the 1980s and 1990s and critically examines the position of its victims Drawing on unique empirical material the book addresses the consequences of commercial exploitation of Medellín's violent past for its victims and for the nature of the city today Politics of Postanarchism Saul Newman, 2010-03-24 What is the relevance of anarchist thought for politics and political theory today While many have dismissed anarchism in the past Saul Newman contends that anarchism's heretical critique of authority and its insistence on full equality and liberty places it at the forefront of the radical political imagination today With the unprecedented expansion of state power in the name of security the current crisis of capitalism and the terminal decline of Marxist and social democratic projects it is time to reconsider anarchism as a form of politics This book seeks to renew anarchist thought through the concept of postanarchism

Why It's OK to Be a Moderate Marcus Arvan, 2025-03-17

Conservatives and progressives rarely agree on much but one thing many agree upon is that it's not OK to be a moderate. This book shows they are wrong. In Why It's OK to Be a Moderate, Marcus Arvan shows how many of history's worst evils have resulted from far right and far left radicalism, how escalating conflicts between conservatives and progressives are undermining democracy, and how many widely hailed social and political achievements have been achieved by moderates and radicals working in constructive tension with each other. Using philosophy, science, and historical analysis, Arvan shows that critics of moderates tend to equate them with spineless centrists, but that most moderates aren't centrists, falling into diverse categories across the political spectrum. Arvan then shows that although radicals tend to be popular in their era, many of them have gone down in infamy, while many moderates like Abraham Lincoln or Clement Attlee have endured short-term unpopularity to make history. Arvan shows that it's OK to be a moderate precisely because not everyone should be one. He makes this case to you, showing that whatever your reasonable political ideology may be, things tend to go best politically when radicals and moderates effectively complement each other's virtues while counterbalancing the other's vices. Key Features: Uses science and historical analysis to show that while liberals and conservatives may have some political virtues, radicals on both sides of the political spectrum tend to display twelve political vices that undermine democracy. Explores how Aristotle's idea of the Golden Mean and Buddhism's Middle Way might be used to better understand far left and far right mistakes in the UK, US, Continental Europe, and India. Shows how moderates are a leading political demographic existing in greater numbers than liberals or conservatives while falling into diverse categories across the political spectrum. Documents how radicalism has underwritten many of history's worst political events along with many of the most widely acknowledged political problems of the 20th and 21st centuries. Demonstrates to the reader that things tend to go best politically when radicals and moderates work in constructive tension with each other and worst when there aren't enough moderates.

Armstrong,2004 The Politics of Piety situates the Franciscan order at the heart of the religious and political conflicts of the late sixteenth century to show how a medieval charismatic religious tradition became an engine of political change The friars used their redoubtable skills as preachers intellectual training at the University of Paris and personal and professional connections with other Catholic reformers and patrons to successfully galvanize popular opposition to the spread of Protestantism throughout the sixteenth century By 1588 the friars used these same strategies on behalf of the Catholic League to prevent the succession of the Protestant heir presumptive Henry of Navarre to the French throne This book contributes to our understanding of religion as a formative political impulse throughout the sixteenth century by linking the long term political activism of the friars to the emergence of the French monarchy of the seventeenth century Megan C Armstrong is assistant professor of early modern Europe in the History Department of the University of Utah Embodying Forgiveness L. Gregory Jones,1995-08-31 In an engaging and interesting style that draws on a wide variety of literature as well as on Scripture and theological texts Jones shows how the practices of Christian forgiveness are richer and more comprehensive than often thought The Palgrave Handbook of Philosophy and Public Policy David Boonin,2018-10-08 This book brings together a large and diverse collection of philosophical papers addressing a wide variety of public policy issues Topics covered range from long standing subjects of debate such as abortion punishment and freedom of expression to more recent controversies such as those over gene editing military drones and statues honoring Confederate soldiers Part I focuses on the criminal justice system including issues that arise before during and after criminal trials Part II covers matters of national defense and sovereignty including chapters on military ethics terrorism and immigration Part III which explores political participation manipulation and standing includes discussions of issues involving voting rights the use of nudges and claims of equal status Part IV covers a variety of issues involving freedom of speech and expression Part V deals with questions of justice and inequality Part VI considers topics involving bioethics and biotechnology Part VII is devoted to beginning of life issues such as cloning and surrogacy and end of life issues such as assisted suicide and organ procurement Part VIII navigates emerging environmental issues including treatments of the urban environment and extraterrestrial environments Ireland's terrorist dilemma Yonah Alexander,Alan O'day,2024-08-19 Crime and Racial Constructions Jeanette Covington,2010-04-12 Crime and Racial Constructions Cultural Misinformation about African Americans in Media and Academia focuses on how film images of dangerous hedonistic blacks have assumed greater significance since blacks protested racial injustice during the Civil Rights Movement and the Black Power Movement of the 1960s and 1970s It does so by reviewing a number of films that have been released from the 1970s until the present in which black males are depicted as violent and threatening It likewise considers how these same films represent black females as prostitutes drug addicts and irresponsible abusive mothers who spawn violence in their children Because these on screen images of a violent apolitical and immoral black underclass find their way into the criminological literature the book also takes a look at how criminologists use these images to link crime to underclass culture Both Hollywood and criminologists alike manage to ignore how black activism during the 1960s social movements actually sparked black opposition to the kind of black on black crime that is routinely depicted on screen By taking a critical look at these negative images Crime and Racial Constructions seeks to correct some of the distortions that arise from the undue academic and cinematic focus on black criminals at the expense of racially conscious blacks City of Suspects Pablo Piccato, 2001-09-26 An analysis of the complex moral interpretations crime was given by Mexico's urban poor and of the evolving institutional responses to crime and punishment in modern Mexico
