Buddhist Literature as Philosophy, Buddhist Philosophy as Literature Rafal K. Stepień, 2020-11-01

Can literature reveal reality Is philosophical truth a literary artifice How does the way we think affect what we can know Buddhism has been grappling with these questions for centuries and this book attempts to answer them by exploring the relationship between literature and philosophy across the classical and contemporary Buddhist worlds of India Tibet China Japan Korea and North America Written by leading scholars the book examines literary texts composed over two millennia ranging in form from lyric verse narrative poetry panegyric hymn and koan to novel hagiography secret autobiography autofiction treatise and sutra all in sustained conversation with topics in metaphysics ethics aesthetics and the philosophies of mind language literature and religion Interdisciplinary and cross cultural this book deliberately works across and against the boundaries separating three mainstays of humanistic pursuit literature philosophy and religion by focusing on the multiple relationships at play between content and form in works drawn from a truly diverse range of philosophical schools literary genres religious cultures and historical eras Overall the book calls into question the very ways in which we do philosophy study literature and think about religious texts It shows that Buddhist thought provides sophisticated responses to some of the perennial problems regarding how we find create and apply meaning on the page in the mind and throughout our lives

Early Germanic Literature and Culture Brian Murdoch, Malcolm Kevin Read, 2004

A collection of fresh essays examining the wide scope and significance of early Germanic culture and literature The first volume of this set views the development of writing in German with respect to broad aspects of the early Germanic past drawing on a range of disciplines including archaeology anthropology and philology in addition to literary history The first part considers the whole concept of Germanic antiquity and the way in which it has been approached examines classical writings about Germanic origins and the earliest Germanic tribes and looks at the two great influences on the early Germanic world the confrontation with the Roman Empire and the displacement of Germanic religion by Christianity A chapter on orality the earliest stage of all literature provides a bridge to the earliest Germanic writings The second part of the book is devoted to written Germanic rather than German materials with a series of chapters looking first at the Runic inscriptions then at Gothic the first Germanic language to find its way onto parchment in Ulfilas's Bible translation The topic turns finally to what we now understand as literature with general surveys of the three great areas of early Germanic literature Old Norse Old English and Old High and Low German A final chapter is devoted to the Old Saxon Heliand Contributors T M Andersson Heinrich Beck Graeme Dunphy Klaus D wel G Ronald Murphy Adrian Murdoch Brian Murdoch Rudolf Simek Herwig Wolfram Brian Murdoch and Malcolm Read both teach in the German Department of the University of Stirling in Scotland

A Reference Guide for English Studies Michael J. Marcuse, 1990-01-01 This ambitious undertaking is designed to acquaint students teachers and researchers with reference sources in any branch of English studies which Marcuse defines as all those subjects and lines of critical and scholarly inquiry presently pursued by members of university departments of English language and literature Within each of 24 major sections Marcuse lists and annotates bibliographies guides reviews of research encyclopedias dictionaries journals and reference histories The annotations and various indexes are models of clarity and usefulness and cross references are liberally supplied where appropriate Although cost conscious librarians will probably consider the several other excellent literary bibliographies in print such as James L Harner s Literary Research Guide Modern Language Assn of America 1989 larger academic libraries will want Marcuse s volume Jack Bales Mary Washington Coll Lib Fredericksburg Va Library Journal

Religion in Film John R. May, Michael S. Bird, 1982 This carefully edited collection of essays explores in greater diversity and depth than has been attempted before the relationship between film and religion Combining perspectives from traditional film criticism and from religious studies Religion in Film asserts that it is no longer possible to view films simply in terms of their moral impact nor is it reasonable to limit religious meaning only to those films that make an explicit appeal to religious elements The essays offer a variety of theoretical reflections on the religious interpretation of film explore particular cinematic variations on the archetypal images of savior and demon analyze significant cultural trends of a religious nature related to film and assess thirteen sensibilities Altman Bergman Bunuel Chaplin Coppola Fellini Hitchcock Jutra Kubrick Peckinpah Russell Truffaut and Wertmuller The contributors provide a firm basis for analysis while respecting a variety in interpretation As the overall structure of the book leads from the universal to the particular from theory to individual directors and films so its concern with religious interpretation flows naturally from the universally religious to particular religious worldviews Among world religions Christianity claims attention in proportion to its dominant cultural influence in the West where film has more obviously flourished The insights and interpretations presented in these essays will be of importance to cinema scholars film critics and students of religion and of interest to film buffs particularly those who are sensible of the religious dimension of films

Religion and Peacebuilding Harold Coward, Gordon S. Smith, 2012-02-01 In the wake of September 11 2001 religion is often seen as the motivating force behind terrorism and other acts of violence Religion and Peacebuilding looks beyond headlines concerning violence perpetrated in the name of religion to examine how world religions have also inspired social welfare and peacemaking activism Leading scholars from the Aboriginal Hindu Buddhist Confucian Jewish Muslim and Christian traditions provide detailed analyses of the spiritual resources for fostering peace within their respective religions The contributors discuss the formidable obstacles to nonviolent conflict transformation found within sacred texts and living traditions Case studies of Northern Ireland Bosnia Cambodia and South Africa are also examined as practical applications of spiritual resources for peace Taking Religion Seriously Across the Curriculum Warren Nord, Charles Haynes, 1998-08-15 The authors chart a middle course in our war over religion and public education one that builds on a developing national consensus among educational and religious leaders While it is not proper for schools to practice religion or proselytize neither is it permissible to make them religion free zones Schools do not take religion seriously as the authors review of textbooks and the new national content standards makes clear In Part One they outline the civic constitutional and educational frameworks that should shape the treatment of religion in the curriculum and classroom In Part Two they explore major issues relating to religion in different domains of the curriculum in elementary education and in middle and high school courses in history civics economics literature and the sciences They also discuss Bible courses and world religions courses and explore the relationship of religion to moral education and sex education Note This product listing is for the Adobe Acrobat PDF version of the book Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, 1991 Nathan Scott's Literary Criticism and Fundamental Theology William D. Buhrman, 2006 Nathan Scott's Literary Criticism and Fundamental Theology reexamines the pioneering contribution of Nathan A Scott Jr to the field of theology and literature It both recalls Scott's achievement and suggests its continuing value by focusing on the question of Scott's method Rather than following the traditional interpretation of Scott as a literary critic employing Paul Tillich's theology of culture this book proposes that Scott's work is best understood as a form of fundamental theology In doing so it suggests that Scott's work models ways in which literary texts may be appropriately incorporated into theological discourse Publisher's website Gems of Chinese Literature Herbert Allen Giles, 1922
