Future Radio Programming Strategies seeks to answer the question What do listeners really want from radio Some of the answers are derived from users and gratifications research in the mass media Instead of focusing on what mass media do to people the users and gratifications perspective seeks to discover what people do with mass media The functionalist viewpoint of such research basically says that a medium is best defined by how people use it Having looked at some of the audience research that comes from sources other than the standard ratings companies the book then goes on to demonstrate new ways that formats production procedures and announcing styles can meet audience needs and desires Although the volume concludes with several original methods for selecting and presenting airplay music based on the audience s moods and emotional needs it does not insist upon a singular formulaic approach for constructing or modifying a music format Instead it attempts to involve the reader in thinking through the process of format development Two audio tapes are also available for use with the book The tapes contain nearly 3 hours of important detailed information and provocative points from the book Exclusive audio examples include the sense of acoustic space in music hi fi versus lo fi listening environments subjective perception of the announcer s distance from the listener audio editing rates comparison of luxury versus inexpensive car listening experiences and the components of emotions that are expressed vocally The tapes also include new sections about the threats to traditional radio from specialized digital audio services competition for the listener s attention from computer based media and additional proof of how music can be chosen on the basis of listeners emotional reactions and mood needs

Atherton families built a strong community over the next twelve months with thirty families. They built their homes, barns, wagons, three churches, a mill, and a trading post. The first school in the settlement was founded in 1836, the Atherton School, was a one-room schoolhouse built on the corner of Atherton Trail and Center Road where the Burton Memorial Library sits now. Betsey Atherton was the first teacher. Throughout my research, we have a lot to be thankful for, especially the four Atherton men that were brave enough to stay and never give up on the settlement. As more people joined the settlement for the next 20 years, some had military backgrounds and mostly coming from New York. With all manner of trades to prosper as the community, when more schools were needed, the farmers would build one in each area for the children. 1855 Atherton Settlement combined with other farms to become Burton Township, the second largest township but without a post office so

Tarmac Fred Valdes, 2009-08-21. This is one of a thousand stories dealing with the transition from innocence to a maturity stage where unforeseen events forced this change to occur sooner and faster than expected. The death of a father forcing an older brother to become the strong figure in a family, the absence of both parents often causes the same circumstances. In my case, it was a sudden change in government brought by a revolution and followed by family separation in exile at an early age. I have often heard so many similar stories from older Jewish friends about the fragmentation of families during the Nazi era. The name changes to save a life, the denials of ethnicity and religion in order to survive. The quest for God's given freedom does not know ethnic background or frontiers. My story is no different from those who have risked everything to live in a free society. We often associate these stories with Nazi Germany, Communist China, or the old Soviet Union. It's hard to conceive yet a reality that the same circumstances could happen just ninety miles from our shores in a country that was always and I believe still is traditionally and culturally strongly linked to the United States. I write this book with dual purpose. One is to pour my heart out and leave a written legacy on my experience to my children. As much as a father tries to explain verbally, time tends to erase the memories. The second purpose is to serve as an inspiration to all those who today seek freedom. Every human being should have freedom to worship, freedom to speak their minds and express their opinions, freedom to travel, freedom to prosper in abundance and decide who their elected leaders will be through free elections. These freedoms still do not exist in Cuba today. In spite of some recent cosmetic changes and Castro's mummified state, his younger brother is still preaching the same lies designed to create an illusion of change. After more than fifty years of totalitarian government, the

Castro brothers along with their puppets in Venezuela and Panama still rule like old dinosaurs from a bygone era     The Four Stages of Highly Effective Crisis Management Jane Jordan,2011-03-14 From the Japanese tsunami and the Egyptian revolution to the Haitian earthquake and the Australian floods social media has proven its power to unite coalesce support champion and save lives Presenting cutting edge media communication solutions The Four Stages of Highly Effective Crisis Management explains how to choose the appropriate l     Nostalgia Is What It Was Bob Cusack,2005-08 A nostalgic look at the decades its music and the memories as seen by veteran broadcaster Bob Cusack who lived and worked through it all A delightful trip down memory lane remembering the music and entertainment of the century and how it affected our everyday lives From the 1930s to the present a glance at the world of entertainment and how it became a part of the way we lived
