Remember Last Island

Larry W. Jones

Remember Last Island:

Chita: A Memory of Last Island Lafcadio Hearn, 2019-11-22 In Lafcadio Hearn's evocative novella Chita: A Memory of Last Island the author immerses readers in the exquisite wanderings of a young man's reminiscence of a vanished paradise on the Louisiana coast. Hearn's lyrical and impressionistic style captures the ethereal beauty of its landscapes, interweaving themes of nostalgia, memory, and loss against the backdrop of a devastating hurricane. With its rich descriptions and haunting atmosphere, the narrative serves as both a tribute to the unique Creole culture and a reflective exploration of human experience in the face of nature's wrath. Lafcadio Hearn, an enigmatic figure of the late 19th century, was captivated by the cultural complexities of New Orleans and its surroundings. His diverse background as a Greek Irish expatriate and his experiences in Japan gave him a distinct perspective that informed his depictions of Southern life. This place deeply resonated with Hearn, and his keen observations of the interplay between man and nature, compounded by his personal encounters with loss, culminate in the poignant storytelling found within this work. Chita: A Memory of Last Island invites readers to explore the delicate interplay between beauty and transience. Hearn's haunting prose and vivid imagery make it a compelling read, drawing those interested in regional literature, the complexities of coastal life, and the evocative power of memory into a world that remains both familiar and eerily ephemeral.

Island in a Storm Abby Sallenger, 2010-09-07 Presents the story of the 1856 hurricane which decimated Isle Derniere, an island one hundred miles off the coast of New Orleans which served as a summer resort for the wealthy and the tragic loss of life and environmental devastation which resulted from the disaster.

Remembering - Riding Life's Waves Susan Cobbs MacKenzie, 2022-08-26 Part of a service family, the author was born in South Carolina but was quickly on her journey into and around the world to include five elementary schools, two junior high schools, four high schools, four colleges, universities, three husbands, four children, numerous cats, dogs, and lovers, and a host of people, some memorable, some not.

Plantation Life on the Mississippi W. E. Clement, 2000-04-30 One day in 1852, The Princess, one of the finest steamboats afloat on the Mississippi River, one hundred years ago, was rounding the bend at Duncan's Point, about ten miles below Baton Rouge, when the boilers exploded with a frightful loss of life. The disaster occurred in front of the Conrad cottage, where a descendant, the late G. Mather Conrad of New Orleans, was born and lived as a youth. Lyle Saxon, in his Old Louisiana, tells of having known an old gentleman who remembered the awful holocaust. Then a little boy, this old gentleman, was awaiting the return of his mother and father from New Orleans. He saw the Princess come around the bend and then turn in toward the bank. As he watched, he heard a terrific explosion and saw the steamboat burst into flames. Mr. F. D. Conrad, plantation owner of that generation, so Saxon tells us, sent his slaves out in skiffs to rescue the men and women whose crew was struggling in the water. Many of them were frightfully scalded.

by steam from the broken boilers Sheets were spread on the ground under the oak trees on the lawn and barrels of flour were broken open and the contents poured on the sheets As the scalded people were pulled from the river they were stripped and rolled in the flour where they writhed and shrieked in agony The little boy went from one sufferer to another seeking his father and mother They were not there They returned from New Orleans on a later boat but he never forgot the anguish of his search
