From Treaties to Reserves D.J. Hall, 2015-11-01 Though some believe that the Indian treaties of the 1870s achieved a unity of purpose between the Canadian government and First Nations in From Treaties to Reserves D J Hall asserts that as a result of profound cultural differences each side interpreted the negotiations differently leading to conflict and an acute sense of betrayal when neither group accomplished what the other had asked Hall explores the original intentions behind the government's policies illustrates their attempts at cooperation and clarifies their actions While the government believed that the Aboriginal peoples of what is now southern and central Alberta desired rapid change the First Nations in contrast believed that the government was committed to supporting the preservation of their culture while they adapted to change Government policies intended to motivate backfired leading instead to poverty starvation and cultural restriction Many policies were also culturally insensitive revealing misconceptions of Aboriginal people as lazy and over dependent on government rations Yet the first two decades of reserve life still witnessed most First Nations people participating in reserve economies many of the first generation of reserve born children graduated from schools with some improved ability to cope with reserve life and there was also more positive cooperation between government and First Nations people than is commonly acknowledged The Indian treaties of the 1870s meant very different things to government officials and First Nations Rethinking the interaction between the two groups From Treaties to Reserves elucidates the complexities of this relationship

Changing Neighbourhoods Jill Grant, Alan Walks, Howard Ramos, 2020-03-15 In recent decades growing inequality and polarization have been reshaping the social landscape of Canada's metropolitan areas changing neighbourhoods and negatively affecting the lived realities of increasingly diverse urban populations This book examines the dimensions and impacts of increased economic inequality and urban socio spatial polarization since the 1980s Based on the work of the Neighbourhood Change Research Partnership an innovative national comparative study of seven major cities the authors reveal the dynamics of neighbourhood change across the Canadian urban system By mapping average income trends across neighbourhoods they show the kinds of factors social economic and cultural that influenced residential options and redistributed concentrations of poverty and affluence While the heart of the book lies in the project's findings from each city other chapters provide critical context Taken together they offer important understandings of the depth and the breadth of the problem at hand and signal the urgency for concerted policy responses in the decades to come

Aftershock Matthew Green, 2015-10-01 Over the last decade we have sent thousands of people to fight on our behalf But what happens when these soldiers come back home having lost their friends and killed their enemies having seen and done things that have no place in civilian life In Aftershock Matthew Green tells the story of our veterans journey from the frontline of combat to the reality of return Through wide ranging interviews with former combatants including a Royal Marine sniper and a former operator in the SAS as well as serving personnel and their families physicians therapists and psychiatrists Aftershock looks beyond the headline grabbing statistics and the labels of post traumatic stress disorder to get to the heart of today's post conflict experience Green asks what lessons have been learned from past wars and explores the range of help currently available from traditional talking cures to cutting edge scientific therapies As today's battle scarred troops begin to lay their weapons down Aftershock is a hard hitting account of the hidden cost of conflict And its message is one that has profound implications not just for the military but for anyone with an interest in how we experience trauma and survive Forest and Stream ,1910
