Wright Mills and argues that the sociological imagination is the most needed type of consciousness in the world today The author encourages students to think through a wide variety of topics from ecological crises to panic disorder from hyperreality to the sociology of disability from Generation X to Generation Next As Dandaneau says The point is not so much to learn the truth but to learn how to think about essential issues and troubles as sociologists themselves try to do to become a participant with others in facing down the challenges of our present epoch It is an elegant and profound meditation on thinking sociologically Written with a rare panache one seldom finds in sociology it's the product of a view of contemporary social life that is profoundly troubling What this adds up to is a distinctive sociological and moral voice Peter Kivisto Augustana College Rock Island Illinois Gods in the Global Village Lester R. Never Saw It Coming Karen A. Cerulo, 2008-09-15 People especially Americans are by and large optimists They're much better at imagining best case scenarios I could win the lottery than worst case scenarios A hurricane could destroy my neighborhood This is true not just of their approach to imagining the future but of their memories as well people are better able to describe the best moments of their lives than they are the worst Though there are psychological reasons for this phenomenon Karen A Cerulo in Never Saw It Coming considers instead the role of society in fostering this attitude What kinds of communities develop this pattern of thought which do not and what does that say about human ability to evaluate possible outcomes of decisions and events Cerulo takes readers to diverse realms of experience including intimate family relationships key transitions in our lives the places we work and play and the boardrooms of organizations and bureaucracies Using interviews surveys artistic and fictional accounts media reports historical data and official records she illuminates one of the most common yet least studied of human traits a blatant disregard for worst case scenarios Never Saw It Coming therefore will be crucial to anyone who wants to understand human attempts to picture or plan the future In Never Saw It Coming Karen Cerulo argues that in American society there is a positive symmetry a tendency to focus on and exaggerate the best the winner the most optimistic outcome and outlook Thus the conceptions of the worst are underdeveloped and elided Naturally as she masterfully outlines there are dramatic consequences to this characterological inability to imagine and prepare for the worst as the failure to heed memos leading up to both the 9/11 and NASA Challenger disasters for instance so painfully reminded us Robin Wagner

Pacifici Swarthmore College Katrina 9 11 and the War in Iraq all demonstrate the costliness of failing to anticipate worst case scenarios Never Saw It Coming explains why it is so hard to do so adaptive behavior hard wired into human cognition is complemented and reinforced by cultural practices which are in turn institutionalized in the rules and structures of formal organizations But Karen Cerulo doesn't just diagnose the problem she uses case studies of settings in which people effectively anticipate and deal with potential disaster to describe structural solutions to the chronic dilemmas she describes so well Never Saw It Coming is a powerful contribution to the emerging fields of cognitive and moral sociology Paul DiMaggio Princeton University Invitation to the Sociology of Religion Phil Zuckerman, 2003 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company An Invitation to Sociology of Religion Phil Zuckerman, 2010-10-18 Written in lively prose this second edition introduces students to the major themes problems and goals of the sociological study of religions The Riddles of Human Society Conrad L. Kanagy, Donald B. Kraybill, 1999-01-27 Why are all U S Presidents white men Why does technology enchant us Why do some people commit suicide Why are sports so important to Americans How will the Internet change society Why do people do good This very teachable and short new introductory text explores these and other riddles to stir students sociological curiosity and promote active learning as the sure path toward mastering the fundamentals of the discipline Once again Pine Forge Press has done us Intro teachers a great service with The Riddles of Human Society The authors have produced a remarkable text designing it from the point of view of how students actually acquire sociological tools and imagination when reflecting on their social world It is written as a conversation with readers yet is organized with learning tools like chapter summaries discussion questions and an in text glossary It considers a broad range of topics from micro to macro levels thus uniquely blending the best of a shorter textbook and a monograph It will serve very well as a main text for introductory sociology courses I recommend it highly Stephen Sharkey Department of Social Science Alverno College Communicating Gender Diversity Victoria Pruin DeFrancisco, Victoria Leto DeFrancisco, Catherine Helen Palczewski, 2007-06-21 The purpose behind Communicating Gender Diversity A Critical Approach is not to provide any final conclusions about communicating gender Because gender is a constantly evolving concept both in terms of individuals gender identity development and the larger culture's predominant notions of gender such absolute claims are not possible Instead the intent is to better equip readers with tools with which they can examine and make sense of the intersections of communication and gender The text covers the variety of ways in which communication of and about gender and sex enables and constrains people's intersectional identities The authors believe people are social actors and as such create meaning through their symbolic interactions Thus the book's emphasis is not on how gender influences communication but on how communication constitutes gender They also believe that people are capable of being self reflective about communication processes and creative in generating new ways to play with symbols
