beings lie at the heart of this unforgettable story. It is the best known of Frances Hodgson Burnett's works though most of us have definitely heard of if not read her other novel Little Lord Fauntleroy. The book has been adapted extensively on stage, film and television and translated into all the world's major languages. In 1991 a Japanese anime version was launched for television in Japan. It remains a popular and beloved story of a child's journey into maturity and a must read for every child, parent, teacher and anyone who would enjoy this fascinating glimpse of childhood. One of the most delightful and enduring classics of children's literature, The Secret Garden by Victorian author Frances Hodgson Burnett has remained a firm favorite with children the world over ever since it made its first appearance. Initially published as a serial story in 1910 in The American Magazine, it was brought out in novel form in 1911. Author Frances Eliza Hodgson was the daughter of ironmonger Edwin Hodgson who died three years after her birth and his wife Eliza Boond. She was educated at The Select Seminary for Young Ladies and Gentleman until the age of fifteen at which point the family ironmongery then being run by her mother failed and the family emigrated to Knoxville, Tennessee. Here Hodgson began to write in order to supplement the family income, assuming full responsibility for the family upon the death of her mother in 1870. In 1872 she married Dr. Swan Burnett with whom she had two sons, Lionel and Vivian. The marriage was dissolved in 1898. In 1900 Burnett married actor Stephen Townsend until 1902 when they got divorced. Following her great success as a novelist, playwright and children's author, Burnett maintained homes in both England and America, traveling back and forth quite frequently. She died in her Long Island, New York home in 1924. Quotes: "If you look the right way you can see that the whole world is a garden." Frances Hodgson Burnett, The Secret Garden.
