Decision Economics. Designs, Models, and Techniques for Boundedly Rational Decisions Edgardo

Bucciarelli, Shu-Heng Chen, Juan Manuel Corchado, 2018-12-28 The special session on Decision Economics DECON is a scientific forum held annually which is focused on sharing ideas projects research results models and experiences associated with the complexity of behavioural decision processes and socio economic phenomena In 2018 DECON was held at Campus Tecnológico de la Fabrica de Armas University of Castilla La Mancha Toledo Spain as part of the 15th International Conference on Distributed Computing and Artificial Intelligence For the third consecutive year this book have drawn inspiration from Herbert A Simon's interdisciplinary legacy and in particular is devoted to designs models and techniques for boundedly rational decisions involving several fields of study and expertise It is worth noting that the recognition of relevant decision making takes place in a range of critical subject areas and research fields including economics finance information systems small and international business management operations and production Therefore decision making issues are of fundamental importance in all branches of economics addressed with different methodological approaches As a matter of fact the study of decision making has become the focus of intense research efforts both theoretical and applied forming a veritable bridge between theory and practice as well as science and business organisations whose pillars are based on insightful cutting edge experimental behavioural and computational approaches on the one hand and celebrating the value of science as well as the close relationship between economics and complexity on the other In this respect the international scientific community acknowledges Herbert A Simon's research endeavours to understand the processes involved in economic decision making and their implications for the advancement of economic professions Within the field of decision making indeed Simon has become a mainstay of bounded rationality and satisficing His rejection of the standard unrealistic decision making models adopted by neoclassical economists inspired social scientists worldwide with the purpose to develop research programmes aimed at studying decision making empirically experimentally and computationally The main achievements concern decision making for individuals firms markets governments institutions and last but not least science and research This book of selected papers tackles these issues that Simon broached in a professional career spanning more than sixty years The Editors of this book dedicated it to Herb

Quantum Decision Theory and Complexity Modelling in Economics and Public Policy Anirban Chakraborti, Emmanuel Haven, Sudip Patra, Naresh Singh, 2023-09-21 This book is an outcome of the interdisciplinary conference held at OP Jindal Global University Quantum Decision making and Complexity modeling and their possible applications in social sciences economics finance and public policy The volume builds upon the emerging fields of Econophysics Complexity theory and Quantum like modelling in cognition and social sciences and their plausible applications in economics and public policy There can be deep linkages between the micro meso and macro scales at which these paradigms operate In this data driven age greater amounts of information along with the facility to harvest sort and process said information have permitted an expansion of the capability to study a society's various factors to a degree of detail and inclusiveness that has never before been available to researchers. As a result, an increasing number of throughlines is being discovered, revealing heretofore unknown connections between various disciplines and enhancing the study of such societal tropes as finance, language, shared behavior, and many others. As the reader will see with clearer understanding of the interconnectedness of society's assorted parts, comes a clearer understanding of the society as a whole. We have received critical thoughts from noted experts in social and natural sciences to explore possible interconnections. The editors of this book earnestly hope that the critical reviews presented in this volume will stimulate further scholarly interest but also interest among policy practitioners for the purpose of exploring possibilities for creating a new paradigm for comprehending pressing issues of deep uncertainty and emergence in social dynamics.

Decision Modelling for Health Economic Evaluation Andrew H. Briggs, Karl Claxton, Mark J. Sculpher, 2006. In financially constrained health systems across the world, increasing emphasis is being placed on the ability to demonstrate that health care interventions are not only effective but also cost effective. This book deals with decision modelling techniques that can be used to estimate the value for money of various interventions, including medical devices, surgical procedures, diagnostic technologies, and pharmaceuticals. Particular emphasis is placed on the importance of the appropriate representation of uncertainty in the evaluative process and the implication this uncertainty has for decision making and the need for future research. This highly practical guide takes the reader through the key principles and approaches of modelling techniques. It begins with the basics of constructing different forms of the model, the population of the model with input parameter estimates, analysis of the results, and progression to the holistic view of models as a valuable tool for informing future research exercises. Case studies and exercises are supported with online templates and solutions. This book will help analysts understand the contribution of decision analytic modelling to the evaluation of health care programmes.

ABOUT THE SERIES: Economic evaluation of health interventions is a growing specialist field, and this series of practical handbooks will tackle in depth topics superficially addressed in more general health economics books. Each volume will include illustrative material, case histories, and worked examples to encourage the reader to apply the methods discussed, with supporting material provided online. This series is aimed at health economists in academia, the pharmaceutical industry, and the health sector, those on advanced health economics courses, and health researchers in associated fields.

Probability Models for Economic Decisions, second edition Roger B. Myerson, Eduardo Zambrano, 2019-12-17. An introduction to the use of probability models for analyzing risk and economic decisions using spreadsheets to represent and simulate uncertainty. This textbook offers an introduction to the use of probability models for analyzing risks and economic decisions. It takes a learn-by-doing approach, teaching the student to use spreadsheets to represent and simulate uncertainty and to analyze the effect of such uncertainty on an economic decision.

Students in applied business and economics can more easily grasp difficult analytical methods with Excel spreadsheets The book covers the basic ideas of probability how to simulate random variables and how to compute conditional probabilities via Monte Carlo simulation The first four chapters use a large collection of probability distributions to simulate a range of problems involving worker efficiency market entry oil exploration repeated investment and subjective belief elicitation The book then covers correlation and multivariate normal random variables conditional expectation optimization of decision variables with discussions of the strategic value of information decision trees game theory and adverse selection risk sharing and finance dynamic models of growth dynamic models of arrivals and model risk New material in this second edition includes two new chapters on additional dynamic models and model risk new sections in every chapter many new end of chapter exercises and coverage of such topics as simulation model workflow models of probabilistic electoral forecasting and real options The book comes equipped with Simtools an open source free software used throughout the book which allows students to conduct Monte Carlo simulations seamlessly in Excel

The Methodology of Economic Model Building (Routledge Revivals) Lawrence A. Boland, 2014-05-01 The major methodological task for modern economists has been to establish the testability of models Too often however methodological assumptions can make a model virtually impossible to test even under ideal conditions yet few theorists have examined the requirements and problems of assuring testability in economics In The Methodology of Economic Model Building first published in 1989 Lawrence Boland presents the results of a research project that spanned more than twenty years He examines how economists have applied the philosophy of Karl Popper relating methodological debates about falsifiability to wider discussions about the truth status of models in natural and social sciences He concludes that model building in economics reflects more the methodological prescriptions of the economist Paul Samuelson than Popper's falsificationism This title will prove invaluable to both students and researchers and represents a substantial contribution to debates about the scientific status of economics
