Agricultural Trade Policy and Food Security in the Caribbean Deep Ford, Dell'Aquila, C., (ed.), Piero Conforti, 2007-01-01 Agricultural trade is a major factor determining food security in Caribbean countries In these small open economies exports are essential whilst imports provide a large part of the food supply This book examines various dimensions of trade policy and related issues and suggests policies to address trade and food security and rural development linkages It is as a guide and reference documents for agricultural trade policy analysts trade negotiators policy makers and planners in both the public and private sectors

Democracy and Trade Policy in Developing Countries Bumba Mukherjee, 2016-06-17 Since the 1970s two major trends have emerged among developing countries the rise of new democracies and the rush to free trade For some the confluence of these events suggests that a free market economy complements a fledgling democracy Others argue that the two are inherently incompatible and that exposure to economic globalization actually jeopardizes new democracies Which view is correct Bumba Mukherjee argues that the reality of how democracy and trade policy unravel in developing countries is more nuanced than either account Mukherjee offers the first comprehensive cross national framework for identifying the specific economic conditions that influence trade policy in developing countries Laying out the causes of variation in trade policy in four developing or recently developed countries Brazil India Indonesia and South Africa he argues persuasively that changing political interactions among parties party leaders and the labor market are often key to trade policy outcome For instance if workers are in a position to benefit from opening up to trade party leaders in turn support trade reforms by decreasing tariffs and other trade barriers At a time when discussions about the stability of new democracies are at the forefront Democracy and Trade Policy in Developing Countries provides invaluable insight into the conditions needed for a democracy to survive in the developing world in the context of globalization

New Developments in Computable General Equilibrium Analysis for Trade Policy John Gilbert, 2010-10-05 Intends to present the developments in the methodology and practice of CGE techniques as they apply to various issues in international trade policy This title is suitable for academic researchers working in trade policy analysis and applied general equilibrium and advanced graduate students in international economics

Trade Policy, Processing and New Zealand Forestry John Gilbert, 2020-11-26 This title was first published in 2000 Examines core issues with respect to the effect of export restrictions the impact on processing and welfare the consequences of foreign ownership of the resource and the possibility of utilizing export restrictions as a retaliatory strategy against escalating tariff structures It also examines the impact of liberalization of processed good markets The book employs a combination of formal general equilibrium modelling and counterfactual simulation using computable general equilibrium CGE techniques with the New Zealand forestry industry used as a case study throughout The book makes a contribution to the literature in this field by incorporating foreign ownership into an extensive formal analysis of processing incentives developing a new CGE model of the New Zealand economy utilizing this model to evaluate the costs of export restrictions and utilizing the GTAP to provide insights into the possible effect of the APEC Early Voluntary Sector Liberalization strategy Trade Policy Flexibility and Enforcement in the WTO Simon A. B. Schropp, 2009-08-13 This law and economics analysis of contractual escape and punishment in the WTO assesses existing escape and punishment mechanisms explores the systemic implications of flaws in the international trading system and offers a reform agenda that is concrete politically realistic and systemically viable
