Models Of Language:

Usage-Based Models of Language Michael Barlow, Suzanne Kemmer, 2000-05-18 This book brings together papers by the foremost representatives of a range of theoretical and empirical approaches converging on a common goal to account for language use or how speakers actually speak and understand language Crucial to a usage based approach are frequency statistical patterns and most generally linguistic experience Linguistic competence is not seen as cognitively encapsulated and divorced from performance but as a system continually shaped from inception by linguistic usage events The authors represented here were among the first to leave behind rule based linguistic representations in favour of constraint based systems whose structural properties actually emerge from usage Such emergentist systems evince far greater cognitive and neurological plausibility than algorithmic generative models Approaches represented here include Cognitive Grammar the Lexical Network Model Competition Model Relational Network Model and accessibility Theory The empirical data come from phonological variation syntactic change psycholinguistic experiments discourse connectionist modelling of language acquisition and linguistic corpora Models of Language Use and Language Learning in the Theory of Language Didactics Maria Dakowska, 1996 Computational Modeling of Human Language Acquisition Afra Alishahi, 2011 In doing so computational modeling provides insight into the plausible mechanisms involved in human language acquisition and inspires the development of better language models and techniques This book provides an overview of the main research questions in the field of human language acquisition It reviews the most commonly used computational frameworks methodologies and resources for modeling child language learning and the evaluation techniques used for assessing these computational models The book is aimed at cognitive scientists who want to become familiar with the available computational methods for investigating problems related to human language acquisition as well as computational linguists who are interested in applying their skills to the study of child language acquisition

Next Generation AI Language Models in Research Kashif Naseer Qureshi, Gwanggil Jeon, 2024-11-13 In this comprehensive and cutting edge volume Qureshi and Jeon bring together experts from around the world to explore the potential of artificial intelligence models in research and discuss the potential benefits and the concerns and challenges that the rapid development of this field has raised The international chapter contributor group provides a wealth of technical information on different aspects of AI including key aspects of AI deep learning and machine learning models for AI natural language processing and computer vision reinforcement learning ethics and responsibilities security practical implementation and future directions The contents are balanced in terms of theory methodologies and technical aspects and contributors provide case studies to clearly illustrate the concepts and technical discussions throughout Readers will gain valuable insights into how AI can revolutionize their work in fields including data analytics and pattern identification healthcare research social science research and more and improve their technical skills problem solving abilities and evidence based decision making Additionally they will be cognizant of the limitations and challenges the ethical implications and security concerns related to language models which will enable them to make more informed choices regarding their implementation This book is an invaluable resource for undergraduate and graduate students who want to understand AI models recent trends in the area and technical and ethical aspects of AI Companies involved in AI development or implementing AI in various fields will also benefit from the book s discussions on both the technical and ethical aspects of this rapidly growing field

Neural Models of language Processes Michael Arbib,2012-12-02 Neural Models of Language Processes offers an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the nature of human language and the means whereby we use it The book is organized into five parts Part I provides an opening framework that addresses three tasks to place neurolinguistics in current perspective to provide two case studies of aphasia and to discuss the rules of the game of the various disciplines that contribute to this volume Part II on artificial intelligence AI and processing models discusses the contribution of AI to neurolinguistics The chapters in this section introduce three AI systems for language perception the HWIM and HEARSAY systems that proceed from an acoustic input to a semantic interpretation of the utterance it represents and Marcus9 system for parsing sentences presented in text Studying these systems demonstrates the virtues of implemented or implementable models Part III on linguistic and psycholinguistic perspectives includes studies such as nonaphasic language behavior and the linguistics and psycholinguistics of sign language Part IV examines neurological perspectives such as the neuropathological basis of Broca s aphasia and the simulation of speech production without a computer Part V on neuroscience and brain theory includes studies such as the histology architectonics and asymmetry of language areas hierarchy and evolution in neurolinguistics and perceptual motor processes and the neural basis of language

Models of Language Acquisition Peter Broeder,Jaap Murre,2000 This book presents recent advances by leading researchers in computational modelling of language acquisition The contributors have been drawn from departments of linguistics cognitive science psychology and computer science They show what light can be thrown on fundamental problems when powerful computational techniques are combined with real data The book considers the extent to which linguistic structure is readily available in the environment the degree to which language learning is inductive or deductive and the power of different modelling formalisms for different problems and approaches It will appeal to linguists psychologists cognitive scientists working in language acquisition and to those involved in computational modelling in linguistic and behavioral science

Formal Models, Languages And Applications K G Subramanian,K Rangarajan,Madhavan Mukund,2006-07-17 A collection of articles by leading experts in theoretical computer science this volume commemorates the 75th birthday of Professor Rani Siromoney one of the pioneers in the field in India The articles span the vast range of areas that Professor Siromoney has worked in or influenced including grammar systems picture languages and new models of computation

Competing Models of Linguistic Change Ole Nedergaard Thomsen,2006 The articles of this volume are centered around two competing views on language change originally presented at the 2003

International Conference on Historical Linguistics in the two important plenary papers by Henning Andersen and William Croft The latter proposes an evolutionary model of language change within a domain neutral model of a generalized analysis of selection whereas Henning Andersen takes it that cultural phenomena could not possibly be handled i e observed described understood in the same way as natural phenomena These papers are models of succinct presentation of important theoretical framework The other papers present and discuss additional models of change e g invisible hand processes system internal models functional and cognitive models Most papers do not subscribe to the evolutionary model instead they focus on functional factors in the selection and propagation of variants as opposed to factors of code efficiency or on cognitive and pragmatic perspectives Several papers are inspired by the late Eugenio Coseriu and by Henning Andersen s theories on language change In particular the volume contains articles proposing interesting grammaticalization studies and extended models of grammaticalization The clear presentation of important and competing approaches to fundamental questions concerning language change will be of high interest for scholars and students working in the field of diachrony and typology The languages referred to in the papers include Cantonese the Chukotko Kamchatkan languages Danish English Eskimo languages German Norwegian Russian Spanish and Swedish

Hands-On Large Language Models Jay Alammar, Maarten Grootendorst, 2024-09-11 AI has acquired startling new language capabilities in just the past few years Driven by the rapid advances in deep learning language AI systems are able to write and understand text better than ever before This trend enables the rise of new features products and entire industries With this book Python developers will learn the practical tools and concepts they need to use these capabilities today You ll learn how to use the power of pre trained large language models for use cases like copywriting and summarization create semantic search systems that go beyond keyword matching build systems that classify and cluster text to enable scalable understanding of large amounts of text documents and use existing libraries and pre trained models for text classification search and clusterings This book also shows you how to Build advanced LLM pipelines to cluster text documents and explore the topics they belong to Build semantic search engines that go beyond keyword search with methods like dense retrieval and rerankers Learn various use cases where these models can provide value Understand the architecture of underlying Transformer models like BERT and GPT Get a deeper understanding of how LLMs are trained Understanding how different methods of fine tuning optimize LLMs for specific applications generative model fine tuning contrastive fine tuning in context learning etc
