Constitution-making in Asia H. Kumarasingham, 2016-03-31 Britain's main imperial possessions in Asia were granted independence in the 1940s and 1950s and needed to craft constitutions for their new states. Invariably the indigenous elites drew upon British constitutional ideas and institutions regardless of the political conditions that prevailed in their very different lands. Many Asian nations called upon the services of Englishman and Law Professor Sir Ivor Jennings to advise or assist their own constitution making. Although he was one of the twentieth century's most prominent constitutional scholars his opinion and influence were often controversial and remain so due to his advocating British norms in Asian form. This book examines the process of constitutional formation in the era of decolonisation and state building in Asia. It sheds light upon the influence and participation of Jennings in particular and British ideas in general on democracy and institutions across the Asian continent. Critical cases studies on India Pakistan Sri Lanka Malaysia and Nepal all linked by Britain and Jennings assess the distinctive methods and outcomes of constitution making and how British ideas fared in these major states. The book offers chapters on the Westminster model in Asia Human Rights Nationalism Ethnic politics Federalism Foreign influence Decolonisation Authoritarianism the Rule of Law Parliamentary democracy and the power and influence of key political actors. Taking an original stance on constitution making in Asia after British rule it also puts forward ideas of contemporary significance for Asian states and other emerging democracies engaged in constitution making regime change and seeking to understand their colonial past. The first political historical or constitutional analysis comparing Asia's experience with its indelible British constitutional legacy this book is a critical resource on state building and constitution making in Asia following independence. It will appeal to students and scholars of world history public law and politics.

In Defense of Plural Marriage Ronald C. Den Otter, 2015-05-28 With over half of Americans now in favor of marriage equality it is clear that societal norms of marriage are being quickly redefined. The growing belief that the state may not discriminate against gays and lesbians calls into question whether the state may limit other types of marital unions including plural marriage. While much has been written about same sex marriage as of yet there has been no book length legal treatment of unions among three or more individuals. The first major study on plural marriage and the law In Defense of Plural Marriage begins to fill this lacuna in the scholarly literature. Ronald C. Den Otter shows how the constitutional arguments that support the option of plural marriage are stronger than those against. Ultimately he proposes a new semi contractual marital model that would provide legal recognition for a wide range of intimate relationships.

Distributive Institutions Shouwen Zhang, 2020-12-29

The crisis of distribution is one of the longest standing and most complicated issues facing human society. Imbued with social, political, historic and cultural elements, it varies significantly across different countries as a result of all these factors. As an emerging economy which transferred from a planned to a market economy, China has experienced large distribution gaps since it implemented the Reform and Opening up Policy in the early 1980s, requiring stronger economic law to mitigate and regulate the crisis of distribution. In this second volume, the author analyses crises of distribution from a theoretical perspective and proposes law and policy solutions. Believing that such crises are a collective result of systematic limitations, the author proposes a theoretical framework of system distribution development in order to resolve distribution problems and promote economic development. He argues that a crisis of distribution cannot be avoided without coordinated development of economic law and relevant constitutional, civil and commercial law systems. In addition, it is necessary to differentiate the territories, industries, enterprises and individuals that constitute such diverse systems. The book should be of keen interest to researchers and students of law, economics and political science.
