Modern Industry And The African:

Modern Industry and the African J. Merle Davis, 2019-05-29 Originally published in 1933 at the time of its publication Modern Industry and the African represented a progressive essentially liberal approach to the development of the Copperbelt of Northern Rhodesia and the response thereto of the Christian Church It expressed the authors very real fears that urbanization would irreparably damage the foundations of indigenous life and demonstrated their implicit faith in the virtues of a past golden age of rural stability In many respects the study was a landmark beginning a new trend of investigation into sociological aspects of African administration

Decolonization and African Society Frederick Cooper, 1996-08-28 This detailed and authoritative volume changes our conceptions of imperial and African history Frederick Cooper gathers a vast range of archival sources in French and English to achieve a truly comparative study of colonial policy toward the recruitment control and institutionalization of African labor forces from the mid 1930s when the labor question was first posed to the late 1950s when decolonization was well under way Professor Cooper explores colonial conceptions of the African worker and shows how African trade union and political leaders used the new language of social change to claim equality and a share of power This helped to persuade European officials that the modern Africa they imagined was unaffordable Britain and France could not reshape African society As they left the continent the question was how they had affected the ways in which Africans could reorganize society themselves

Modern Industry and the African J. Merle Davis, 1967 Historical and general study of the social implications of development of the copper mining industry in Rhodesia Zimbabwe for indigenous peoples in Central Africa covers 1 sociological aspects living conditions and working conditions of miners 2 the economic implications of industrialization 3 administration and government policy 4 the work of missionaries of the Christian Church Maps

African Industrial Development and European Union Co-operation Francis Matambalya, 2014-08-27 Of the 54 African states only South Africa is categorised by the United Nations Industrial Development Organization UNIDO amongst industrialised countries The economic activities in Africa are still dominated by the production and trade of agricultural and mineral commodities This situation is in spite of the longstanding Africa European Union EU co operation which intends among other things to support Africa's industrialisation endeavours Imperatively a long road to substantive levels of industrialisation still lies ahead of most African countries This raises the question as to what role the international community could and should play in the twenty first century to provide the support needed to expedite Africa's industrial transformation This book argues that to supplement the initiatives of each African country international partnerships of both a North South and South South nature will serve better purposes if they are leveraged to develop productive capacities in African economies In order to enable the African countries to leverage their traditional partnership with the EU for industrialisation a paradigm shift is obligatory A feasible model should emulate the Japanese led flying geese model and the Chinese led bamboo capitalism model

Industrial Policy and the Transformation of the Colonial Economy in Africa Horman Chitonge, 2021-02-15

Industrial Policy and the Transformation of the Colonial Economy in Africa offers an in depth analysis of the role industrial policy can play in the transformation of African economies Using examples from Zambia s industrial development experience this book illustrates that core features of the colonial economy have not just survived six decades of independence in most African countries but they have continued to shape the nature scope and pace of economic activities on the continent The book argues that since the colonial economy in Africa was not intended to serve the interests of Africans it is imperative that the structures and the underlying rationale of the colonial economy are radically reoriented if economic activities in Africa are to benefit the majority of Africans Drawing from the Zambian experience the book shows that the transformation of the colonial economy in Africa is urgently needed Whilst this has proved to be difficult over the past six decades it can be done The book outlines a specific type of industrial policy Frontier Industrial Policy as a key instrument for transforming the structure of African economies At a time when economic growth across Africa is under considerable pressure due to COVID 19 the insights in this book will be of interest to researchers across Economics Development Postcolonial Studies and African Studies

Emerging Issues in Contemporary African Economies Steve Onyeiwu, 2024-12-02 How have the events of the twenty first century shaped African economies and societies In this book Steve Onyeiwu highlights the dynamics challenges and opportunities in African economies He analyzes the socioeconomic and political conditions in Africa with emphasis on events of the past two decades Onyeiwu notes that African economies change virtually every minute and it s imperative to ensure the information presented is current and accurate Climate change and the explosion of the youth population have assumed new dimensions prompting analysts to ponder their implications for the future of African economies Other significant changes include COVID 19 and recent apprehension about the resilience of democracy throughout the region The author addresses these complex topics and explains how the skepticism about the endurance of democracy is fueled by economic anxiety political violence coup d tats and protests in many parts of Africa The book includes recent data on key variables and events in the region In addition to undertaking thorough revisions of the 10 chapters from the first edition this new edition includes three new chapters on population and youth COVID 19 and climate change

Empire and Film Lee Grieveson, Colin MacCabe, 2019-07-25 This important new volume reconstructs the forms of production distribution and exhibition of films made in and about the colonies It then ties them to wider theoretical issues about film and liberalism spectacle and political economy representation and rule The result is one of the first volumes to examine how imperial rule is intimately tied to the emergence of documentary as a form and indeed how the history of cinema is at the same time the history of Empire BRIAN LARKIN Barnard College This superb collection of new scholarship shows how cinema both communicated and aided the imperialist agenda throughout the twentieth century In doing so it shows film can be understood as one of the tools of empire as much as the technology of weaponry or modes of administration a means of education and indoctrination in the colonies and at home TOM GUNNING University of Chicago At its height in 1919 the British Empire claimed 58 countries 400 million subjects and 14 million square miles of ground Empire and Film brings together leading international scholars to examine the integral role cinema played in the control organisation and governance of this diverse geopolitical space The essays reveal the complex interplay between the political and economic control essential to imperialism and the emergence and development of cinema in the late nineteenth and first half of the twentieth century Contributors address how the production distribution and exhibition of film were utilised by state and industrial and philanthropic institutions to shape the subject positions of coloniser and colonised to demarcate between civilised and primitive and codify difference and to foster a political economy of imperialism that was predicated on distinctions between core and periphery The generic forms of colonial cinema were consequently varied travelogues mapped colonial spaces actuality films re presented spectacles of royal authority and imperial conquest and conflict home movies rendered colonial self representation state financed newsreels and documentaries fostered political and economic control and the education of British and colonial subjects philanthropic and industrial organisations sponsored films to expand Western models of capitalism British and American film companies made films of imperial adventure These films circulated widely in Britain and the empire and were sustained through the establishment of imperial networks of distribution and exhibition including in particular innovative mobile exhibition circuits and non theatrical spaces like schools museums and civic centres Empire and Film is a significant revision to the historical and conceptual frameworks of British cinema history and is a major contribution to the history of cinema as a global form that emerged amid and in dialogue with the global flows of imperialism The book is produced in conjunction with a major website housing freely available digitised archival films and materials relating to British colonial cinema www.colonialfilm.org.uk and a companion volume entitled Film and the End of Empire Contemporary Issues in African Administration and Development Politics ,1990 African Political Thought of the Twentieth Century Shiera Malik,2018-02-06 This book focuses on African political thought as it emerged in the context of and contributed to fundamental changes in world order during the twentieth century and as it continues to speak to the present global condition The six chapters form a set of close readings of 20th century African political theorists insofar as their work forms part of a conversation that Africa had with itself and with the rest of the world regarding freedom independence emancipation and statehood as well as forming part of the larger global conversations within which these theorists can be situated The essays analyse the ideas and practices of a number of prominent figures including Frantz Fanon Leopold Senghor Am Icar Cabral Agostinho Neto Julius Nyerere Gabriel d Arboussier Sembene Ousmane This collection is unusual in its breadth bringing together analyses of radical thinkers and activists from the Portuguese French and English speaking regions of Africa It includes chapters from prominent senior figures in the field as well as contributions from younger scholars The editor includes a short introduction which frames the collection and situates its contribution to broader debates and fields of enquiry This book was originally published as a special issue of African Identities
