Internationalisation and Marketisation of Higher Education in the UK Zahra Kemiche,2024-09-23 This timely volume sets out the author s novel concept of the Organic model of internationalisation developed using participants perceptions lived experiences and recommendations for a better sustainable future of HE and explores its broader application in the context of higher education Using the qualitative IPA Interpretative Phenomenological Analysis approach chapters showcase the lived experiences and subjective perspectives of individuals around the paradox that internationalisation presents the distorting effects of institutional power and the market and ethics based concerns of internationalisation in higher education Drawing on an in depth empirical study conducted using participant observation and interviews with participants from three UK universities the book proposes a framework for redefining the global discourse of HE through the Organic model and urges the need for a compromise between profit and ethics to the benefit of both organisations and individuals The book thoroughly discusses racist practices and introduces the concepts of xeno racism and angelism ensuring that the proposed approach is authentic and responsive to the diverse experiences of the student body Showcasing a model with international potential and ramifications this book will appeal to researchers academics and postgraduate students in higher education internationalisation and international study mobility Practitioners and policymakers may also benefit from the volume

Reshaping International Teaching and Learning in Higher Education Paul G. Nixon,Vanessa P. Dennen,Rajash Rawal,2021-02-21 This volume provides a broad examination of how technology and globalisation have influenced contemporary higher education institutions and how moves towards internationalisation within and between educational providers continue to be a force for change in this context Showcasing the varied responses to and utilisation of new technologies to support international teaching and learning endeavours at a range of higher education institutions this book introduces content from around the world emphasising the global importance of the internationalisation of education. Featuring contributions from some fresh young voices alongside the work of experienced and internationally renowned scholars, this collection critically scrutinises the potential of information and communication technologies (ICTs) on the capacities and patterns of university education, assesses and refines the contention that ICTs are facilitating the re-shaping of university practices as well as challenging traditional educational models and learning strategies. It provides a comprehensive portrait of the ways in which ICT use engages higher education providers, society and individuals to facilitate potentially more democratic, globally focussed access to knowledge generation, creation, investigation and consumption processes through internationally focussed education and examines the differing pace and scope of change in international educational practice and context between and within countries and disciplines. With an international range of carefully chosen contributors, this book is a must-read text for practitioners, academics, researchers, administrators, policymakers and anyone interested in the future of the university in an information age.
