Personal Identity in Theological Perspective Richard Lints, Michael Scott Horton, Mark R. Talbot, 2006 Chapters European Short Course Swimming Championships 2001 Source Wikipedia Pages 159 Not illustrated Free updates online Purchase includes a free trial membership in the publisher's book club where you can select from more than a million books without charge Excerpt The fifth edition of the European Short Course Championships 25 m was held in the Wezenberg Swimming Pool in Antwerp Belgium from December 13 till December 16 2001 More <http://booksllc.net/id/546135> Theology, Psychology and the Plural Self Léon Turner, 2016-02-17 Is the human self singular and unified or essentially plural This book explores the seemingly disparate ways that Christian theology and the secular human sciences have approached this complex question The latter have largely embraced the idea of the plural self as an inescapable even adaptive feature of psychological life Contemporary Christian theology by contrast has largely neglected recent psychological accounts of the naturalness of self plurality and has sought to reaffirm the self's unity in opposition to those postmodern theorists who would dismantle it Through an original analysis of recent theological and secular accounts of self and personhood this book examines the extent of the intertheoretical disparity and its broader implications for theology's dialogue with the human sciences in general and psychology in particular It explains why theologians ought to take questions about the plurality of self very seriously and how they overlap with many of the central concerns of contemporary theological anthropology including the notions of relationality particularity and human sinfulness Introducing a novel psychological framework to distinguish various understandings of self disunity the author argues that contemporary theology's blanket condemnation of self multiplicity is misconceived and identifies a possible means of reconciling theological and human scientific accounts Creed and Personal Identity David Baily Harned, 2020-05-13 In eight chapters David Harned explores the theology of the Apostles Creed taking the position that the creed in fact provides us with a master image for self understanding and that controlling image is child of God The creed is seen as being important for personality formation and the development of character rather than as either a statement of beliefs or a loyalty oath Harned's ninth and final chapter is intended for those who wish to pursue further the question of master imagery for the formation of a Christian Sense of Identity Human Identity at the Intersection of Science, Technology and Religion Christopher C. Knight, 2016-05-13 Humans are unique in their ability to reflect on themselves Recently a number of scholars have pointed out that human self conceptions have a history Ideas of human nature in the West have always been shaped by the interplay of philosophy theology science and technology The fast pace of developments in the latter two spheres neuroscience genetics artificial intelligence biomedical engineering call for fresh reflections on what it means now to be human and for theological and ethical judgments on how we might shape our own destiny in the future The leading scholars in this book offer fresh contributions to the lively quest for an account of ourselves that does justice to current developments in theology science technology and philosophy Identity and

Idolatry Richard Lints, 2015-08-10 In this New Studies in Biblical Theology volume Richard Lints argues that idol language in the Bible is a conceptual inversion of the image language of Genesis 1 He shows how the narrative of human identity runs from creation to fall to redemption in Christ and examines the recent renaissance of interest in idolatry with its conceptual power to explain the culture of desire Pastoral Identity as Social Construction Samuel Park, 2017-09-15 How do chaplains and counselors form their identities as pastoral caregivers in challenging clinical contexts such as institutional interdisciplinary postmodern inter cultural and multi faith work environments This book is a product of the fifteen year long journey towards answering a well known but hardly answered question about pastoral identity Based on narratives of many pastoral practitioners who work in hospitals or counseling settings the author puzzles through ways for helping professionals to form their identities in bewildering work environments Previous studies on pastoral identity have focused on an individual interiority of pastoral practitioners and have emphasized mainly the caregivers perceptions and practices from a developmental and training perspective Grounded in an empirical study of active pastoral care providers this book presents pastoral identity as a relational and interactional property socially constructed among pastoral care partners culture and God Findings of the empirical study support contemporary theological and social psychological discourses identity is embedded in and embodied by relationships This book will guide you through confusions worries insights and woes you have experienced while helping others in order to envision yourself more clearly as a spiritually embodied and pastorally tending caregiver You will find yourself to be more who you are and engage more with others as they become who they are Human Identity at the Intersection of Science, Technology and Religion Dr Christopher C Knight, Professor Nancey Murphy, 2013-06-28 Humans are unique in their ability to reflect on themselves Recently a number of scholars have pointed out that human self conceptions have a history Ideas of human nature in the West have always been shaped by the interplay of philosophy theology science and technology The fast pace of developments in the latter two spheres neuroscience genetics artificial intelligence biomedical engineering call for fresh reflections on what it means now to be human and for theological and ethical judgments on how we might shape our own destiny in the future The leading scholars in this book offer fresh contributions to the lively quest for an account of ourselves that does justice to current developments in theology science technology and philosophy In Search of Self J. Wentzel van Huyssteen, Erik P. Wiebe, 2011-04-29 Includes bibliographical references and indexes Religious Identity and Cultural Negotiation Jenny McGill, 2016-07-22 Given increasing global migration and the importance of positive cross cultural relations across national borders this book offers an interdisciplinary and intercultural exploration of identity formation It uniquely draws from theology psychology and sociology engaging narrative and identity theories migration and identity studies and the theologies of identity and migration and builds on them in an unprecedented study of international migrants to construct an initial theology of Christian identity in migration New sociological research describes the social construction of religious ethnic and national identities among non North American evangelical graduates who entered the United States to pursue advanced academic studies from 1983 to 2013 It provides an intercultural account of Christian identity formation in the context of migration transnationalism and globalization It ultimately argues that an integral component of Christian identity making involves the concept of migration of movement toward a transformation

Sex Difference in Christian Theology Megan K. DeFranza, 2015-05-16 How different are men and women When does it matter to us or to God Are male and female the only two options In Sex Difference in Christian Theology Megan DeFranza explores such questions in light of the Bible theology and science Many Christians entrenched in culture wars over sexual ethics are either ignorant of the existence of intersex persons or avoid the inherent challenge they bring to the assumption that everybody is born after the pattern of either Adam or Eve DeFranza argues from a conservative theological standpoint that all people are made in the image of God male female and intersex and that we must listen to and learn from the voices of the intersexed among us

The Authentic Witness C. Norman Kraus, 2010-03-01 Traditional Protestant theology has long answered the question What is the true church by pointing to the visible church its location nature and structure The recent increase of interest in missions however has raised the issues of the church's role and identity its mission in the world It is no longer enough to use orthodoxy as the criterion for the genuineness of the church identifying the body of Christ by organization or clerical structure perfection in lifestyle or ecstatic experience of the Holy Spirit Rather says Norman Kraus the mark of the true church is its authenticity its ability to remain true to its original prototype in character and purpose Thus the church's mission is to be the authentic community of witness to the world The Christian community affirms each individual as a person in Christ and its objective for the world is the same as for itself it calls the world to peace in Christ The church in mission then must be a sign to the world of the kingdom of God As an authentic community it is a healing community characterized and organized around its mission of reconciling witness rather than creeds various practices or preaching Following Christ as its model its message is salvation and reconciliation

God, Souls, and Consciousness Joshua R. Farris, 2025-10-15 This book provides a critique of naturalistic views of subjects and agency arguing that these are conditioned ways of conceiving of the mind and the cosmos It draws on the relevant literature on substance dualism idealism and theism to draw out the implications for a theistic view of the world In contemporary analytic philosophy of mind naturalism is the default position for thinking about the mind in relation to the world This book argues that we should reconsider naturalistic paradigms in favor of a more holistic and bigger picture of the mind It defends a form of theistic dualism in light of varying naturalistic trends that arguably place limiting pressures on our constructive views of humans as ensouled beings The book takes seriously the notion of first person phenomenological perspectives as the starting point for constructing a metaphysical view of the world The author's arguments touch on the topics of consciousness dualism cosmic purpose science and religion and the meaning of life He proceeds to explore the implications of deconditioning on the philosophy of mind theism science and the social sciences God Souls and Consciousness will appeal to scholars and graduate students working in the philosophy of mind philosophy of religion religion and science and analytic theology

Who God Says You Are Klyne R. Snodgrass,2018-01-08 WHO ARE YOU For respected New Testament scholar Klyne Snodgrass this is the most important question a person can ask the question from which everything else in life flows Other questions follow What made you who you are Who gets to say who you are And perhaps most vital Who does God say you are In this book Snodgrass offers wise guidance to all who are wrestling with such universal human questions He examines nine factors including one s body personal history commitments and boundaries that shape human identity and he expertly draws out what the Bible tells us about who God says we are how we fit within God s purposes and how our God given identity can and must impact the way we live our lives

Sacramental Identity T. Ryan Dillon,2024-04-01 Who am I A theology of personal identity and an answer to that question should be integral to any theological anthropology For some the answer is found in what many have called expressive individualism an inward turn toward the self and who and what I feel is most authentic to that self Christians respond that we are no longer that person we are in Christ But do either of these answers truly respond to the realities of both storied and embodied persons living out a life over time and change or the demand for an answer of stability throughout that endless change Sacramental Identity seeks to answer these questions by grounding personal identity in Scripture history and a rich theology of the sacraments of the church In a time where many are skeptical of the church s care for the embodied and storied realities of human life the sacraments invite us into the story of Christ and the church to
