Preservation And The Management Of Library Collections:

Preservation and the Management of Library Collections John Feather, 1991 Guide to Review of Library Collections Association for Library Collections & Technical Services. Collection Management and Development Committee. Subcommittee on Review of Collections, 1991 Designed to assist librarians and others who review materials in general collections for preservation storage or withdrawal this guide is based on review and study of the literature examination of a variety of existing policies and comments and contributions from committee members consultants and professionals colleagues It is intended for those with responsibility for collection management preservation and library administration

Managing Preservation for Libraries and Archives John Feather, 2018-10-24 The preservation of library and archival materials can encompass everything from bookbinding and paper repair to new techniques for maintaining and exploiting digital text sound or images Managing Preservation for Libraries and Archives brings together an international team of contributors presenting the latest findings on key areas of preservation and addressing the most common storage and retrieval problems for different types of media The authors also revisit traditional preservation and conservation approaches and suggest how to develop policies for the future First summarising historical developments the book sets out key preservation principles rationales for selecting materials for preservation and how to choose the best methods Different contributors report on state of the art preservation techniques for paper media and sound archives explain how the appropriate techniques can be applied and how storage and access can best be managed in the long term Later chapters analyse the benefits and problems of digitising different types of materials the long term viability of digital media issues of access to digital surrogate documents as opposed to the original medium and the challenges in the digital context of bibliographical control cataloguing metadata distribution and copyright protection An extensive chapter on international information sources provides signposting to a wealth of guidance on the latest techniques Managing Preservation for Libraries and Archives will guide readers working in the library archives museum and heritage sectors through the choices between digital and traditional preservation techniques and prepare them for likely future developments in managing both preservation and access Guide to Review of Library Collections Dennis K. Lambert, Winston Atkins, Douglas A.

Litts, Lorraine H. Olley, 2002-06-11 New technologies are making information more fluid but what does this mean for information providers Without a doubt it means that traditional roles are evolving and that the task of providing information demands greater expertise in exploiting new technologies and navigating their uncharted ebbs and flows of information The Association for Library Collections Technical Services ALCTS a division of the American Library Association offers a host of well integrated and forward looking services to help you find your way through these changes It is a leader in the development of principles standards and best practices for creating collecting organizing delivering and preserving information resources in all forms It offers educational research and professional service opportunities And it is committed to quality information universal access collaboration and lifelong learning Preservation and Management of Library Collections S. K. Bajpai, 1999 Preservation in Libraries Ross Harvey, Douglas Ross Harvey, 1993 Providing a single point of access to the pertinent knowledge theories experience throughout the library information science world this international selection of writings was chosen for its power to amplify illustrate preservation policy Readings range from fire recovery at the USSR Library of the Academy of Sciences to preservation education in U S library schools reveal how preventative aspects of preservation can be integrated into daily management TOPICS IN LIBRARY INFORMATION STUDIES

Promoting Preservation Awareness in Libraries Jeanne M. Drewes, Julie Page, 1997-05-21 No other book provides such a comprehensive approach to educating library customers and staff in the preservation of library materials Over 35 case studies provide innovative programs and strategies for providing preservation education initiatives throughout the library The various types of materials collected paired with the variety of patrons requires a full spectrum of approaches Going on the assumption that much damage is caused by unknowing misuse this professional reference gives academic school and public library staff as well as special collections staff a solid approach for designing implementing and evaluating formal and informal preservation educational programs As collections deteriorate and library budgets shrink the longevity of collections becomes an increasingly important issue To minimize harm to collections librarians need to emphasize the importance of preservation and proper handling This professional reference explains how to create implement and evaluate formal and informal preservation education programs in school public academic and special collections Chapters are written by contributors from a wide range of positions in librarianship and academia Building on the assumption that most misuse is because of misunderstanding or lack of understanding much attention is given to reaching all types of patrons and changing attitudes Because preservation largely depends on the attitude of patrons much attention is given to reaching all types of patrons Informing adults to avoid misuse and teaching children to respect books and to handle them carefully are two different methods Visual messages using posters bookmarks and signs to educate can help prevent damage Library staff on the other hand benefit from training programs which can effectively include tests and videos Users of rare and archival materials can be informed through brochures and one on one interaction with librarians The volume includes over 35 illustrative case studies and it concludes with an extensive bibliography and videography Preservation Management for Libraries, Archives and Museums G. E. Gorman, Sydney J. Shep, 2006 Memory institutions such as libraries archives galleries and museums all share pressing concerns about preserving heritage whether in the form of material and documentary cultural artefacts in collections or in the form of new digitally born material Recent incidents of natural disaster and cultural genocide together with the global turn to digitization have forced librarians archivists and curators to rethink and restructure their primary modes of operation Preservation management now sits at the top of the agenda for heritage institutions around the world as collection development policies and practices are negotiated between libraries museums archives funding agencies and governments Historically separate cultural institutions are now converging to share limited resources develop compatible ideologies and co ordinate distributed collections This forward looking collection charts the diversity of preservation management in the contemporary information landscape and offers guidance on preservation methods for the sustainability of collections from a range of international experts The authors are connected to a wide international network of professional associations and NGOs and have been selected not only for their specific expertise but for the contribution they are making to the future of preservation management The chapters cover managing the documentary heritage issues for the present and future preservation policy and planning intangible heritage museums and preservation surrogacy and the artefact moving with the times in search of permanence a valuation model for paper conservation research preservation of audiovisual media traditional to interactive formats challenges of managing the digitally born artefact preserving cultural heritage in times of conflict access and the social contract in memory institutions redefining the collection in the 21st century Readership There is urgent need for heritage management initiatives and robust disaster planning that will safeguard our cultural heritage and recognize the right of the end user to ownership of it This is an informed and essential guide to managing collection and preservation strategies for anyone working in the library archive museum or broader cultural heritage sectors
