Rebellious Nuns Margaret Chowning, 2006 Domesticating Empire Karen Stolley, 2021-04-30 Why has the work of writers in eighteenth century Latin America been forgotten During the eighteenth century enlightened thinkers in Spanish territories in the Americas engaged in lively exchanges with their counterparts in Europe and Anglo America about a wide range of topics of mutual interest responding in the context of increasing racial and economic diversification Yet despite recent efforts to broaden our understanding of the global Enlightenment the Ibero American eighteenth century has often been overlooked Through the work of five authors Jose de Oviedo y Banos Juan Ignacio Molina Felix de Azara Catalina de Jesus Herrera and Jose Martin Felix de Arrate Domesticating Empire explores the Ibero American Enlightenment as a project that reflects both key Enlightenment concerns and the particular preoccupations of Bourbon Spain and its territories in the Americas At a crucial moment in Spain's imperial trajectory these authors domesticate topics central to empire conquest Indians nature God and gold by making them familiar and utilitarian As a result their works later proved resistant to overarching schemes of Latin American literary history and have been largely forgotten Nevertheless eighteenth century Ibero American writing complicates narratives about both the Enlightenment and Latin American cultural identity

Preaching Power Charles A. Witschorik, 2013-10-21 This book uses a gender perspective to examine sermons and other officially endorsed discourses of the Catholic Church in eighteenth and nineteenth century Mexico City Analyzing the different ways that over time gendered images metaphors and hagiographical examples were used in sermons and other documents the book examines how the church negotiated challenges to its cultural and ideological hegemony Beginning with sermons from the early eighteenth century the author follows the evolution of church discourses as preachers reveled in Baroque analogies embraced ideals of the Enlightenment targeted women s alleged moral vices at times of political crisis and ultimately turned to notions of women as the devout sex in order to combat incipient liberalism Put another way liberals after independence were not the only ones to assert a kind of republican motherhood preachers countered with a vision of Catholic motherhood that had great resonance in Mexico even into the twentieth century

Indigenous Writings from the Convent Mónica Díaz,2017-12-01

Sometime in the 1740s Sor Mar a Magdalena an indigenous noblewoman living in one of only three convents in New Spain that allowed Indians to profess as nuns sent a letter to Father Juan de Altamirano to ask for his help in getting church prelates to exclude Creole and Spanish women from convents intended for indigenous nuns only Drawing on this and other such letters as well as biographies sermons and other texts M nica D az argues that the survival of indigenous ethnic identity was effectively served by this class of noble indigenous nuns While colonial sources that refer to indigenous women are not scant documents in which women emerge as agents who actively participate in shaping their own identity are rare Looking at this minority agency or subaltern voice in various religious discourses exposes some central themes It shows that an indigenous identity recast in Catholic terms was able to be effectively recorded and that the religious participation of these women at a time when indigenous parishes were increasingly secularized lent cohesion to that identity Indigenous Writings from the Convent examines ways in which indigenous women participated in one of the most prominent institutions in colonial times the Catholic Church and what they made of their experience with convent life This book will appeal to scholars of literary criticism women s studies and colonial history and to anyone interested in the ways that class race and gender
