Remaking Peasant China:

Reconstructing Twentieth-century China Kjeld Erik Brødsgaard, David Strand, 1998 This text argues that the underlying theme of China's development trajectory in the 20th century is reconstruction Contributors examine how movements and transitions have affected China at regular periods during this century Freeing China's Farmers: Rural Restructuring in the Reform Era David Zweig, 2016-09-16 A comprehensive analysis of China's rural reforms this book links local experiences to national policy showing the dynamic tension in the reform process among state policy local cadre power and self interest and the peasants search for economic growth Key topics covered include the responsibility system privatization and changing property rights industrialization social conflict cadre corruption urban rural relations conflict over land rural urbanization and the impact of globalization The introduction skillfully integrates the themes that run throughout this work and the concluding chapter focuses on current and future problems in rural China Handbook of Contemporary Behavioral Economics Morris Altman, 2006 This groundbreaking handbook of original works by leading behavioral economists is the first comprehensive articulation of behavioral economics theory At a time when conventional approaches have failed to resolve key economic concerns the book provides a provocative alternative view of how economic decisions are actually made Unstately Power Lynn T. White, III, 2015-06-03 A critique of America's flawed Asia policy that centres on US Japan relations but harkens back to the same disastrous views that drew America into Vietnam The technique is a narrative flow of short vignettes woven into longer chapters the main strands are personal reflections and interviews Cooperative and Collective in China's Rural Development: Between State and Private Interests Eduard B. Vermeer, Frank N. Pieke, Woei Lien Chong, 2024-12-06 Following China's successful decollectivization diverse new organizational forms arose in response to different local situations The contributors dissect the relationships among the emerging class of entrepreneurs local officials and their family members and associates Democracy and Democratization Michael Moran, Geraint Parry, 2015-04-29 Following the collapse of the former regimes of Eastern and Central Europe and Latin America the choice of all of the democratising countries was to move towards liberal democracy Likewise in Africa many authoritarian regimes seem to be in retreat perhaps most significantly in South Africa Democracy seems to be the only valued political system of the late twentieth century so that even China for example describes itself as the people's democratic dictatorship So have we really as Francis Fukuyama suggested reached the end of history Should we not look seriously at the tension between liberalism and democracy which have led to dissatisfaction with the liberal model in countries such as Britain and France Is it not important to discuss the real problems of stabilisation and survival which the democratising countries are experiencing This timely collection examines questions of central concern to scholars and practitioners of politics It looks at both the concept of democracy and the process of democratisation combining theoretical chapters by historians of ideas and political theorists with empirical chapters on the process of democratisation in Eastern Europe China The Middle East and Latin America as well as in established democracies such as Britain and France Unstately Power Lynn T. White,1998

Sources of Chinese Economic Growth, 1978-1996 Chris Bramall,2000-09-14 This analysis of the political economy of growth in the era of Deng Xiaoping takes issue with the growth accounting methodologies and market centred explanations which characterize so much of the literature on transition era China By adopting an approach which echoes the pioneering work of Chalmers Johnson Alice Amsden and Robert Wade on other East Asian Economies and which makes full use of the rich statistical materials that have become available since 1978 this book shows that Chinese growth was driven by a combination of state led industrial policy and the favourable infrastructural legacies of the Maoist era And in giving due weight to the sheer complexity of the growth process by looking in detail at the experience of four very different Chinese regions it avoids over simplistic macroeconomic generalization Nevertheless even this type of approach is inadequate because it fails to explain why industrial policy has been so much more successful in China than in other countries This book therefore goes beyond the development state approach to argue that state autonomy in China reflected the remarkably equal distribution of income and wealth at the end of the 1970s and paradoxically the destruction of party structures and institutions during the Cultural Revolution The policy implications are stark The Chinese experience demonstrates that industrial policy and state spending on physical and social infrastructure can produce rich rewards conversely slavish reliance on foreign direct investment and trade are likely to limit the pace of growth But attempts to replicate China s success in Latin America sub Saharan Africa and South Asia will fail because their governments will not resist rent seeking by classes and interest groups Moreover as the state becomes weaker in the wake of the re emergence of a powerful capitalist class even Chinese growth may prove unsustainable Women and Politics in the Third World Haleh

Afshar,2005-07-26 Women and Politics in the Third World is the first comprehensive textbook on women s political activities in the third world It provides a feminist analytical perspective on the specific forms of resistance organisation and negotiation by women in third world states Using case studies the book focuses on difference as a theoretical basis for investigating feminine political activism Though Western analysts have attributed weakness to terms such as motherhood marriage and domesticity as choices made by non Western women the contributors show that such strategies are used by women to pursue particular goals such as seeking resources welfare or freedom from oppression for their children These strategies the book suggests should not be classified as unimportant or temporary and can be highly effective even within such discourses as Islamic fundamentalism The contributors highlight differing political approaches in regions as diverse as Latin America South East Asia China and the Middle East Women's Work in Rural China Tamara Jacka,1997 Based on interviews with rural Chinese women officials and social scientists and on Chinese newspapers journals and academic reports Analyses the situation of women of Han nationality with rural household registration most of whom worked in townships and villages but some of whom worked in cities Delineates patterns in gender divisions of labour in the context of economic reform India Briefing Alyssa Ayres, Philip Oldenburg, 2002 A history of modern Russia Kort begins by providing an overview of the historical background he then begins with the establishment of the Bolshevik Dictatorship and then tells the story of Communist Russia before concluding with a section on the first 10 years of post Soviet Russia The Chinese Economy under Deng Xiaoping Robert F. Ash, Y. Y. Kueh, 1996-08-22 This book brings together distinguished contributors to create an essential reference volume on the future of China in the 1990s The editors and contributors identify the main trends in the economy cover the important topics carefully and comprehensively and provide thought provoking analysis of the likely future directions for China's growth Chinese Families in the Post-Mao Era Deborah Davis, Stevan Harrell, 1993-10-02 This collection of essays concerns both urban and rural Chinese communities ranging from professional to working class families The contributors attempt to determine whether and to what extent the policy shifts that followed Mao Zedong's death affected Chinese families Economics of Marketable Surplus Supply Ping Zong, John Davis, 2018-10-26 Published in 1998 Chinese farm households have been at the centre of the rural reform process since the introduction of the Household Responsibility System in the late 1970's There can be little doubt that for decades to come they will continue to be a focus of interest both in academic and political circles This is particularly true in relation to their role of grain sector when we consider the prominent position of grain in China's political economy There is also intense global interest in the impact of the reform process on the country's future grain self sufficiency and trade This book is ambitious in both its scope and remit Its primary focus is the behaviour of the marketable surplus element of farm households grain supply since the beginning of the reform period The early chapters provide very valuable insights into the nature of the rural reform process it then looks at the impact of the reforms on the structure of rural economy in general and farm households in particular This part of the book is rich in statistics on the reform period In the analytical section the emphasis is on the difficult area of household modelling covering both theoretical and empirical aspects Despite the data limitations which the authors acknowledge these chapters provide very valuable analyses of the grain price changes In particular their use of models which capture the interdependencies between grain marketable surplus supply is a genuine contribution This book should be read by anyone with an interest in the rural reform process in China and will be of particular relevance to students scholars and the policy community From Commune to Capitalism Zhun Xu, 2018-06-22 Socialism and capitalism in the Chinese countryside Chinese agrarian change in world historical context Agricultural productivity and decollectivization The political economy of decollectivization The achievement contradictions and demise of rural collectives Issues & Studies, 1991 The Politics of Adoption Kerry O'Halloran, 2015-04-29 This book explains compares and evaluates the social and legal functions of adoption within a range of selected jurisdictions and on an international basis It updates and extends the second edition published by Springer in 2009 From a standpoint of the development of adoption in England Wales and the changes currently taking place there it considers the process as it has evolved in other countries It identifies themes of commonality and difference in the experience of adoption in a common law context as compared and contrasted with that of other countries It looks at adoption in France Sweden and other civil law countries as well as Japan and elsewhere in Asia including a focus on Islamic adoption It examines the experience of indigenous people in New Zealand and Australia contrasting the highly regulated legal process of modern western society with the traditional practice of indigenous communities such as the Maori A new chapter studies adoption in China The book uses the international Conventions and associated ECtHR case law to benchmark developments in national law policy and practice and to facilitate a cross cultural comparative analysis Chinese Economic Development Chris Bramall, 2008-10-08 This is the first textbook on Chinese economic development that will be suitable for an undergraduate audience and provide and accessible thematic overview of the growth of one of the world's fastest growing economies Unstately Power: Local causes of China's economic reforms Lynn T. White, 1998 China's dramatic reforms are usually said to have been caused by the policies of state leaders under Deng Xiaoping This fascinating new study by one of the West's leading authorities on contemporary China shows however that reforms began and are maintained by local networks They emerged first in the economy partly as unintended results of previous policies Agricultural extension in Mao Zedong's time freed so much labor from the land in rich areas such as the Shanghai delta that peasant leaders set up rural industries to employ clients Many of these leaders were avowed state cadres but they acted for local constituencies more than for Beijing Their initiatives can be documented in the early 1970s long before the 1978 proclamation of new enterprises which the central bureaucracy could not monitor taking materials and markets away from state industries This caused socialist control of input prices and commodity flows to collapse by the mid 1980s As a result shortages and inflation bedeviled the economy the state ran deficits management decentralized local banks proliferated and immigration to cities soared Remaking Peasant China Jørgen Delman, Clemens Stubbe-Østergaard, Flemming Christiansen, 1990
