historians including the author's own family. What results is a unique way of exploring family pasts of charting not only how families have remembered their dead and passed on their histories over time but the mechanisms of how histories are constructed and shared. Living with the Dead reveals how crucial the dead and stories of them are within families and provides new ways for historians to unpick the way history is intimately made. Memories of Belonging: Descendants of Italian Migrants to the United States, 1884-Present Christa Wirth, 2015-02-11. Memories of Belonging is a three generation oral history study of the offspring of southern Italians who migrated to Worcester Massachusetts in 1913. Supplemented with the interviewees' private documents and working from U.S. and Italian archives, Christa Wirth documents a century of transatlantic migration, assimilation, and later generation self-identification. Her research reveals how memories of migration, everyday life, and ethnicity are passed down through the generations, altered and contested while constituting family identities. The fact that not all descendants of Italian migrants moved into the U.S. middle class, combined with their continued use of hyphenated identities, points to a history of lived ethnicity and societal exclusion. Moreover, this book demonstrates the extent of forgetting that is required in order to construct an ethnic identity. Novel History Mark C. Carnes, 2004-03-05. Historical fiction is a contradiction in terms. History is what happened; fiction, what did not. Yet great novelists have often disregarded this logical difficulty, taking up the tools of the historian to explore the shadowy recesses of the past. Their labors have brought forth many literary treasures. But how accurately do these masterpieces of the imagination reflect the past? In Novel History, twenty accomplished historians consider this question in relation to some of our most important historical novels. Their essays are followed in most instances by a response from the novelist. These dialogues illuminate one of the most fascinating and perplexing issues of our time: the relation between the real past and our finest imaginative renderings of it. Novel History includes essays by distinguished historians such as John Demos, Michael Kammen, Joan D. Hedrick, John Lukacs, Eugene D. Genovese, Richard White, and Tom Wicker, and responses from notable novelists including Gore Vidal, John Updike, Russell Banks, Don DeLillo, Larry McMurtry, Jane Smiley, Madison Smartt Bell, William Styron, T. Coraghessan Boyle, William Kennedy, Charles Frazier, Thomas Fleming, and Tim O'Brien. Novel History is both a uniquely compelling perspective and a superb collection of literary history. The Colonization of Mi'kmaq Memory and History, 1794-1928 William C. Wicken, 2012-06-15. In 1927 Gabriel Sylliboy, the Grand Chief of the Mi'kmaq of Atlantic Canada, was charged with trapping muskrats out of season. At appeal in July 1928, Sylliboy and five other men recalled conversations with parents, grandparents, and community members to explain how they understood a treaty their people had signed with the British in 1752. Using this testimony as a starting point, William Wicken traces Mi'kmaq memories of the treaty, arguing that as colonization altered Mi'kmaq society, community interpretations of the treaty changed as well. The Sylliboy case was part of a broader debate within Canada about Aboriginal peoples' legal status within Confederation. In using the 1752 treaty to try and establish a legal identity separate from that of other Nova Scotians, Mi'kmaq leaders contested federal and provincial attempts to force their assimilation into Anglo Canadian society Integrating matters of governance and legality with an exploration of historical memory The Colonization of Mi kmaw Memory and History offers a nuanced understanding of how and why individuals and communities recall the past The Art of Time Travel Tom Griffiths,2017-07-03 No matter how practised we are at history it always humbles us No matter how often we visit the past it always surprises us Winner of the Ernest Scott Prize and shortlisted for the NSW Premier s Literary Award for Non fiction A rare feat of imagination and generosity Mark McKenna With every sentence they write historians must walk the tightrope between discipline and imagination empathy and evidence In this landmark work eminent historian and award winning author Tom Griffiths shares his passion for the fascinating complex craft of history or as he calls it the art of time travel In fourteen portraits Griffiths illuminates how historians such as Inga Clendinnen Judith Wright Geoffrey Blainey and Henry Reynolds have approached their craft In prose both earthy and elegant he shows the new insights they have brought to Australian history and in so doing reshapes our shared knowledge of this continent The Art of Time Travel is an exhilarating book that will forever change the way you think of Australia s past If the past is a foreign country Tom Griffiths makes the perfect travelling companion Let him be your eyes and ears on our shared history Most of all follow his heart Clare Wright Scholars and Their Kin Stéphane Gerson,2025-02-19 Spotlights historians who have embraced the methodological practical and ethical challenges of writing about the most slippery of subjects their own families Historians have often been discouraged from writing about their relatives subjects who are deemed too close for objective analysis But new work by scholars interested in their own families raises fascinating questions about subjectivity and how historians might put it to use It also invites historians to abandon traditional aspects of academic writing and draw instead on literary forms more equipped to highlight the relationships between scholar and material feeling and reason Scholars and Their Kin embraces diverse approaches to such writing bringing into the open the personal professional and historiographic complexities that ensue when scholars write intimate yet self aware histories about their families The first book devoted to this genre which editor St phane Gerson terms personal family history this anthology features ten essays and an afterword by scholars working in this vein The contributors varied in their disciplines themes and nationalities reflect on their motivations and methodological choices the politics of family history and the institutional constraints they have sometimes faced Making full use of the creative possibilities of voice and form they expand the literary ambitions of personal family history provide readers with narrative models and address questions of shame responsibility love gendered and racial violence family archives as well as the tall tales myths misrepresentations memories and omissions that suffuse family lives Scholars and Their Kin will interest historians scholars in other disciplines and readers interested in family histories that open broader worlds Irish women and the creation of modern Catholicism, 1850-1950 Cara Delay,2019-03-26 This is the first book length study to investigate the place of lay Catholic women in modern Irish history It analyses the intersections of gender class and religion by exploring the roles that middle class working class and rural poor
