Renal Disease In The Aged:

Renal Function and Disease in the Elderly Juan F. Macias Nuñez,J. Stewart Cameron,2014-04-24 Renal Function and Disease in the Elderly explores the renal system of elders The book details the various roles of renal system as well as the illnesses that the elderly can have The book is inspired by the insufficient attention this topic has received among medical personnel The book begins by discussing the changes in a person s vessels and kidney as he or she ages The discussion then shifts to the older person s glomerulus and renal blood flow Other chapters offer information about how aging affects a person s body systems and processes including water balance electrolytes kidneys proximal tubes and ingestion of drugs Diseases such as urinary tract infection interstitial nephropathies glomerulonephritis renal vasculitis renal cyst acute renal failure and obstructive uropathy are also explained While the book is primarily a valuable reference for medical practitioners in the field it also caters to students and casual readers Elderly readers regardless of whether they have a disease or not can also benefit from this book

The Aging Kidney in Health and Disease Juan F. Macías-Núñez,J. Stewart Cameron,Dimitrios G. Oreopoulos,2007-11-24 This volume will be a reliable source on the management of the elderly with renal disease There is an ever increasing proportion of the aging population affected by renal disease and hypertension and physicians are faced with atypical clinical presentations of renal disease in the aged as compared to younger people This volume combines the fields of nephrology and geriatrics and presents a multidisciplinary approach to the topic

Kidney Disease in the Elderly Holly Kramer,Edgar V. Lerma,Holly Koncicki,2024-12-26 The over 65 population in the United States is rapidly growing There are currently about 52 million people over 65 years of age in the United States or 16 5% of the U S population This percentage is expected to reach 22% or 70 million by 2050 This means that during the professional lives of current trainees they can expect to see an increasing number of older patients in their practice Average life expectancy in 2004 was 75 2 yr for men and 80 4 yr for women Due to the pandemic average life expectancy has decreased for both men and women with declines differing by race and ethnicity Overall current average life expectancy is 75 1 years for men and 80 5 years for women During the 1990s the over 85 population was the fastest growing group at 38% growth This older age group was the largest consumer of healthcare services By 2060 the number of people age 85 years and older is projected to triple from its current estimate of 6 7 million to 19 0 million A substantial percentage of this population has some level of disability sensory physical mental or self care Once a senior develops disability it greatly impacts their ability to self manage their disease and follow a complex medical regimen Patients with chronic kidney disease CKD usually require complicated medication routines complex dietary restrictions frequent medical visits and receive care from multiple physicians Thus providing nephrology care for older patients with CKD requires specific knowledge and skills that are unique to this population Elderly patients will make up a growing proportion of the practice of nephrologists and other providers physicians and allied health providers involved with their care Clinical practitioners will need to become more comfortable with shouldering the full care of this segment of their patient population and work closely with a geriatrician and internists and family practitioners As we become more willing to offer life prolonging technologies in this vulnerable group we need to be willing to deal with the consequences of this decision Finally with their elderly patients clinicians face challenging ethical problems such as whether to withhold or withdraw dialysis Unless addressed promptly and effectively these ethical issues will greatly increase the stress on both the healthcare provider and family members Renal Disease in the Aged Jerome G. Porush, Pierre F. Faubert, 1991 Geriatric Nephrology Dimitrios G. Oreopoulos, 1986-06-30 The year was 1943 As a third year medical student at Stanford I was about to witness the beginning of a medical miracle Dr Arthur Bloomfield Professor of Medicine had selected my patient a middle aged man who was dying of acute pneumococcal pneumonia as one of the first patients to receive miniscule doses by today's standards of his meagre supply of a new drug penicillin The patient's response amazed everyone especially this impressionable medical student The rest of the story is history With one stroke the introduction of penicillin removed from the medical scene the friend of the aged lobar pneumonia The consequences which no one could have imagined at the time are still becoming manifest as other miracles such as respirators artificial kidneys and many potent new antibiotics have come upon the scene All of us are aware that these miracles have created a variety of new challenges around the states of dying and near dying We have no easy answers for these problems Nevertheless as dialysis techniques especially CAPD are applied more widely to the treatment of the elderly the task of helping the patient meet death with dignity becomes increasingly important and vexing because once begun dialysis is difficult to terminate

Nephrology and Urology in the Aged Patient

Dimitrios G. Oreopoulos,M.F. Michelis,S. Herschorn,2012-12-06 The master tool of logic is the syllogism If A Band B C then it must follow as the night the day that A C If the major and minor premises are true or scientifically correct by current knowledge the conclusion is true or at least scientifically correct by current knowledge The demographer of today beams a clear message which if not true is at least scientifically correct by current knowledge In the first 80 years of the Twentieth Century the over 65 population of Americans increased eight fold By century s end it will have increased 12 fold and shortly thereafter will include one in five Americans While initially a fact of the developed world the pace of similar graying is accelerating even more rapidly in the Second and Third Worlds This gray delta constitutes about 35 million living Americans who may use one half or more of the health care resources A would have to be a lot more foolish than B if they failed to recognize that in the coming decade the causation case mix and area of the gray delta demands a change from early mid or even later century medicine If Homer Smith was right in saying We are what we are because we have the kind of kidneys we have and The kidneys make the stuff of philosophy then the who what where when and why the gray delta will be cared for must focus on the stuff of geriatric nephrology

Kidney Diseases Scott J. Gilbert, Daniel E. Weiner, Debbie S. Gipson, Mark A. Perazella, Marcello Tonelli, 2014 Preceded by work Primer on kidney diseases 5th ed c2009 Advanced Age Geriatric Care Nages Nagaratnam, Kujan Nagaratnam, Gary Cheuk, 2018-11-26 As the Baby Boomers age concerns over healthcare systems abilities to accommodate geriatric patients grow increasingly challenging This is especially true with the population deemed to be the oldest of the old specifically those over the age of 85 Unlike any other time in history this demographic is the fastest growing segment of most developed countries In the United States the oldest old is projected to double from 4.3 million to 9.6 million by 2030 The increased life expectancy of the population since the early 1900s has been built on the improvement of living conditions diet public health and advancement in medical care With this we have seen a steady decline in the age specific prevalence of vascular and heart diseases stroke and even dementia Older persons are healthier today than their counterparts decades ago More importantly than in any other age group the care of the oldest old must be individualized management decisions should be made taking into consideration the older persons expressed wishes quality of life function and mental capacity The inevitable consequence is that there will be an increase in the prevalence of older persons with chronic diseases multiple co existing pathologies and neuro degenerative diseases The oldest of the aging population are often excluded from drug trials and their treatments are largely based on findings extrapolated from that of the younger old Furthermore among the oldest old physiologically they are more diverse than other segments of the population Their demographic characteristics are unparalleled and different compared to that of the younger old Several studies have drawn attention to the differing attitudes among health professionals towards elderly people and many show prejudice because they are old As a result the use of age as a criteria in determining the appropriateness of treatment is of very limited validity yet there are limited resources that guide physicians through these challenges This book creates a greater awareness of these challenges and offers practical guidelines for working within the infrastructures vital to this demographic This book is designed for geriatricians primary care physicians junior medical officers specialty geriatrics nurses and gerontologists It is divided into 3 sections General Considerations Chronic diseases and Geriatric Syndromes Each chapter provides a summary of important and essential information under the heading of Key Points Case studies are included in some of the chapters to highlight the principles of management Reichel's Care of the Elderly Christine Arenson, Jan Busby-Whitehead, Kenneth Brummel-Smith, James G. O'Brien, Mary H. Palmer, William Reichel, 2009-02-09 The sixth edition remains the pioneering text for the practising physician confronted with the unique problems of an increasingly elderly population Dr William Reichel's formative text is designed as a practical and useful guide for health specialists from medical students to practicing physicians This book is not a collection of subspecialty chapters but rather emphasizes the clinical management of the geriatric patient with simple to complex problems The editors have reviewed every chapter and have included the most up to date advances in the care of the elderly New chapters include hormonal therapy in post menopausal women drug therapy for Alzheimer's sufferers alternative medicine the chronic understaffing of nursing homes management of delirium and ethical issues Comprehensive and written for any clinicians caring for older patients including family physicians general internists nurse practitioners geriatricians and other specialists this esteemed text provides practical and trusted advice Kidney Disease and Nephrology Index, 1975
