Adams, 1971 Growing Yourself Up Jenny Brown, 2017-11-01 To be human is to be in relationships We can't survive without them but it's in relationships that we can so easily get unravelled Some relationships just seem to do us in Either we feel like we lose ourselves or feel burnt out from futile efforts to make things right for another In our relationships we can experience the very best of ourselves and the very worst The message of Growing Yourself Up is that you can't separate understanding the individual from understanding relationships All of life's relationships are integral to increasing self awareness and maturity And it's not necessarily the comfortable relationships that promote personal growth In this 2nd edition of the bestselling book Jenny examines how to help others without fostering dependency and how to determine what kind of help you or others want from therapists This is in response to the many lay and professional people who have found this book valuable personally and want to know how to help others grow Drawing from Bowen family systems theory the book takes you on a journey through each stage of life to see predictable patterns of relationships and to show how to use this knowledge to make purposeful adjustments in yourself as well as lending a mature helping hand to others The result is a sturdier self sturdier relationships and a refreshing new way to view life's challenges and opportunities Developmental Psychology For The Health Care Professions, Part Ii Howard. S. Feldman, 2020-01-17 First published in 1982 Since the 1960s there has been growing interest in and research on the adult years of the life cycle Previously developmental studies had focused on childhood and adolescence in which an orderly relationship between age and growth was assumed This volume looks at three periods of adulthood identified on the basis of chronological age young adulthood from 18 to 40 middle adulthood from 40 to 65 and later adulthood from 65 until death The authors of the series volumes are behavioral scientists with considerable experience in the education of health care professionals Most of them are also clinicians and their varied experience enables them to present their topics in a readable fashion The content of the texts presumes only a very basic knowledge of the behavioral sciences and emphasis is placed on the practical implications of research findings for health care delivery
