Challenging Boundaries Joyce W. Warren, Margaret Dickie, 2000-01-01

What if the American literary canon were expanded to consistently represent women writers who do not always fit easily into genres and periods established on the basis of men's writings? How would the study of American literature benefit from this long-needed revision? This timely collection of essays by fourteen women writers breaks new ground in American literary study. Not content to rediscover and awkwardly fit female writers into the white male scheme of anthologies and college courses, editors Margaret Dickie and Joyce W. Warren question the current boundaries of literary periods advocating a revised literary canon The essays consider a wide range of American women writers including Mary Rowlandson Margaret Fuller Harriet Beecher Stowe Emily Dickinson Frances Harper Edith Wharton Gertrude Stein Amy Lowell and Adrienne Rich discussing how the present classification of these writers by periods affects our reading of their work Beyond the focus of feminist challenges to American literary periodization this volume also studies issues of a need for literary reforms considering differences in race ethnicity class and sexuality The essays are valuable and informative as individual critical studies of specific writers and their works Challenging Boundaries presents intelligent original well written and practical arguments in support of long awaited changes in American literary scholarship and is a milestone of feminist literary study

Margaret Atwood's Aesthetics Dunja M. Mohr, Kirsten Sandrock, 2025-03-31 Perhaps more timely than ever Margaret Atwood's Aesthetics offers novel perspectives on both contemporary and canonical topics in Margaret Atwood's work with a special focus on the intersections of literature and politics Arguably one of the most political writers of our times Atwood's oeuvre subtly and overtly entangles readers in the dialectics of personal and political power asymmetries intrinsic to her aesthetic practices The collection takes its cue from the concept of the artpolitical as coined by Crispin Sartwell whose afterword addresses Atwood's aesthetic and imaginative material world construction and explores the interrelationship between literatures and aesthetic as well as political systems in Atwood's works Individual chapters of Margaret Atwood's Aesthetics contribute to increasingly burning questions concerning the relevance of literature today by drawing on a variety of critical perspectives including Anthropocene studies gender intersectionality the nonhuman and the posthuman Mikhail Bakhtin's carnivalesque risk studies nationhood intermediality and teaching Chapters offer fresh views on some of Atwood's most prominent works such as The Handmaid's Tale and The Testaments and their transmedial adaptations while other chapters focus on Atwood's latest publications as well as on under researched works including her graphic novels and her web serialized publications Margaret Atwood's Aesthetics provides unique insights into the aesthetic and political power of Atwood's oeuvre arguing that literary and media representations and cultural adaptation practices contain a significant transformative potential that reaches beyond the page

Feminist Spaces Malashri Lal, 1997 Margaret Atwood Fiona Tolan, 2007-01-01 Margaret Atwood Feminism and Fiction takes a new look at the complex relationship between Margaret Atwood's fiction and feminist politics Examining in detail the concerns and choices of an author who has frequently been termed feminist but has famously rejected the label on many occasions this book traces the influences of feminism in Atwood's work and simultaneously plots moments of dissent or debate Fiona Tolan presents a clear and detailed study of the first eleven novels of one of Canada's most prominent authors Each chapter can be read as an individual textual analysis whilst the chronological structure provides a fascinating insight into the shifting concerns of a popular and influential author over a period of nearly thirty five years
