Second-class Citizen Buchi Emecheta, 1994 Adah a woman from the Ibo tribe moves to England to live with her Nigerian student husband She soon discovers that life for a young Nigerian woman living in London in the 1960s is grim Rejected by British society and thwarted by her husband who expects her to be subservient to him she is forced to face up to life as a second class citizen Back cover

Second-class Citizen Jennifer Lagier, 2000 Poetry Jennifer Lagier's poetry is honest direct and filled with compassion Her love and understanding her anger and realization that not all things are equal create a passion for justice Her words flow effortlessly from one poem to another and her wit and sensibility are always present especially in her appreciation of where she lives and how she lives and with whom she lives Ruth Daigon Writing Across Cultures Omar Sougou, 2021-10-25 This is a timely and comprehensive study combining various critical approaches to the fiction of Buchi Emecheta one of Africa's most illustrious and contentious women writers Feminist Showalter Cixous Kristeva and postcolonial approaches writing back are taken to Emecheta's texts to illuminate the personal political and aesthetic ramifications of the production of this born writer Poststructural programmes of analysis are shown to be less relevant to this writer's fiction than Marxist and Bakhtinian perspectives Emecheta is shown to be a bridge builder between two cultures and two worlds in narratives both challenging and popular characterized by ambiguity ambivalence and double voiced discourse all of which evince the writer's determination to expose imaginatively the colonial heritage of centre periphery conflicts cultural corruption ethnic discrimination gender oppression and the migrant experience in multiracial communities

British Experimental Women's Fiction, 1945—1975 Andrew Radford,Hannah Van Hove,2021-08-23 This book scrutinizes a range of relatively overlooked post WWII British women writers who sought to demonstrate that narrative prose fiction offered rich possibilities for aesthetic innovation What unites all the primary authors in this volume is a commitment to challenging the tenets of British mimetic realism as a literary and historical phenomenon This collection reassesses how British female novelists operated in relation to transnational vanguard networking clusters debates and tendencies both political and artistic The chapters collected in this volume enquire for example whether there is something fundamentally different or politically dissident about female experimental procedures and perspectives This book also investigates the processes of canon formation asking why in one way or another these authors have been sidelined or misconstrued by recent scholarship Ultimately it seeks to refine a new research archive on mid century British fiction by female novelists at least as diverse as recent and longer established work in the domain of modernist studies     Maternal Modernism Elizabeth Podnieks,2022-12-01 Drawing on the figure and discourses of the Victorian fin de siècle New Woman this book examines women writers who struggled with conservative patriarchal ideologies of motherhood in novels periodicals and life writings of the long modernist period It shows how these writers challenged resisted adapted and negotiated traditional ideas with their own versions of new motherhood with needs for identities and experiences beyond maternity Tracing the period from the end of the nineteenth century through the twentieth this study explores how some of the numerous elements and forces we identify with modernism are manifested in equally diverse and often competing representations of mothers mothering and motherhood It investigates how historical personages and fictional protagonists used and were constructed within textual spaces where they engaged critically with the maternal as institution identity and practice from perspectives informed by gender sexuality nationhood race and class The matrifocal literatures examined in this book exemplify how feminist motherhoods feature as a prominent thematic of the long modernist era and how rebellious New Woman mothers provocatively wrote maternity into text and history
