between freedom and race from the eighteenth century to today revealing how being free has meant being white Tyler Stovall explores the intertwined histories of racism and freedom in France and the United States the two leading nations that have claimed liberty as the heart of their national identities He explores how French and American thinkers defined freedom in racial terms and conceived of liberty as an aspect and privilege of whiteness He discusses how the Statue of Liberty a gift from France to the United States and perhaps the most famous symbol of freedom on Earth promised both freedom and whiteness to European immigrants Taking readers from the Age of Revolution to today Stovall challenges the notion that racism is somehow a paradox or contradiction within the democratic tradition demonstrating how white identity is intrinsic to Western ideas about liberty Throughout the history of modern Western liberal democracy freedom has long been white freedom A major work of scholarship that is certain to draw a wide readership and transform contemporary debates White Freedom provides vital new perspectives on the inherent racism behind our most cherished beliefs about freedom liberty and human rights Second War of the Worlds, Book Two John Pirillo, 2024-11-20 The only way for G One to defeat the invasion from Mars is to find something the Martians are vulnerable too But the past war was erased from the minds of every living being on Earth by the old G One Will it be discovered in time to turn the tide of battle UGC NET Public Administration (Paper-II) Study Notes, Resisting Postmodern Architecture Stylianos Giamarellos, 2022-01-10 Since its first appearance in 1981 critical regionalism has enjoyed a celebrated worldwide reception The 1990s increased its pertinence as an architectural theory that defends the cultural identity of a place resisting the homogenising onslaught of globalisation Today its main principles such as acknowledging the climate history materials culture and topography of a specific place are integrated in architects education across the globe But at the same time the richer cross cultural history of critical regionalism has been reduced to schematic juxtapositions of the global with the local Retrieving both the globalising branches and the overlooked cross cultural roots of critical regionalism Resisting Postmodern Architecture resituates critical regionalism within the wider framework of debates around postmodern architecture the diverse contexts from which it emerged and the cultural media complex that conditioned its reception In so doing it explores the intersection of three areas of growing historical and theoretical interest postmodernism critical regionalism and globalisation Based on more than 50 interviews and previously unpublished archival material from six countries the book transgresses existing barriers to integrate sources in other languages into anglophone architectural scholarship In so doing it shows how the periphery was not just a passive recipient but also an active generator of architectural theory and practice Stylianos Giamarellos challenges long held central notions of supposedly international discourses of the recent past and outlines critical regionalism as an unfinished project apposite for the 21st century on the fronts of architectural theory history and historiography Human Rights in a Posthuman World Upendra Baxi, 2009-04-29 This major work a sequel to the acclaimed The Future of Human Rights brings together reflections on human rights theory in the contemporary human condition delineated by the discourses concerning development terror and the emergent posthuman While acknowledging the precarious place of human rights today the author points to the emancipatory potential of the posthuman contending that human rights norms and standards remain constitutive conditions of the emergence of the posthuman This thought provoking volume will interest scholars and students of human rights political philosophy development economics and international law as well as activists and policymakers in the fields of law and development
