Secondary School Curriculum Improvement Meeting Challenges Of The Times:

Secondary School Curriculum Improvement J. Lloyd Trump, Delmas F. Miller, 1979 Changing the School Learning Environment Jack Rimmel Frymier, Ronald Joekel, 2004 The No Child Left Behind Legislation by the federal government led to another round of emphasis on public schools resulting in a focus on school renewal or as often termed school reform The National Association of Secondary School Principals in the 1960s initiated a concept for school renewal called The Model Schools Project 1969 1974 The MSP was the culmination of much of the seminal thinking on school renewal of that era The project was directed by Dr J Lloyd Trump NASSP secretary for research and development and Dr William D Georgiades professor of Education at the University of Southern California After the MSP formally ended Georgiades continued to provide leadership for school renewal as president of a follow up consortium of schools and districts the Learning Environments Consortium International In Changing the School Learning Environment Jack Frymier and Ronald Joekel take a look at the key concepts of the Model Schools Project and what has transpired during the past 30 plus years Has it survived as initially conceived evolved into something meaningful for contemporary schools or failed as so many other innovations have done A survey of best educational practices stemming from the Model Schools Project that promote school renewal and how they are being utilized today are also presented and discussed Should appeal to educators and secondary school administrators The Renewal and Improvement of Secondary Education Herbert John Klausmeier, James M. Turning Points in Curriculum J. Dan Marshall, 2007 Turning Points in Curriculum A Contemporary American Memoir 2nd edition is a text designed to engage readers in a story of curriculum as a field of intellectual study and invite them to identify with and ultimately participate in this important work Focusing on the United States it contains five parts the first of which offers a backdrop or contextual panorama for parts two through five which present curriculum's journey through the last half of the twentieth century Throughout the book the authors use the term curriculum work over curriculum studies theory or development The broader notion of work allows for variations that include reflection study theorizing construction inquiry and deliberation At the same time the possibilities for interpretation inherent in the notion of curriculum work allow the authors to steer clear of the more fixed and differential meanings typically associated with more distinctive phrases such as curriculum theorizing or curriculum development An important goal of Turning Points is to provide readers with multiple levels of engagement in its complex conversation Toward this end the authors have combined five distinct elements into the book with an eye toward personalizing readers interpretative processes Publisher description Curriculum
