Braham, 2019-05-29 This title was first published in 2002 This really is a text that will fill a long felt want A key figure in that history is Am d e Ozenfant painter critic and friend of Le Corbusier who in the first half of this century founded a school in London where he conducted experiments and wrote about color in architecture Those experiments have been reconstructed for the book which also includes reprints of his most important articles on the subject This book provides a fascinating survey of this most contemporary topic that will inspire and inform designers and architects Color has often been regarded as the final dressing of a building subject to the vagaries of fashion and left to the client to select There have been a number of studies of polychromy in the architecture of the more distant past particularly in relation to modern conservation practices but there is little or nothing on the architectural color of recent times and especially within Modernism      How to Tell When

We Will Die Johanna Hedva, 2024-09-24 From one of the most influential voices in disability activism comes an essay collection that detonates a bomb in our collective understanding of care and illness showing us that sickness is a vibrant part of life In the wake of the 2014 Ferguson riots and sick with a chronic condition that rendered them housebound Johanna Hedva turned to the page to ask How do you throw a brick through the window of a bank if you can't get out of bed It was not long before this essay Sick Woman Theory became a seminal work on disability because in reframing illness as not just a biological experience but a social one Hedva argues that under capitalism a system that limits our worth to the productivity of our bodies we must reach for the revolutionary act of caring for ourselves and others How to Tell When We Will Die expands upon Hedva's paradigm shifting perspective in a series of slyly subversive and razor sharp essays that range from the theoretical to the personal from Deborah Levy and Susan Sontag to wrestling kink mysticism death and the color yellow Drawing from their experiences with America's byzantine healthcare system and considering archetypes they call The Psychotic Woman The Freak and The Hag in Charge Hedva offers a bracing indictment of the politics that exploit sickness relying on and fueling ableism to the detriment of us all With the insight of Anne Boyer's The Undying and Leslie Jamison's

The Empathy Exams and the wit of Samantha Irby Hedva's debut collection upends our collective concept of disability In their radical reimagining of a world where care and pain are symbiotic and our bodies are allowed to live free and well Hedva implores us to remember that illness is neither an inconvenience or inevitability but an enlivening and elemental part of being alive The World According to Colour James Fox,2021-10-07 Extraordinary An intellectual feast as well as a visual one Edmund de Waal author of The Hare with Amber Eyes The world comes to us in colour But colour lives as much in our imaginations as it does in our surroundings as this scintillating book reveals Each chapter immerses the reader in a single colour drawing together stories from the histories of art and humanity to illuminate the meanings it has been given over the eras and around the globe Showing how artists scientists writers philosophers explorers and inventors have both shaped and been shaped by these wonderfully myriad meanings James Fox reveals how through colour we can better understand their cultures as well as our own Each colour offers a fresh perspective on a different epoch and together they form a vivid exhilarating history of the world We have projected our hopes anxieties and obsessions onto colour for thousands of years Fox writes The history of colour therefore is also a history of humanity Walking in Albion Richard
