Connecting Leadership and Learning John MacBeath, Neil Dempster, 2008-07-25 Leading schools is becoming almost daily a more complex and demanding job Connecting Leadership and Learning reassesses the purpose of schools the nature of learning and the qualities of leadership that make schools authentic places of learning Starting with a review of what we can claim to know and not know about learning leadership and their inter relationship this book explores what it means to lead schools that place learning at the centre Drawing on research from seven different country projects including the United States Australia and five European countries the authors offer five key principles for practice a focus of learning an environment for learning a learning dialogue shared leadership accountability internal and external These key principles have been tested by teachers senior leaders and school students and found to be applicable across cultural and linguistic boundaries The challenges faced by in inner city schools whether in London or New Jersey prove a stern test for the five principles yet as these schools testify they bring a new sense of hope and resolve that learning is for everyone Based on rigorous research yet thoroughly grounded in practice this book aims to challenge the reader with big ideas about learning and leadership and to break new ground in thinking about where leadership and learning meet so that practitioners can see how it works in school and classroom practice It should be of interest to all school leaders and those aspiring to the role

School Improvement Zijian Li, Michael Williams, 2006 School improvement is at the centre of educational reform and is perceived by many as a key to social and economic advance It contributes to determining the personal fulfilment and career paths of individual students and consequently engages the interest of parents and community members It is an ever present commitment of teachers and managers in schools Policy makers and politicians at international national and local levels devote much time and effort to their search for better schools School improvement has also attracted the attention of researchers and scholars in many countries They have been drawn from various disciplines and fields within the educational studies community including psychology sociology history evaluation and studies in curriculum and assessment There is now an established body of findings from studies conducted in many contexts This book brings together leading experts drawn from many countries and several continents reflecting diverse approaches to educational policy and practice evaluation and research Variations between countries and between local communities within countries are highlighted The possibilities and difficulties inherent in transferring evidence from one educational system at a number of levels to another are clearly discussed What emerges from the cross national and cross cultural evidence are several significant threads currently under active investigation including school structure and management classroom organisation school leadership teacher training and staff development curriculum and assessment community involvement lifelong learning and special provision for students with special educational needs School Improvement International Perspectives is written for national educational policy makers teachers and student teachers governing bodies and parents from various levels of schooling and university researchers and scholars

Teacher-Led Development Work David Frost, Judy Durrant, 2013-12-19 This is a practical step by step guide to how the quality of teaching and learning in schools can be improved through the development of organizational capacity and professional networking Whether you re involved in the National College of School Leadership s Networked Learning Communities scheme or simply wish to enable teachers to initiate and sustain education change this replacement to David Frost s earlier Reflective Action Planning for Teachers will be of great benefit The book demonstrates how secondary and primary teachers can contribute fully to the improvement of their school while pursuing their own continued professional development and gaining accreditation through school based work It provides guidelines for school managers higher education tutors external consultants and LEA advisors establishing school based support and gives tried and tested flexible proformas checklists and other practical tools that are ideal for training INSET or a personal audit

Teachers Leading Change Judy Durrant, Gary Holden, 2005-10-10 Within a theoretical policy context the authors offer practical guidance on integrating inquiry with practice show how to encourage collaboration critical dialogue within between schools focus strongly on pupil teacher organizational learning

International Handbook of School Effectiveness and Improvement Tony Townsend, 2007-08-01 This book reviews of the development implementation and practice of the disciplines of school effectiveness and school improvement Seven main topics are addressed History of the school effectiveness movement over the last 25 years Changes in accountability and standards Leadership in school effectiveness Changes in teacher education Impact of Diverse Populations Education Funding and its Impact and Best Practice Case Studies The contributors are active in school effectiveness research worldwide

Processes of Inquiry Joanna Higgins, Ro Parsons, Linda Bonne, 2011-11-22 This book presents inservice teacher educators accounts of systematic inquiry into their practice in a variety of contexts throughout New Zealand The importance of purposeful networks of practice at all levels of a system in supporting education change and improvement is a theme across the chapters The contributors describe the challenges and successes associated with working in professional learning and development in ways that aim to improve outcomes for teacher educators teachers and students Their accounts illuminate the importance of a research and development approach that enables the generation and application of new knowledge and more importantly enables all contributors to be learners Each of the authors describes their role in investigating the effectiveness of inservice teacher educator practice as part of the overall project that endeavoured to improve practice for the future Included are processes created for Maori indigenous settings where cultural metaphors were used to frame investigations of practice The book makes an important contribution to our knowledge base about effective inservice teacher educator practice and its influence on classroom practice The book will appeal to teacher educators interested in examining the fit between their practices and their goals in helping teachers to build knowledge and practice including those working in indigenous settings It will also be of interest to policy makers and evaluators involved in system level change a well organised and carefully argued text that offers compelling evidence for an integrated approach to project management practice research and evaluation J John Loughran Series Editor

How To Improve Your School Jean Rudduck, Julia Flutter, 2004-01-01 This fascinating book focuses on those who are most affected by changes in education policy and systems the pupils It draws on empirical evidence from a number of research projects and distils this into a compelling account of contemporary schooling from the pupils perspective Jean Rudduck calls for a shift in the way we currently view young people at school and sets out a case for radically rethinking aspects of school organization relationships and practice Her research confirms that we need to see pupils differently to re assess their capabilities and reflect on what they are capable of being and doing

Managing School Intellectual Capital for Strategic Development Eric C. K. Cheng, 2022-07-29 Cheng articulates the extent to which knowledge management approaches can create Intellectual Capital IC and contribute to improvements in education quality He argues that public schools have long contended with the requirements of quality assurance in a competitive environment of decreasing student numbers increasing parental choice and rising standards of accountability As public organisations schools have to demonstrate appropriate resource management and show evidence that they are meeting defined development plans and goals Cheng proposes a strategic approach IC management to help schools respond to and cope with the increasingly competitive environment while enhancing school capacity for improving student learning First the book guides readers to understand the development of IC theory in the context of education to address the requirements of quality assurance and accountability It then introduces Lesson Study e Learning and Information and Communication Technology ICT as key resources and drivers for building school IC and examines the organisational factors that enable knowledge management approaches for developing IC in schools from both Asia and Europe It concludes by offering strategies and implementation methods to manage school IC for sustainable development Combining research from Asia and Europe this edited volume will be useful for school leaders and policy makers as well as those researching school leadership and IC

Democratic Learning John E. C. MacBeath, Leif Moos, 2004 The time has come to challenge many of the age old assumptions about schools and school learning In this timely book leading thinkers from around the world offer a different vision of what schools are for They suggest new ways of thinking about citizenship lifelong learning and the role of schools in democratic societies They question many of the tenets of school effectiveness studies which have been so influential in shaping policy but are essentially backward looking and premised on school structures as we have known them Each chapter confronts some of the myths of schooling we have cherished for too long and asks us to think again and to do schools differently Chapters include Democratic learning and school effectiveness Learning democracy in an age of managerial accountability Democratic leadership for school improvement in challenging contexts This book will be of particular interest to anyone involved in school improvement and effectiveness including academics and researchers in this field of study Headteachers and LEA advisers will also find this book a useful resource New Paradigm for Re-engineering Education
