Michael G. Flaherty, 1999-01-01 Time it has been said is the enemy In an era of harried lives time seems increasingly precious as hours and days telescope and our lives often seem to be flitting past And yet at other times the minutes drag on each tick of the clock excruciatingly drawn out What explains this seeming paradox Based upon a full decade s empirical research Michael G Flaherty s new book offers remarkable insights on this most universal human experience Flaherty surveys hundreds of individuals of all ages in an attempt to ascertain how such phenomena as suffering violence danger boredom exhilaration concentration shock and novelty influence our perception of time Their stories make for intriguing reading by turns familiar and exotic mundane and dramatic horrific and funny A qualitative and quantitative tour de force A Watched Pot presents what may well be the first fully integrated theory of time and will be of interest to scientists humanists social scientists and the educated public alike A Choice Outstanding Academic Book Living in Denial Kari Marie Norgaard, 2011-03-11 An analysis of why people with knowledge about climate change often fail to translate that knowledge into action Global warming is the most significant environmental issue of our time yet public response in Western nations has been meager Why have so few taken any action In Living in Denial sociologist Kari Norgaard searches for answers to this question drawing on interviews and ethnographic data from her study of Bygdaby the fictional name of an actual rural community in western Norway during the unusually warm winter of 2000 2001 In 2000 2001 the first snowfall came to Bygdaby two months later than usual ice fishing was impossible and the ski industry had to invest substantially in artificial snow making Stories in local and national newspapers linked the warm winter explicitly to global warming Yet residents did not write letters to the editor pressure politicians or cut down on use of fossil fuels Norgaard attributes this lack of response to the phenomenon of socially organized denial by which information about climate science is known in the abstract but disconnected from political social and private life and sees this as emblematic of how citizens of industrialized countries are responding to global warming Norgaard finds that for the highly educated and politically savvy residents of Bygdaby global warming was both common knowledge and unimaginable Norgaard traces this denial through multiple levels from emotions to cultural norms to political economy Her report from Bygdaby supplemented by comparisons throughout the book to the United States tells a larger story behind our paralysis in the face of today s alarming predictions from climate scientists

Studies in Symbolic Interaction Norman K. Denzin, 2008-07-25 Emphasizes critical approaches to the study of race identity and self as well as developments in interactionist theory ethics and dramaturical studies The Need for Theory Simon Biggs, Jon Hendricks, Ariela Lowenstein, 2020-11-25 The Need for Theory speaks to the burgeoning need for critical thinking in social gerontology The editors have brought together some of the foremost contributors to theoretical advances in the field This volume incorporates state of the art theorizing with a focus on selected topical areas facing gerontologists around the world Using their keen insights into substantive issues the contributors examine personal and structural changes affecting individuals over the life course Extolling the need for theory is not enough the contributors focus their insights on a panoply of substantive issues linking the personal with the political and with the structural parameters that shape the process of aging no matter where it occurs

Social Movements that Care Felipe G. Santos,2024-12-14 The Platform of Those Affected by Mortgages PAH has left a crucial mark in the history of Spanish social movements by advocating for the over 700 000 families that have been evicted since its inception in 2009 This book explores how the PAH has blocked thousands of evictions through civil resistance prevented many more through negotiations with banks and rehoused thousands of evicted families in apartments recuperated from banks and vulture funds Through the framework of the Politics of Care Felipe G Santos explores the emotional identity and participatory challenges that hindered the mobilization of those affected by mortgages The book also reveals how empathy from a group of people unaffected by mortgage issues sparked mobilization and how care relationships empowered those facing eviction to lead the fight for housing rights

Advances in Identity Theory and Research Peter J. Burke,Timothy J. Owens,Richard Serpe,Peggy A. Thoits,2011-06-27 This volume is presented in four sections based on recent research in the field the sources of identity the tie between identity and the social structure the non cognitive outcomes such as emotional of identity processes and the idea that individuals have multiple identities This timely work will be of interest to social psychologists in sociology and psychology behavioral scientists and political scientists

Handbook of Race, Racism, and the Developing Child Stephen M. Quintana,Clark McKown,2008-07-10 Filling a critical void in the literature Race Racism and the Developing Child provides an important source of information for researchers psychologists and students on the recent advances in the unique developmental and social features of race and racism in children s lives Thorough and accessible this timely reference draws on an international collection of experts and scholars representing the breadth of perspectives theoretical traditions and empirical approaches in this field

Autism and the Crisis of Meaning Alexander Durig,1996-02-01 Provides a comprehensive understanding of the informal logics of meaningful perception and autistic perception which promises to pave the way for social scientists to begin addressing the subjective human experience in logical terms
