Wallace, R. D. Rusk, 2011 Recent scholarship has challenged post Reformation ideas about the early Christian doctrines of salvation This ground breaking book draws together the conclusions of recent scholarship into a compelling and clear view of the early Christian paradigm of salvation It presents the case that the early Christians focussed not on Christ s death on the cross or saving faith but on moral transformation They saw Jesus as God s appointed teacher prophet and leader who died as a martyr in order to teach them a new way of life Their paradigm of salvation centred upon this way of life taught by Jesus and on following faithfully his example and teachings Part 1 How the Gospels present Jesus explores the way in which the early Christians understood the teaching of Jesus It highlights five themes of Jesus message economics and wealth moral purity social equality the temple system and physical and spiritual affliction It shows why people viewed Jesus as a divinely appointed teacher prophet and leader and saw his death as a martyrdom for his cause and movement Part 2 Doctrines of the early Christians presents the key early Christian doctrines of salvation and shows why several post Reformation doctrines conflict with their views It shows that the early Christians believed God s final judgment is made on the basis of character and conduct They believed that by following Jesus and transforming their lives morally they would obtain positive judgment and resurrection This part shows how the early Christians ideas of faith justification forgiveness and grace all fit into this paradigm Part 3 The importance of Jesus looks at why the early Christians considered Jesus so significant they focussed on the moral transformation he brought to their lives This part highlights what they believed Jesus achieved for them and how they used sacrificial language to explain these beliefs It explores the evidence for viewing Jesus death as a martyrdom and for seeing his resurrection as equally important Part 4 Ideas throughout history shows that Christians held this paradigm of salvation for several centuries It outlines the key changes that occurred from the 4th century through to the Reformation which moved tradition away from the early Christian ideas Finally it offers a critique of modern post Reformation doctrines of salvation Puna Wai Korero Robert Sullivan, 2015-01-01 From revered established writers as well as exciting new voices the poems in Puna Wai Korero offer a broad picture of Maori poetry in English The voices are many and diverse confident angry traditional respectful experimental

Nation and Destination Jeffrey Sissons, 1999 Beyond the Comparative John C. Weidman, W. James Jacob, 2012-01-01 We are pleased to introduce this inaugural volume in the PSCIE Series Beyond the Comparative Advancing Theory and Its Application to Practice which expands on the life work of University of Pittsburgh Professor Rolland G Paulston 1929 2006 Recognized as a stalwart in the field of comparative and international education Paulston s most widely recognized contribution is in social cartography He demonstrated that mapping comparative international and development education CIDE is no easy task and depending on the perspective of the mapper there may be multiple cartographies to chart The 35 contributors to this volume representing a range of senior and junior scholars from various CIDE backgrounds and perspectives celebrate the life and work of Paulston by addressing issues perspectives and approaches related to charting the future course of the field The volume reports on new research in several genres as well as conceptual analysis As the title suggests authors were encouraged to go beyond established canons of CIDE The cover art The CIDE Theoretical Compass was conceptualized by the editors and depicts that theory selection and theory generation are an ongoing and important process in comparative international and development education CIDE The image was designed by artist Natalie Jacob which positions the CIDE Theoretical Compass over Rolland G Paulston's 1993 concentric circle map Adventure, 1914 The New New Zealand William Edward Moneyhun, 2020-01-09 Today's New Zealand is an emerging paradigm for successful cultural relations Although the nation's Maori indigenous Polynesian and Pakeha colonial European populations of the 19th century were dramatically different and often at odds they are today co contributors to a vibrant society For more than a century they have been working out the kind of nation that engenders respect and well being and their interaction though often riddled with confrontation is finally bearing bicultural fruit By their model the encounter of diverse cultures does not require the surrender of one to the other rather it entails each expanding its own cultural categories in the light of the other The time is ripe to explore modern New Zealand's cultural dynamics for what we can learn about getting along The present anthropological work focuses on religion and related symbols forms of reciprocity the operation of power and the concept of culture in modern New Zealand society The State, Development and Identity in Multi-Ethnic Societies Nicholas Tarling, Terence Gomez, 2008-03-03 The controversial work of Amy Chua argues that as rapid modernization industrialization technological change and globalization bring about fundamental changes in national ethnic and class identities especially in developing countries there is a danger that the laissez faire capitalist system will cause serious racial conflagration especially in societies where there is ethnic minority market dominance combined with ethno nationalist type politicians who mobilize support from ethnic majority communities by drawing attention to inequalities in wealth distribution This controversial work goes on to argue for an authoritarian political system with curbs against the corporate expansion of enterprises owned by ethnic minorities until parity in equity ownership among all communities is achieved This book tests the assumptions behind these arguments discussing ethnic communities identity economy society and state and the links between them in a range of countries in East Asia Southeast Asia and the Pacific and diaspora communities of Asian peoples in the West It demonstrates that identity transformation occurs as generations of minority communities succeed each other that old discourses of fixed origins which are assumed to bind ethnic communities into cohesive wholes do not apply that there are very extensive inter linkages in the daily activities of people of different ethnic and religious backgrounds that affirmative action type policies along racial lines can undermine overall societal cohesion and that there is no case for limiting democracy until economic equity is achieved This is a rich important book with huge implications for economic development and for states throughout the world as multi ethnic societies world wide become more extensive and more complicated Maori Winifred Bauer, 2003-09-02 This descriptive grammar provides a uniquely comprehensive description of Maori the East Polynesian language of the indigenous people of New Zealand Today the language is under threat and it seems likely that the Maori of the future will differ quite considerably from the Maori of the past Winifred Bauer offers a wide ranging and detailed description of the structure of the language covering syntax morphology and phonology Based upon narrative texts and data elicited from older native speaking consultants and illustrated with a wealth of examples the book will be of interest to both linguistic theoreticians and descriptive linguists including language typologists Healing Narratives Gay Alden Wilentz,2000 Exploring the relationship between culture and health this text provides readings of the works of five women writers tracing their common structure of a main character moving from a state of mental or physical disease toward wellness through reconnection with her cultural traditions
