Underwater Mortgage Kelly Archer,2011-12 Kelly Archer is a southern California short sale specialist His wealth of knowledge bleeds into his desire to help others through difficult economic times Kelly has a true understanding of how negatively the economic crisis has affected millions of Americans He applies his experience and attention to each case whether it be a short sale or any other service the client may be in need of always mindful of the concerns and worries of the client Kelly Archer has worked in the industry since 1983 he has done and seen all the possible scenarios when it comes to construction and the real estate market He started working in the construction field with his father who was a land developer then went on to getting his contractors license ultimately taking over his fathers company Kelly found that he had a burning desire for something more This brought him to the conclusion that it would benefit him as well as his clients to get his brokers license and to open up a real estate office in southern California He found that in today s economic market with the knowledge he possessed he could possibly assist them by leading them along the gruesome path of near homelessness to living in a comfortable home that was within their means Kelly has even taken it a step further and written a book that will teach people how this truly can be done Written in a way that is easy to understand and is amazingly feasible to duplicate giving his readers hope and a light at the end of the tunnel By far the most important read for those suffering and in fear of losing their homes and having no answers as to where to turn Kelly just may have the answer you have been waiting for

Option ,1993 The Pacific Reporter ,1924 Underwater Cultural Heritage and International Law Sarah Dromgoole,2013-07-25 The first full scale study of the international legal framework governing underwater cultural heritage to be published in nearly two decades A Strategic Reassessment of Fish Farming Potential in Africa José Aguilar-Manjarrez,Shree S. Nath,1998-01-01 Reprint First published in 1998 The present study is an update of an earlier assessment of warm water fish farming potential in Africa by Kapetsky 1994 The objective of this study was to assess locations and areal expanses that have potential for warm water and temperate water fish farming in continental Africa The study was based on previous estimates for Africa by the above author and on estimates of potential for warm water and temperate water fish farming in Latin America by Kapetsky and Nath 1997 However a number of refinements have been made The most important refinement was that new data allowed a sevenfold increase in resolution over that used in the previous Africa study and a twofold increase over that of Latin America i e to 3 arc minutes equivalent to 5 km x 5 km grids at the equator making the present results more usable in order to assess fish farming potential at the national level A geographical information system GIS was used to evaluate each grid cell on the basis of several land quality factors important for fish farm development and operation regardless of the fish species used Protected areas large inland water bodies and major cities were identified as constraint areas and were excluded from any fish farming development altogether Small scale fish farming potential was assessed on the basis of four factors water requirement from ponds due to evaporation and seepage soil and terrain suitability for pond construction based on a variety of soil attributes and slopes availability of livestock wastes and agricultural by products as feed inputs based on manure and crop potential and farm gate sales as a function of population density For commercial farming an urban market potential criterion was added based on population size of urban centres and travel time proximity Both small scale and commercial models were developed by weighting the above factors using a multi criteria decision making procedure A bioenergetics model was incorporated into the GIS to predict for the first time fish yields across Africa A gridded water temperature data set was used as input to a bioenergetics model to predict number of crops per year for the following three species Nile tilapia Oreochromis niloticus African catfish Clarias gariepinus and Common carp Cyprinus carpio Similar analytical approaches to those by Kapetsky and Nath 1997 were followed in the yield estimation However different specifications were used for small scale and commercial farming scenarios in order to reflect the types of culture practices found in Africa Moreover the fish growth simulation model documented in Kapetsky and Nath 1997 was refined to enable consideration of feed quality and high fish biomass in ponds The small scale and commercial models derived from the land quality evaluation were combined with the yield potential of each grid cell for each of the three fish species to show the coincidence of each land quality suitability class with a range of yield potentials Finally the land quality fish yield potential combinations were put together to show where the fish farming potential coincided for the three fish species Amber 2021 David A.
