from the 19th and early 20th centuries encapsulating the spirit of literary realism and social critique prominent in Russian art. These writers, many of whom were part of movements such as realism and existentialism, offer a panoramic view of historical and cultural shifts, uniting their individual experiences into a coherent exploration of their collective heritage. Readers are afforded the unparalleled opportunity to immerse themselves in a mosaic of voices and visions which this anthology uniquely offers. This compilation serves not only as an enriching literary experience but also as an educational tool, allowing readers to engage with the depth and breadth of Russian storytelling. The anthology encourages dialogue among its readers and the featured authors, fostering an appreciation of the intersection between varied perspectives and underscoring its timeless relevance in today's world.

Best Russian Short Stories Thomas Seltzer, 1925. Those who demand of fiction more than mere diversion turn inevitably to the works of the great Russian writers. In this volume the men who gave their country an unexcelled art and a redeeming conscience are represented by such short stories as no other nation has yet paralleled. Here are names to conjure with: Pushkin, Gogol, Turgenev, Dostoyevsky, Tolstoy, Chekhov, Gorky, Andreyev, Artzibashev, Kuprin, Bunin, writers of such compassion and profundity as to have changed the scope and meaning of the short story as a form of art and an expression of life. This volume contains twenty-two short stories by seventeen famous Russian writers.

Russian Writers and the Fin de Siècle Katherine Bowers, Ani Kokobobo, 2015-06-17. Russian literature has a reputation for gloomy texts, especially during the late nineteenth century. This volume argues that a fin de siècle mood informed Russian literature long before the chronological end of the nineteenth century in ways that had significant impact on the development of Russian realism. Some chapters consider ideas more readily associated with fin de siècle Europe, such as degeneration theory, bieterminism, Freudian psychoanalysis, or apocalypticism, alongside earlier Russian realist texts by writers such as Turgenev, Dostoevsky, or Tolstoy. Other chapters explore the changes that realism underwent as modernism emerged, examining later nineteenth-century or early twentieth-century texts in the context of the earlier realist tradition or their own cultural moment. Overall, a team of emerging and established scholars of Russian literature and culture present a wide range of creative and insightful readings that shed new light on later realism in all its manifestations.

Twentieth-Century Russian Poetry Katharine Hodgson, Joanne Shelton, Alexandra Smith, 2017-04-21 The canon of Russian poetry has been reshaped since the fall of the Soviet Union A multi authored study of changing cultural memory and identity this revisionary work charts Russia s shifting relationship to its own literature in the face of social upheaval Literary canon and national identity are inextricably tied together the composition of a canon being the attempt to single out those literary works that best express a nation s culture This process is of course fluid and subject to significant shifts particularly at times of epochal change This volume explores changes in the canon of twentieth century Russian poetry from the 1991 collapse of the Soviet Union to the end of Putin s second term as Russian President in 2008 In the wake of major institutional changes such as the abolition of state censorship and the introduction of a market economy the way was open for wholesale reinterpretation of twentieth century poets such as Iosif Brodskii Anna Akhmatova and Osip Mandel shtam their works and their lives In the last twenty years many critics have discussed the possibility of various coexisting canons rooted in official and non official literature and suggested replacing the term Soviet literature with a new definition Russian literature of the Soviet period Contributions to this volume explore the multiple factors involved in reshaping the canon understood as a body of literary texts given exemplary or representative status as classics Among factors which may influence the composition of the canon are educational institutions competing views of scholars and critics including figures outside Russia and the self canonising activity of poets themselves Canon revision further reflects contemporary concerns with the destabilising effects of emigration and the internet and the desire to reconnect with pre revolutionary cultural traditions through a narrative of the past which foregrounds continuity Despite persistent nostalgic yearnings in some quarters for a single canon the current situation is defiantly diverse balancing both the Soviet literary tradition and the parallel contemporaneous literary worlds of the emigration and the underground
