Sector Investment Programs In Africa Issues And Experiences:

Sector Investment Programs in Africa Stephen P. Jones, 1997-01-01 South Asia has made much progress in deregulation and liberalization in the 1990s but it still remains one of the least integrated regions in the world. However, this general trend masks wide disparities among South Asian nations: the larger economies tend to be more highly protected with low import penetration rates, while the smaller economies are relatively more open. If the current reform program continues, the benefits of liberalization will translate into higher growth. This report reviews the region's economic performance from an international perspective and the steps taken to increase integration, especially in terms of financial integration, increased foreign direct investment portfolio and capital flows, and regional integration, intra-regional trade, regional arrangements. Chapters also discuss the economic outlook for the region and prospects for South Asian exports such as textiles and clothing.

Agriculture Sector Programs Nwanze Okidegbe, 1998-01-01 This sourcebook provides practical guidance to policymakers and program planners in countries and to development agencies on how to carry out or support an agricultural sector program from initial discussions to developing the program concept to securing broad stakeholder involvement to implementation. It explains the reasons why countries may wish to undertake a sector or subsector program and describes the conditions which can help ensure the program's success. It provides details on how to formulate a sector strategy and bring about institutional reforms, focuses on core public sector activities based on a detailed expenditure review, and suggests ways of encouraging donors to work together under the leadership of the partner country government. Latin American

Insolvency Systems Malcolm Rowat, José Astigarraga, 1999 Modern society has eliminated the inhumane debtors' prisons for handling the insolvent debtor, and in their stead have enacted benign modern laws in the area of bankruptcy. Unscrupulous merchants now use these benign laws for fraudulent purposes. Based on case studies in Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, and Venezuela, this is the first publication to provide recommendations about the important legal and institutional issues that are involved in bankruptcy reform in a critical region of the global economy. The authors note that effective bankruptcy policy balances several requirements for the conduct of a stable, successful economy. For example, it might be in the greatest interests to all parties if a company is given an opportunity to restructure and make use of the scarce resources remaining in its possession. On the other hand, inefficient firms, especially those that have long survived only on state subsidies, may need to fail in order to free space in the market for more efficient, better managed companies. Finally, there are the needs to enforce loan contracts and provide an equitable system of debt collection. The Impact of Drought on Sub-Saharan African

Economies Charlotte Benson, Edward J. Clay, 1998-01-01 Little effort has been made to research the nonagricultural or economy-wide macroeconomic impact of droughts in Sub-Saharan Africa. In an effort to fill the gap, this paper reports the findings of an exploratory study of the subject. It provides insights into the impact of drought in Sub-Saharan Africa in the past and suggests policy options for dealing with future droughts. Designing Rules for Demand-driven Rural

Investment Funds Thomas B. Wiens, Maurizio Guadagni, 1998-01-01 The demand driven rural investment fund DRIF is a new mechanism for decentralizing decisionmaking authority and financial resources to local governments and communities to use for investments of their choice To counteract the local government s weak capacity to choose and implement projects well central governments have often constrained the choices of communities by limiting the types of projects eligible for financing and requiring specific procedures for procurement and disbursement This study explores the extent to which well designed DRIF rules and incentive structures can substitute for central control It looks at the different and often conflicting motivations of donors central governments and communities and explores how rules can be devised to allow actors to achieve their objectives

Education and Health in Sub-Saharan Africa , 2001-01-01 This book discusses the prevalent process of commodity market reform in the specific context of cocoa coffee cotton grains and sugar markets and provides lessons by selectively drawing on cross country experience in those markets The commodity markets covered in this book deserve special attention for the following reasons A They play an important role in many developing countries A These markets illustrate how well special features can influence the reform process and illustrate the importance of taking initial conditions into account when designing reform A Experience from commodity markets illustrates how long standing interventions can crowd out markets and institutions geared toward the support of private markets A Close examination of liberalization at the commodity level shows the practical ways that changes in marketing systems can result in a shift in political power away from the government and toward the private sector in the design and implementation of commodity subsector policies This book focuses on commodity specific conditions that quickened or slowed the pace of reform and looks at the relationship between changing markets and institutions It argues that the benefits of market reform and trade liberalization are only fully realized when the supporting factor markets and the institutions work

Measuring the Impact of Climate Change on Indian Agriculture Ariel Dinar, 1998-01-01 Using the Ricardian approach a cross sectional analysis of farm performance across different climate zones this report examines the impact of climate change on the agriculture sector and the sector s adaptation to that change Studies in the report measure the climate sensitivity of low capital agriculture test whether actual farm performance is as sensitive to climate as agronomic models predict and compare the climate sensitivity of low capital farms with the results already calibrated for U S agriculture The goal of the study is to examine farm behavior and test whether there is any evidence that farmers in developing countries currently adjust to their local climates

An Environmental Study of Artisanal, Small, and Medium Mining in Bolivia, Chile, and Peru Gary McMahon, 1999-01-01 Mining exploration investment in the Latin American and Caribbean region has increased 130 percent in the last five years a figure which increases to 500 percent if Chile is excluded Governments have revamped mining legislation to enable private investment while becoming more sensitive to environmental factors In light of this legislation this report examines the environmental effects of artisanal small and medium mines in three Latin American Countries Bolivia Chile and Peru Four of the most important elements to be considered are The age of the mine Management of tailings The heterogeneity of the artisanal and small mine sectors The increasing need to take cultural considerations into account in the decision making process The paper contains results of the studies on the various mining sectors strategy and policy recommendations and country study summaries

Incentives for Joint Forest Management in India Ian Hill, Dermot Shields, 1998 Joint Forest Management JFM has emerged as an important intervention in the management of India's forest resources This report sets out an analytical method for examining the costs and benefits of JFM arrangements Two pilot case studies in which the method was used demonstrate interesting outcomes regarding incentives for various groups to participate The main objective of this study is to develop a better understanding of the incentives for communities to participate in JFM

Environmental Management and Institutions in OECD Countries Magda Lovei, Charles Weiss, 1998 As environmental protection is attracting increasing political attention and public support many developing countries are designing and putting into practice environmental institutions This study analyzes the experience of several OECD countries in order to identify factors that influence the role and success of environmental management possible causes of the discrepancy between national environmental objectives and actual performance and implications of lessons learned and recommendations for countries that are in the process of establishing or redesigning their environmental management systems

Southern African Agribusiness Steven Jaffee, 1999-01-01 Recent economic reforms and political changes within Southern Africa have opened up new opportunities for intra regional agricultural trade and other forms of agribusiness collaboration This collaboration is vital given the relatively small size of individual country markets and the fact that no single country in the region has the resources and capacity to mount a sustained drive to achieve international market prominence and competitiveness This study examines private sector perceptions regarding the agribusiness investment environment and the scope for regional collaboration in Southern Africa It then presents a series of case studies highlighting experiences in such collaboration as well as additional opportunities and constraints The case studies illustrate the varied forms that this intra regional collaboration has or could take including the transfer of technologies and management systems joint logistics and international marketing cross border investment product research and development human resource development raw material sourcing and regional trade in inputs and consumer products Both the agribusiness company survey and the industry case studies include recommendations for policymakers agribusiness managers representatives and agricultural and private sector development practitioners

Experiences with Integrated-conservation Development Projects in Asia Malcolm Jansen, Susan Shen, 1997-01-01 China is in the throes of two transitions from a command economy to a market based one and from a rural agricultural society to an urban industrial one So far both transitions have been spectacularly successful China is the fastest growing economy in the world with per capita incomes more than quadrupling since 1978 achieving in two generations what took other countries centuries Although swift growth and structural change have resolved many problems they also have created new challenges employment insecurity growing inequality stubborn poverty mounting environmental pressures rising costs of food self sufficiency and periods of macroeconomic instability stemming from incomplete reforms Unmet these challenges could undermine the sustainability of growth and China s promise could fade China 2020 a seven volume set examines China s recent history where it is today and the path it should follow during the first two decades of the 21st century The volume in the set entitled At Chinas Table Food Security Options focuses on how China will avoid national chronic food insecurity The report evaluates solutions such as food storage and other alternatives for addressing the problems of transitory food insecurity from drought or other seasonal calamity It discusses national food security constraints and the investments required to maintain total factor productivity of 1.0 percent per year The study also models and projects food supply and demand for 2020      Toward a Financially Sustainable Irrigation System K. J.

Langford,Christine L. Forster,Duncan M. Malcolm,1999 Water resource management policies worldwide are at a crossroads On the one hand a remarkable consensus on the principles of reform has emerged On the other hand it has turned out to be difficult to transfer the principles into reality This document describes the distinctive experience of water reform in the state of Victoria Australia which has been a leader in the field The document is a compelling insiders view by three professionals who played central roles in the process Although the Victoria experience emerges from a specific natural cultural historical and political context the generic lessons on the technical and political reform procedures and the links between them are of profound relevance to those engaged in the water reform process throughout the world      Hard Lessons ,1998-01-01

Education is a basic condition for economic and social development Working in conjunction with the National Primary Education Commission the World Bank supported consultations among teachers parents educational administrators and community leaders to develop a strong foundation for primary education in Nigeria The innovative work documented in this publication illustrates the potential not only for partnership between the users and providers of primary education but also between the World Bank and its clients      Comprehensive River Basin Development Barbara A. Miller,Richard B.

Reidinger,1998-01-01 The Tennessee Valley Authority TVA in the United States represents one of the few successful examples of comprehensive river basin development Established to guide the development of the resources within the Tennessee River Basin TVA operates a wide variety of water power economic development and environmental programs within the region This report presents an overview of TVA s growth and development its institutions and its operational programs      Identification of Joint Management Structures for Shared Aquifers Eran Feitelson,Marwan Haddad,1998-01-01

Overcoming the scarcity and temporal variance of water availability in semi arid regions or the excess of water in temperate regions often requires cooperation This paper describes the approach taken by an Israeli Palestinian team to identify joint management structures for the aquifers shared by these two parties and some of the lessons learned from the experience of this team      Legal Impediments to Effective Rural Land Relations in Eastern Europe and Central Asia Roy L.

Prosterman, Timothy M. Hanstad, 1999-01-01 Excessive concentration of land ownership as is feared by many transition governments has not been a feature of land markets where they have been allowed to function relatively freely and where land has been allocated in kind to households and individuals The World Bank has long been active in the Europe and Central Asia region in monitoring and evaluating land reform developments and supporting the development of land markets Bank efforts to date have made a significant impact in our client countries and studies produced by the Bank have been used as impartial references on this subject by both international organizations and the countries themselves This report was developed as a result of these efforts It focuses on The principal issues faced by the transition economies of Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union The potential approaches for resolving specific problem issues Foreign Aid and Development Finn Tarp, 2000-08-17 Aid has worked in the past but can be made to work better in the future This book offers important new research and will appeal to those working in economics politics and development studies as well as to governmental and aid professionals Welfare and the Labor Market in Poland Jan J. Rutkowski, 1998-01-01 This report assesses the changes in social welfare and policy that have taken place in Poland during the economic transition It tests the main hypotheses concerning changes in the role of the welfare state workings of the labor market the distributional consequences of transition and more generally about the winners and losers in transition Chapter one examines trends in social expenditure during economic transition Chapter two focuses on changes in the labor market including emerging risks and opportunities Chapter three explores distributional consequences of transition Institutional Frameworks in Successful Water Markets Manuel Mariño, Karin E. Kemper, 1999-01-01 Water is increasingly recognized as a scarce resource that must be managed more efficiently than in the past In addition to physical scarcity the cost of accessing these resources is climbing This publication explores institutional frameworks in three case studies of long standing and successful water markets These cases demonstrate the common features and essential elements of water markets They also show how to design markets that consider the local institutional social and political conditions and how to integrate those markets into existing water resource management arrangements The papers are written for practitioners interested in how water markets operate for decisionmakers faced with the challenge of selecting a water resource allocation system and for academics interested in analytical descriptive case studies that provide information on how to conceptualize the functioning of water markets from an institutional perspective
